Bradford's Springs.

IT is a circumstance of no small importance to the citizens of this State to have a convenient and healthy situation, to which they can have access during the Summer and Autumnal months. The Bradford Spring, at this time, exhibit such a situation. The buildings, here, are capacious and convenient; and are as well calculated for the accommodation of the delicate and infirm, as those who are in search of pleasure. The situation is, probably, one of the most eligible that this country affords. The elevation is considerably above the common level of the surface. The rise and declivity of the hill is gradual and regular; and its summit smooth and unbroken. The Springs empty out of the basis of the hill, at different apertures, where it abruptly breaks off, in almost, a perpendicular descent.

The water is a strong mineral. It is transparent and palatable. The ingredients which form the composition of this mineral, have not yet been accurately ascertained by chymical analysis. A few individuals have annually visited these Springs, and those alone, can form an adequate idea of the advantage which results from attending them.

The ruinous condition of the buildings in all probability, and the want of accommodation has, hitherto, prevented a number of persons from attending these Springs. But the subscriber flatters himself that he is now, well prepared for the accommodation of a number of persons. And he pledges himself to spare no exertions to render the situation of all those who attend these Springs both comfortable and agreeable.

RALEIGH AND PLYMOUTH

Line of Stages.

THIS Line of Stages was established last fall, with the view of connecting the main Southern with the Edenton line, thereby opening a communication North and South, by way of Norfolk—a thing long desired. And the experiment has abundantly proved, that this route is capable of affording all the advantages which its warmest friends expected.

The proprietors have now enlarged their plan, and will in future run four horse stages, and in a style suited to the importance of the route. They are determined to spare neither expense nor trouble to render this line commodious to travellers.

The Stage runs through from Raleigh to Plymouth in two days, resting the first night at Tarborough, and arriving at Plymouth in the afternoon of the second day, in time to take the steam-boat and reach Edenton that evening.—The Edenton Stage sets out the next morning and arrives at Norfolk in the evening. Thus in three days, by easy travelling, and the nights allowed for sleep and rest, the Stage performs the route from Raleigh to Norfolk; and one day more takes the passengers to Baltimore. This line is run each way, three times a week. The road is one of the best in the country, and the accommodations are very good.

The lines from Fayetteville to Raleigh and from Edenton to Norfolk, are kept in excellent order and superior style. An agreeable passage is therefore open from this State and the States south of this, to the northern and eastern States; whereby a man may travel from this, in comfort and ease, take his accustomed rest, and arrive in Baltimore sooner than he can by the upper route of Stages.

If good Stages, Horses and Drivers, with an obliging attention to travellers—if an excellent road and good fare, with the privilege of resting of nights, if convenience and dispatch, are calculated to recommend a line of Stages to the public, then is this line entitled to the public patronage. And that patronage is respectfully solicited by

THE MANAGERS.
