TO OUR PATRONS.

In calling the attention of the public to our GAZETTE under a more general name, we have determined to omit the usual hollow professions of those independent principles, that liberal conduct, and the intellectual attainments, which will enable us not only to gratify the tastes, but inform the minds, liberalize the sentiments, and ameliorate the feelings of our readers.

We call these professions hollow, because in the majority of the instances in which they have been, and indeed are daily made, they have uniformly proved themselves fallacious and unfounded; hence, avoiding profession, we are content briefly to refer to practice.

Suffice it therefore to say, that it is the intention of the Proprietors of the SOUTH-CAROLINA HERALD, to make it a complete fund of information, and in order to effect this object to spare neither exertion or expence.

But, as in our internal economy are to be found the means of defence and the maintenance of the state, its commerce, its agriculture, and its institutions, the Proprietors of the HERALD will especially direct their attention to the development of those immutable principles of Political Economy, that thirty years ago were only to be found in the Port-Folios of the learned; but, which unfettered by those chains with which the power, prejudices, and pride of the governors, and the weakness, ignorance, and degradation of the governed, had for ages bound them, are now likely to be carried into beneficial operation throughout the whole of Europe; principles which, aided by the convincing proofs that are about to be afforded of their practical and permanent utility, by the active and intelligent population of the most abundant countries, and the great portions of the Eastern hemisphere, it will be the bounden duty of the governments and people of this country fully to understand, as upon their adoption alone depend, not only the domestic welfare of this Great Republic, but its rank among the nations of the earth.

To forward this great object in the course of internal improvement, in which our own State is embarked, no effort shall be wanting.

In steaming the torrent of official delusion; in advocating the rights of the less wealthy members of the community; in contending for the comforts of all; in endeavouring to call the attention of its readers to the public welfare; in urging the recollection of the public servants to the interests of the Districts of York, Chester, Lancaster, Kershaw, Fairfield and Sumter, the CAMDEN GAZETTE stood proudly conspicuous; and, until the establishment of the FREE PRESS GAZETTE was alone, is calling for an impartial distribution of the public Treasure.

Nor shall Literature be neglected; nor, liberal Political Discussions be disregarded. True genius marks alone the path to life, and fame invites, and prompts the noble strife.

Hot temples everlasting doors unbar'd; Desert is various; various, the reward; No little jealousy, no ill tim'd sneer, No envy there is found, nor rival fear.

New Types &c. are on their way to strengthen our claims on public patronage. Prices Current, &c. will be uniformly published.

THE Camden Academy.

THE Buildings erected by the CAMDEN ORPHAN SOCIETY, for the accommodation of an Academy, situate in an eligible and pleasant part of the Town, are now almost complete and ready for the purpose intended. A Master is wanted, to take charge of this Academy; and the Standing Committee of the Society, are authorized to contract with a person properly qualified to fill that station. It is proposed to grant to the Master, for the use of the School, not only the Buildings, and spacious enclosed grounds belonging to the same, clear of charge, but also to furnish fire-wood in winter, for the Scholars, to the value of one hundred dollars a year: And in addition to this, to pay the Master out of the Society's funds, a yearly salary of two hundred dollars. Also, to defray the expence of Premiums, to be distributed amongst the Scholars, to excite emulation, and encourage merit.

The Master will be allowed to take as many Pupils, as the Buildings will conveniently accommodate, upon the Terms, and at the Rates of tuition hereunder mentioned: and for compensation for teaching them, he must look to those with whom he shall engage. When the number of his Scholars shall exceed Forty, it will be his duty to employ a competent Assistant, or two if necessary, at his own expence. The Academy will be under the general supervising direction of the Camden Orphan Society, and immediately under that of the Standing Committee.

It is proposed to conduct the business of instruction in separate chambers, one for the male pupils, and the other for females; and every attention is intended to be bestowed, in order to preserve good manners and pure morals.

RATES OF TUITION.

For teaching the Latin and Greek Languages, Six Dollars per quarter.

For teaching the English Language, Geography and Mathematics, Five Dollars per quarter.

For teaching to Read, Write and Cipher, Four Dollars per quarter.

Proposals will be received from persons competent and willing to undertake the employment of Master, (conformably to the terms and conditions abovementioned,) by any member of the Standing Committee. The person employed must be a man of correct moral habits, and well qualified to teach the branches of knowledge above proposed; and he must engage to devote his undivided attention to, and exert all his diligence in the duties of his employment.

Joseph Bradford,

Chairman of the Standing Committee.
