Endowment of Furman University.

Among the various public enterprise that are spoken of in Greenville, and in this State, there are few that so directly to the citizens of this and surrounding Counties, and this City in particular, as the Endowment of and have been for the past year and more. been made to effect. The details have long since been presented to the public; and we are pleased to learn that the work of securing fands for the purpose has been quietly and energetically pushed forward.

A few days slace, Rev. J. K. MENDENHALL, the State Agent appointed for the purpose of canvassing the State to raise the amount desired, by securing bonds from the friends of education, or any amounts that mights be donated, visited the City of Greenville in pursuance of his labors. He was accom panied by Joseph Cox. Esq. well known for his success in this work. who waited on our citizens, and many bonds were secured. From Mr. MENDENBALL we were pleased to learn that they met with much encouragement by success everywhere throughout the State. About eighty thousand dollars have already been executed in bonds, and the prospect is good of raising the entire amount in a few years. Every one hails the establishment of a free University as a generous and noble work.

Greenville is more deeply interested in the success of the plan than any other place, and at least fifty thousand dollars should be contributed by her people. Every citizen is directly or indirectly benefitted. Property holders, of whatever religious denomination, will have their property enhanced in value. Greenville has for years been attractive as a summer resort, and when such liberal educational facilities are offered, there may be justly expected a larger number of families to enjoy these facilities : and from twenty-five to fifty thousand dollars will doubtless be distributed to our boarding houses and stores annu ally by students and others.

We will listen with great interest to hear of the increase in the bonds subscribed.

Organization of a Young Men's Christian Association.

Efforts are now, being made to organize in this City a Young Men's Christian Association, in which the pastors of the various churches here, are interesting themselves. and will continue to aid and assist. We do not see why a society of the character indicated should not be formed upon a permanent basis, in Greenville. There are a large number of the members of the churches who are in numbers sufficient alone to sustain the Association; besides this the students of the Theological Seminary could give a membership that would put the question of success beyond a surmise, as to numbers. A meeting will soon be announceed for the purpose, when we will state the plans and operations of Associations now existing in other cities.

Eulogy on Gen. Lee.

As previously announced, Gen. W. K. Easter delivered a Eulogy on Gen. Lee, in the Court House, on Thursday evening last, at 71 o'clock. The occasion was opened by an appropriate prayer from Geo. ELLISON CAPERS, when the orator of the evening ad dressed the audience. Gen. Z. maintained his high character as an eloquent and gifted speaker, and compared his subject with the Father of his Country most truthfull and ably. The hall was filled to overflowing; and those present felt the power and influence of the character of Lee as deline-

The first was given on Saturday night, to a crowded house, the audience taking up all of the seats in the Court House hall and part of the ailse. The music of the Bells was listened to with much satisfaction, which every one praised as delightful and charming. The other performances were, to a Greenville audience, also novel, but none the less pleasing and diverting. The delineations of the Gorman and Irish characters, besides the singing, repeatedly drew applause. On Monday night, the attendance was even larger than that on the first exhibition. It is unusual that our people patronize public entertainments so unacimously as they have done the Swiss Bell Ringers, and it is equally rare that they have been so well repaid for their attendance.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will also be a prayer-meeting at the Presbyterian Church, of a similar character, to which all are invited. This is the day set apart | the debt bearing interest is $11,994,908.93, and by the General Assembly annually to be observed to the purpose indicated he services of which will be united with those of he regular prayer meeting of the Church.

It is to be hoped both meetings will be well attended, as very great interests lay in our schools, which should engage the most hearty interest of every one.

DE NO Another Pire. MOERS Verily, it seems that there are incendia ries in Greenville, as confinguations here are ecoming occurrences of every night or so. At about twelve o'clock on Sunday night, stable on the premises of Capt. John WESTFIELD was found to be on fire, being entirely consumed. In this instance, there are good reasons for supposing who the in cendiary is, and we do sincerely hope that he will be found out and cenvicted and sent to the penitentiary. The loss to Mr. WESTFIELD Is, we learn, near eight hundred dollars, as the structure was a superior one and contained the hav kept for the owner's own use. Every on should be on the look out, not knowing whose turn comes next.

opriations and raise supplies for the fiscal ear communcing Resember I, 1871, made beir report on the 1921 inst. They say that the deficiencies in previous appropriations amount to $950,000, and that the delinquent taxes, in the last three years, amount to $1,-200,000. The present embarrassed condition of the State finances is attributed to the failure to lavy, and collect a sufficient amount in part years; and the neglect of the Legislature in past years to provide annually for deficiencies in the revenue now makes greatly increased taxation necessary. The committee report that that the interest required is $719,694,54. The expenses of the State for the current year are estimated at $2,450,000. The committee repayable in currency or national bank notes. In the House on the 20th, Barker introduced a bill to create a new county, to be called Saluda, out of a part of Edgefield County. Mr. Owens, from the finance committee, re-ported favorably a joint resolution to authorise the payment of commissioners and managers of elections, at general elections during he year 1871, which was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading. Mr. Doyle introluced a joint resolution that certain persons be authorized to transcribe so much of the records of Pickens as relates to Ocones, for the benefit of the latter county, which was referred to its appropriate committee. On motion of Mr. Lee, the special order was suspended, and the bill to make appropriations for the payment of the per diem of the members of the General Assembly and the salaries of the subordinate officers and employees, was passed to third reading.

Mr. Smalls introduced in the Senate, a "bill to provide for the sale of lands purchased by the land commission of the State of South Carolina. The bill empowers the county auditors in all counties in which lands have been purchased by the land commission to sell and transfer all such lands, and to execute warranty titles for the same, and requires them to advertise for sale all such lands in tracts of from twenty-five to fifty acres at one dollar per acre; actual settlers to have the privilege of purchasing the tracts upon which they have located, the purchasers in all cases to pay the expenses of locating, papers, stamps, recording, &c.

The committee in the House, on privileges and elections reported unfavorably upon both the Senate bills to secure a reform in the present manner of conducting general elections; and the committee on railroads reported in favor of the ambitious little scheme known as the bill to incorporate the Spartanburg and Port Royal Railroad company. It authorizes the construction of a railroad from Spartanburg to Port Royal, and is said to be a pet device of the ring that recently obtained possession of the Spartanburg and Union Road.

In the Senate on the 19th, the subject pon which the most discussion took place, was the resolution to allow per diem to Phin B. Tompkins the contestant for the seat as member from Lancaster. After amendment it was so adopted as to instruct the Clerk of the Senate to draw a pay certificate in favor of the contestee from the commencement of the session November 28th, to the end of the contest February 15th. this to be in full for all demands; he may have on account of such proceedings. Several bills were passed to a third reading, but sone of gen ral importance.

The bill to divide the State into five congressional districts, was reported by the Committee on Enrolled Bills and passed after considerable confusion, and the losing of a motion to strike out the enacting clause. The House passed Jervey's election bill .-The metropolitan police bill was not taken up. The House met in night session at 7 o'clock, and resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and invited Comptroller Neagle to make an address. Neagle, to whom I need hardly say the invitation was no surprise, made a long speech. He estimated the expenses of the current year as follows: Ordinary expenses, $650,000 ; interest for the current year, $718,000; Legislative expenses, $400,000 ; printing, $800,000 ; deficiency, $400,-000; total, $2,468,000. This would require a State tax of fifteen mills. The aggregate tax of the last four years was twenty-eight and one-half mills, being an average of seven and one-sixteenth mills per annum. Adding fifteen mills, the aggregate of the five years would be forty-three, and one one-half mills, or an average of eight and two-thirds mills per annum. The taxable property of the State, he said, is one hundred and eighty three million dollars, of which eighteen million dollars is exempted, leaving one hundred and sixty-five million dellars. The Legislature should have levied larger taxes in former years, Now, he said, the time had some when the trouble must be met. The Legislature had authorized large expenditures, and but small taxes, leaving the State officers no option but to issue bonds on poor credit.

Bowen savagely attacked Nengle's speech. They were asked, he said, to vote on exhorbitant, and unprecedented tax levy to pay a debt of which nobody knew the amount. He
