

Ma. Bureau: During a short visit, to your pleasant town on Wednesday, the 1st inst., I had the pleasure of attending the exhibition of the Seafarer Club at Westport College. At an early hour the spectators were pretty well filled, which proves that our people are not so lost to war and mercenary motives as to entirely forget their educational interests. Fifteen speakers were announced on the programme, but only eleven appeared, four having gone to the service of their country. Enlightened by the charms of music and greeted by the bright eyes and rosy cheeks of lively women, the class made its appearance on the rostrum, and a "class handsome class we have not seen for many a day."

After a warm prayer by that eloquent divine, Rev. Wightford Smith, and the band performing a grand march, the President introduced Mr. Brazier, of Georgia, on "The Past, the Present and the Future of Constitutional Liberty in North America." The speaker began by referring to that well known line of Bishop Berkeley—"Westward the star of empire takes its way." To speak of our past history, the presence of our forefathers, how they avoided the evils of usurpation, the imperfections of Government, of the principles of the old Constitution, the causes that led to our present disturbances, and closed on the future of our Southern Confederacy. His speech was a happy effort, well worthy the great theme to which it was devoted, delivered with manly and graceful oratory. It produced a fine effect on the intelligent and attentive audience.

Next followed Mr. McCanta, of Columbia, on "The Magnet." Mr. Hardy, of Anderson District, on "Great results from small beginnings in Science." And Mr. Johnston, of Beaufort District, on "The days of the Maiden Queen." All three of whom acquitted themselves much to the satisfaction of the audience.

"Southern Civilization," by Mr. Lipsey, of Chester District, was handled in an eloquent and able manner. The speaker showed that in all civilizations, the rising one would always succeed. That in the difference between North and South, Southern civilization would finally triumph. And with a happy conclusion, took his seat amidst great applause, greeted by handfuls of flowers.

Next came Mr. Connor, of Orangeburg District, on "The Modern Man of Progress." His humor produced much applause and laughter. He spoke of the follies of his young here, whose respect for himself was greater than that of all the world had for him, whose ideas of pomp and splendor were a sickle cloth coat were above his creations of art and science, but whose productions, alas, would finally become proper materials for the paper mill.

"The Chorus of Music," by Mr. Round, of Cokesbury, was a rich treat and worthy of much merit. His delivery proved him to be quite an agreeable speaker, while his refined style showed a highly cultivated taste. It received applause and commendation from all.

"Departed Hours," by Mr. Summers, of Orangeburg District, and "My Country," by Mr. Watson, of Cokesbury, were also highly praised. The former calm and deliberate in his delivery and concise in his style, spoke of the happy days of youth, the pleasures we enjoy in contemplating a well spent life, and the grief we experience in consequence of a dissipated life. The latter, more excited and animated, became too loud for the hall, but what we gained of his speech was well written.

"Warriors," by Mr. Williams, of Colleton District, was treated in a flowing style—descriptive and figurative, it pleased and charmed the audience.

While Mr. Yancy, of Chappell Hill, N. C., showed the amount of "Cotton" produced by our Southern States; that no other country on the globe was so well adapted to its cultivation; that it is king and sits upon its throne of commerce, ruling the world.

Thus ended the exhibition on Wednesday—a rich treat to all. And it must be said to the commendation of all the speakers, that not one receded from his manuscript.

Warfare College is a first class institution, located on a beautiful site in the mountain regions, surrounded with rich scenery, blessed with health, and directed by an able, experienced and learned Faculty. It deserves the patronage of our State and country. The moral instruction of the students is good; the laws of the institution strict and are made to be obeyed.

At night a social party was given in the two story halls, where "bright lamps shone over fair women and brave men," while merry laughter and wit whirled away the evening with mirth and jolly humor.

The next day all were invited to a picnic at Cedar Springs. But being unable to attend, we beg to leave you for awhile, hoping that the pleasure of the picnic were equal to those of the exhibition, and that with refreshed minds and unbroken hearts the young men returned with renewed vigor to their posts of duty. At their annual commencement, in July next, we may be able to witness another fine display of absence at the literary rostrum.

A voice from Connecticut.

The Carolina has been handed the following extract of a letter for publication. It is from a young man, assistant editor of a Bridgeport, Connecticut paper, and is a remarkable expression of sentiment coming from that quarter. Such voices are faint, few, and far between, therefore their virtue and patriotism are more worthy of note:

"BRIDGEPORT, April 20, 1861.

"We are all excitement here now, and our people seem to have gone mad. The Black Republicans, whose work this trouble is, are now shouting for the Union and the stars and stripes, and crying out that the government must be sustained; in other words, the whole North must swallow the Chicago platform, and make the South swallow it too. It is a dose they won't make me swallow, neither will they, the rank and file of the Democracy of Fairfield county.

"Our office has been threatened with demolition, and I have been warned that I will be tarred and feathered unless I come out, and unless the paper comes out in support of the policy of President Lincoln. An association of Democrats is forming here to be called the Home Guard, and the first demonstration that is made against the 'Old Farmer,' it will act as old Abe said—'repel force by force.'

"I am poor—I live only by the strictest economy—but before I will take up arms at the beck or call of a Black Republican President against my Southern brethren, I will rot in prison ere I pay the fine for non-compliance."

From Washington.

The Alexandria Gazette, of Saturday, has the following by special express from Washington:

"At the commencement of the present trouble, Gen. Scott advised the Administration at Washington to invite Col. Lee, of Arlington, to assist him with his own soldiers—proclaiming him the first military man of the age, and declaring that his cooperation at that time with the Government would be of the highest importance. Every inducement was accordingly offered by the Government to persuade Colonel Lee to lend them the weight of his talents and military skill. But in vain. Neither official rank, nor promises of pecuniary emolument could move him. Gen. Scott went to Lincoln with tears in his eyes, and implored him not to issue his proclamation. Nearly every member of the Cabinet opposed it also. The President declares that he wrote it himself.

"We are told by old Washingtonians, that at this time the press of Washington is as completely muzzled as that of Paris by Louis Napoleon. They dare not publish anything reflecting upon the Lincoln Government, which is fast assuming a shape of a military despotism. Outrages are committed by the soldiers, which never are seen in print. Private property is taken for the use of Government, citizens threatened by rabid Republicans with the direst vengeance, and others ordered to leave the city, no freeman dares now to express an opinion.

"Disaffection to a considerable extent it is believed, exists among the citizen soldiery, and if a demonstration was made against them, a majority, it is confidently asserted, would throw down their arms and take position with the South.

"Numerous families, many of whom originally came from the North, are availing themselves of the open facilities of the Long Bridge, to go over into Virginia.

From Annapolis.

ANAPOLIS, April 29.—Yesterday the Naval Academy here presented a more warlike appearance than ever—two steamers were constantly engaged in taking the troops from the Federal fleet lying in the harbor, and landing them on shore. Eight thousand men were landed, principally from New York and Rhode Island.

The citizens were greatly alarmed to-day by a report put in circulation to the effect that to-morrow no person would be allowed to leave or enter the city, and that the male portion would be forced into service, consequently a great many left for the country, taking with them their families. This rumor, however, is supposed to be erroneous, from the fact that the conduct of the troops here, with one exception have been exceeding courteous.

In addition to the troops landed by the Boston this morning, another regiment was landed this evening by the steamer-tug from Havre de Grace, making the total number of troops landed, 12,650, of which 4,000 have left for Washington. Among those here is a company of artillery and a company of cavalry from Boston.

Augustus Gassaway, Esq., the gentlemanly postmaster, has been using his utmost endeavors since the troops took possession of the railroad, to convey the mails to Baltimore and Washington by pony, steamer, or otherwise, but the troops have purchased all the horses in and around the city, and the captains of vessels are not disposed to sail under the present state of affairs.

How CHANGED.—Before the New York Herald was brought over to Republicanism it talked to the New York capitalists as follows:

The States in the Southern Confederacy owe $18,000,000. The Confederacy itself owes nothing. The States in the Northern Confederation owe $174,000,000; besides the debt of the Federal Government, making in all about $200,000,000. These are points for the consideration of capitalists.

Congress has determined to act promptly, and the numerous offers for the service will be immediately accepted.

THE NEW YORK SEVENTH REGIMENT.—The following is from the Baltimore Sun, of Monday: One of the members of the New York 7th Regiment reached this city on Saturday afternoon en route for his home. He stated that when they offered their services to the Government, it was for the defense of the Capital, and not to engage in a warfare against the State of States. Fifty of the members refused to take the oath after reaching Washington, and the remainder took it conditionally that they were not to be called on to go out of the District of Columbia, for a hostile purpose. Several of the members of the regiment are active in Baltimore, and the respect of the whole body for Baltimore is very strong.

FROM PENNSYLVANIA.—Two of the soldiers stationed at Fort Pickens had deserted and were brought to the Navy Yard by one of the boats of Gen Bragg. They report that the negroes who were recently stolen from the Tortugas are now on Santa Rosa, at work—that there are about nine hundred men in the fort and on the island, besides sixty from ships—and that only six vessels are now off the harbor. General Bragg is progressing rapidly in his fortifications, and is nearly ready to "entertain" the forces at Pickens and in the fleet "in a hostile manner." The troops of the Confederate Army are in good spirits, and are sanguine of success. But little sickness prevails, and the troops generally are in good health, sun burnt, and ready for the conflict.

BANK OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE Legislature having at its late session, authorized the issue of Bonds to the amount of $575,000, bearing an interest of seven per cent, for the purpose of providing the funds required to sustain the State in the act of resuming her rights of sovereignty, this Bank is now prepared to dispose of the Bonds. They are issued in sums of $50 and $100. An opportunity is thus afforded every citizen to make a secure and profitable investment, while contributing aid to the cause in which the State is engaged. With the view of enabling citizens in any part of the State to share in the Loan, the clerks of the Courts of the several districts have been required to open books of subscription for the Stock. Suitable arrangements will be made for furnishing the Bonds on the receipt of the money, at an early day after each subscription has been made. Engagements for the purchase of Bonds may be made at the Bank, or at any of its Branches. BANK OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE Legislature having at its late session, authorized the issue of Bonds to the amount of $575,000, bearing an interest of seven per cent, for the purpose of providing the funds required to sustain the State in the act of resuming her rights of sovereignty, this Bank is now prepared to dispose of the Bonds. They are issued in sums of $50 and $100. An opportunity is thus afforded every citizen to make a secure and profitable investment, while contributing aid to the cause in which the State is engaged. With the view of enabling citizens in any part of the State to share in the Loan, the clerks of the Courts of the several districts have been required to open books of subscription for the Stock. Suitable arrangements will be made for furnishing the Bonds on the receipt of the money, at an early day after each subscription has been made. Engagements for the purchase of Bonds may be made at the Bank, or at any of its Branches. It is preferable that, at the next Session of the Legislature, those parties who desire it may have their Bonds converted into Stock.

C. M. FURMAN, President.
