and and a se of the Courter. WASHINGTON, April 26, 1861. Washington City and the entire Distric Washington City and the entire District of Columbia are to-morrow to be placed un-dee mertial law, in consequence of the ap-probanded invasion of the sity from Vir-ginin. It is to be supposed that the Gov-traument will define what it means by mar-tial law. We have no legislation on the subject. It involves of course the suspen-ation of the writ of habeas corpus, but whatever arbitary powers it confers on the Givernment is unsettled. The Duke of Wallington explained what he meant by

Pennsylvania and Federal troops. A fleet of steamiers is now at Annapolis landing regiments of Northern volunteer and instructed to do had as regiments of Northern volunteers to the maler of eight thousand. Including the New York Seventh Regiment, which marched into this city ye terday, there are about eight thousand troops here. The Capitol and Treasury buildings are con-verted into fortresses and are full of men. A large lorce is to go into camp in the environs of the city. There are expected here within a fortnight, about thirty-five thousand troops. Large bodies of volunteers are gathering upon the Pennsylvania borders, and their numbers are to be increased by accessions from Ohio, and this force, when organized, is to threaten the State of Maryland, and to open a line of communication between this city and Car-lisle. So this city is to be the base of mil-Stary operations. The intention to coerce Maryland and Virginia is avowed in the government organ this morning. The Northwestern troops are believed to be more savage and revengeful, and more hostile in their feelings towards the South, than those from any other Northern State. Many of the Western volunteers have declared that they will not cross the limits of the District ; that they did not come there to engage in civil war, and that they were called out for the purpose only, as was represented to them, of protecting the city from an apprehended raid. When the three months service of these volunteers is over, nothing but arbitary powers can keep them here. The Northwestern troops have abandoned the project of coming down by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The road would be destroyed to obstruct their progress, and, le-ides, there are many places on the road where a handful of men could resist a host.

They will either come down by way of Pittsburg to Carlisle, or take the Cumberhand Read. But here again they are likely to be baffled, for they do not carry provisions for so long a march, and they will find none on the route.

The passions of the North and of the South are now so much inflamed that nothing can arrest the progress of civil war. General Beauregard, on the 24th inst., visited the Washington Heights, and took measures for forming there an entrenched camp and a line of batteries. The Presi dent's house. Treasury and Capitol could not stand five hours under a brisk fire from these batteries. Therefore, it is now said that General Scott has a plan for dislodging this force, and taking possession of the Heights by a movement both on their flank and rear. But it appears to me very plain that the Confederate army will cross the Potomac below Fort Washington, and cut off the Government's communication with Annapolis. So on the Etheridge road will be the first great battle of the war. The Government is making a great effort to command the Potomac and the Chesapeake by a large naval force. They will have a fleet of armed steamers on the

WILL, if not Providentially his Ared, attend des mirrial law, in consequence of the approximited inversion of the sity from Virginia. It is to be supposed that the Government will define what it means by mar-uial law. We have no legislation on the subject. It involves of course the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, but whitever arbitary powers it confers on the fivernment is unsettled. The Duke of Wellington explained what he meant by marrial haw, which in a hostile country, he several times resorted to : It was the right to do whatever he pleased. Perhaps that may the interpretation of it here. SULLIVAN, ELFORD, & WINSMITH Scrofula, or King's Evil is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, dis-ordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection.
