

the unfortunate Gentleman was found in a ditch 70 yards from the Stage, without his Coat, Waistcoat, Boots or Stockings, with a violent contusion on his head, occasioned, it is presumed, by his jumping from the Stage, when the Horses were running. The mysterious part of this sad accident is, the Cloaths been off, in the coat pocket of which was found a Pocket-Book, containing nine hundred dollars. The unfortunate man never spoke again, or appeared sensible of his situation—medical aid was in vain exerted, and he died without any elucidation of this extraordinary event. As he must have received his death-blow when he fell, how came his cloaths off?—if this was effected and he was murdered by a Highwayman, why did not the assailant reap the fruits of his villainy? The deceased, as appeared by papers in his Pocket-Book, was a Paymaster in the United States Army, has a family at Norfolk, and was designated 'Major Leroy Opie.'

It would be well, if this, amongst many other dreadful accidents of the kind, would determine Stage Proprietors to employ only able bodied, steady, and determined Drivers, as a Youth cannot be supposed capable of that bodily strength or metal discretion in such cases of emergency as call for the exertion of these qualities—above all, the Drivers ought to be sober men. Another idea of importance suggests itself, that neither Passengers nor Drivers, ought, as they value their lives, to leap from a flying carriage.—They always reach the ground far from the spot aimed at, never fall upon their feet, and are thrown with a force, little less than if projected from a Cannon.

CAMDEN.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1819.

We are glad to observe (says the National Intelligencer) that the mercantile community are taking measures to impress upon Congress the propriety of passing a law to establish a uniform system of Bankruptcy. The necessity of such a statute is rendered more unequivocal by every day's experience; and, as the question of its passage turns wholly on its expediency, (the constitution having clearly invested Congress with the power if, indeed it does not enjoin such an act upon them,) it is sincerely hoped that the objections which have heretofore defeated this important measure will yield to the calls of justice and humanity. The newspapers, north and south, teem with essays urging the enactment of such a law; and meetings have been held in most of the cities, to prepare petitions to Congress on the subject.—The latest meeting which we have noticed was held in Boston on the 26th and 27th ult. in pursuance of a recommendatory circular from the Chamber of commerce of New-York. The meeting was very numerous and respectable, and a memorial was reported, to include the merchants and traders of the whole Commonwealth of Massachusetts which, being unanimously adopted, a committee of four gentlemen was appointed to circulate it, and obtain signatures.

Germany.—An Augsburg article observes—in Austria, in Prussia, in Saxony, in Hesse, every where, the people are occupied with the deliberations of the states of Bavaria, and evince a lively interest in them.—From Memel and Konigsburg as far as Ipswick and Contance, the cry has been universal. Nothing is spoken of but the king of Bavaria and the free constitution he has given to his country. And it is thus that the Prussians and Hanoverians, with the Saxons, the Hessians, and the people on the borders of the Rhine, the subjects of minor princes, and the inhabitants of free cities, unanimously hail the king of Bavaria the idol of the German nation. It is beyond doubt that if the German powers evince a liberal disposition to satisfy the wishes of the people, they will acquire a moral force which will not leave them behind those who are aiming to augment their physical force.

It is said (remarks the Enquirer) that Gen. Jackson has it in contemplation to resign his commission after the ensuing session of Congress. It is also said, that he will visit Washington this winter, with a hope that the celebrated Report of the Senate may come upon the tapis.—We hope, that, in that event, the matter may be conducted with dignity and moderation.

Rapid Flight!—M. Guille lately started a Ballon from New-York, which fell at Buzrah (Conn) about two hours and a half from the time of its ascent. The distance between the two places is 143 miles in a straight line, and the machine must therefore have travelled at the rate of about 45 miles an hour.

Literary Intelligence.—Among the works announced for publication in August last, at Paris, was a third volume of The unpublished official and confidential correspondence of Napoleon Bonaparte, of the authenticity of which there is no longer any doubt. This volume contains the conclusion of the affairs of Venice and Genoa, until the treaty of Campo Formio, and comprises nearly two hundred-letters. Eighty-one are from Bonaparte, the greater part addressed to the Directory and M. Talleyrand—twelve replies of M. Talleyrand, ten letters from Angereau, three from Bernadotte, and one from each of the following persons—Messrs. Gregoire, Arnault, Francois de Neufchateau, La Fayette, Hoche, Thugut, Lavalette, Lannes, Desaix, Bernardin de Saint Pierre, and a great number of other letters from generals and diplomatic envoys.

D. B. Warden, Esq. formerly consul from the United States to Paris, has recently published, at Edinburgh, three octavo volumes, purporting to be a Political, Statistical, and Historical Account of the United States, from their first settlement to the present day.

The Honorable Jonathon Russell, late Minister at the Court of Stockholm, has presented the University of Cambridge with a copy of various fragments of Cicero's Orations, undoubtedly genuine, which have been discovered in Italy: in M. S. and decyphered with great care and accuracy.

A writer in the Portland Argus recommends that the Constitution of Maine have a provision exempting married men from military service, with a view to promote matrimony.

MARRIED—At Wilmington, (N. C.) the Rev. WILLIAM M. KENNEDY, stationed preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church in that town, to Miss ANN JONES.

DIED—At his residence in Hancock county, (Georgia.) His Excellency WILLIAM RABURN, Governor of the State of Georgia, in the 49th year of his age.

At Claiborne, Alabama, Mrs. MARTHA GODBOLD, wife of Capt. John C. Godbold, late of Marion district, S. C.
