After a warm prayer by that eloquent divine, ev. Wightford Smith, and the band performg a great march, the President introduced ing a grand march, she President introduced Mr. Brazier, of Georgia, on "The Past, the Present and the Fature of Constitutional Libprty in North America." The speaker began by referring to that well known line of Bishop Berkley - Westward the star of empire takes its way." He spoke of our past history, the prudence of our forefathers, how they avoided the evils of usurpation, the imperfections of Gove ament, of the principles of the old Constitution, the causes that led to our present disturbances, and closed on the future of our Southern Confederacy. His speech was a hapry effort, wel worthy the great theme to which it was devoted, delivered with manly and grace-ful oratory. It produced a fine effect on the intelligent and attentive audience.

Next followed Mr. McCanta, of Columbia, on

"The Magnet." Mr. Hardy, of Anderson District, on "Great results from small beginmings in Science." And Mr. Jehnston, of Beaufort District, on "The days of the Maiden Queen," All three of whem acquitted themselves much to the satisfaction of the audience.

Southern Civilization," by Mr. Lipsey, of Chester District, was handled in an eloquent and able manner. The speaker showed that in all civilizations, the rising one would always succeed. That in the difference between North and South, Southern civilization would finally triumph. And with a happy conclusion, took his seat amidst great applause, greeted by handfuls of flowers.

Next came Mr. Connor, of Orangeburg District, on "The Modern Man of Progress:" His humor produced much applause and laughter. He spoke of the follies of his young hero, whose respect for himself was greater than that all the world had for him, whose ideas of pomp soled boots and a slick cloth coat were above the creations of art and science, but whose productions, alas, would finally become proper materials for the paper mill.

"The Charms of Music," by Mr. Round, of Cokesbury, was a rich treat and worthy of much merit. His delivery proved him to be quite an agreeable speaker, while his refined style showed a highly cultivated taste. It received applause and commendation from all.

"Departed Hours," by Mr. Summers, of Orangeburg District, and "My Country," by Mr. Watson, of Cokesbury, marited mugh praise. The former calm and deliberate in his delivery and concise in his style, spoke of the happy days of youth, the pleasures we enjoy in contemplating a well spent life, and the grief we experience in consequence of a misspent life. The latter, more excited and animated, became too loud for the hall, but what we gained of his speech was well written. "Waterloo," by Mr. Williams, of Colleton

District, was treated in a flowing style-de-scriptive and figurative, it pleased and charmed the audience.
While Mr. Yancy, of Chappell Hill, N. C., showed the amount of "Cotton" produced by our Southern States; that no other country on the globe was so we.l adapted to its cultivation; that it is king and sits upon its throne of commerce, ruing the world.

Thus ended the exhibition on Wednesday—a rich treat to all. And it must be said to the commendation of all the speakers, that not one reserved to his manuscript.

PACOLETT DEPOT, April 20, 1861. A large meeting of the citizens of beat co pany, No. 2, 2nd battalion, 37th regiment, S. C. M., and the surrounding country, assembled at Pacolett Depot to take into consideration the state of affairs of the country, its home defence, and the care of the needy and destitute families of those who are in the army serving in defence of the State, and to form a committee for the above purpose. On motion, Rev. M. C. Barnett was called to the chair, and William Webster requested to act as Secretary. Col. R. C. Poole explained the object of the meeting, and on mature consideration the following resolutions was adopted :

Resolved. That we, the citizens of the neighborhoot of Pacolett Bepot and of our beat company, do hereby pledge ourselves to look to and assist the families of all persons that have volunteered and are in the service of our State, that need assistance, and furnish provisions for the same so that none suffer.

From Washington.

The Alexandria Guzette, of Saturday, has the following by special express from Washington:

" At the commencement of the present trouble, Gen, Scott advised the Administration at Washington to invite Col. Lee, of Arlington, to assist him with his coun sels-pronouncing him the first military man of the age, and declaring that his coseventy-five thousand volunteers already re-quired; so that the whole number called out by would be of the highest importance. Every inducement was accordingly offered by the Government to persuade Colonel 25,000 Lee to lend them the weight of his talents 18,000 and military skill. But in vain. Neither official rank, nor promises of pecuniary emolument could move him. Gen. Scott went to Lincoln with tears in his eyes, and implored him not to issue his proclusation Nearly every member of the Cabinet opposed it also. The President declares that he wrote it bimself.

We are told by old Washingtonians, that at this time the press of Washington is as completely mzzled as that of Paris is by Louis Napoleon. They dare not publish anything reflecting upon the Lincoln Government, which is fast assuming a shape of a military depotism. Outrages are committed by the soldiery, which never are seen in print. l'rivate property is taken for the use of Government, citizens threatened by rabib Republicans with the direst vengeance, and others ordered to leave the city-no freeman dares now to express an Long Bridge, to go over into Virginia. From Annapolis.

Annapolis, April 29.—Yesterday the Naval Academy here presented a more warlike appearence than ever-two steamers were constantly engaged in taking the troops from the Federal fleet lying in the harbor, and landing them on shore. Eight thousand men were landed, principally from New York and Rhode Island.

The citizens were greatly alarmed to-day by a report put in circulation to the effect that by to-morrow no person would be allowed to leave or enter the city, and that the male portion would be forced into service, consequently a great many left for the country, taking with them their families. This rumor, however, is supposed to be erroneous, from the fact that the conduct of the troops here, with one exception have been exceeding by courteous.

In addition to the troops landed by the Boston this morning, another regiment was in the slaveholding States desiring patents to landed this evening by the steam-tug from Havre de Grace, making the total number of troops landed, 12,650, of which 4,000 have left for Washington. Among those here is a company of artillery and a company of cavalery from Boston.

Augustus Gassaway, Esq., the gentle-manly postmaster, has been using his utmost endeavors since the troops took possession of the railroad, to convey the mails to Baltimore and Washington by pony, steamer, or otherwise, but the troops have purchased all the horses in and around the the city, and the captains of vessels are net disposed to sail under the present state of affairs.

The States in the Southern Confederacy owe $18,000,000. The Confederacy itself owes nothing. The States in the Northera Federation owe $174,000,000; besides the debt of the Federal Government, making in all about $260,000,000. These are points for the consideration of capitalists.

Congress has determined to act promptly, and the numerous offers for the service will be immediately accepted.

THE NEW YORK SEVERTH RECEMBERT.—The following is from the Baltimore Sun, of Monday: One of the members of the New York 7th Regiment reached this city on Saturday afternoon on soute for his home. He stated that when they offered their services to the Government, it was for the defence of the Capital, and not to engage in a warfare against a State or States. Fifty of the members refused to take the oath after reaching Washington, and the remainder took it conditionally that they were not to be called on to go out of he District of Columbia. The gentleman who came to this city, says that the feelings of the regiment towards the people of Baltimore are of the kindliest character, and that they could not be induced to invade the soil of Maryland, or of the South, for a hostile purpose. Several of the members of the regiment are natives of Baltimore, and the respect of the whole body for Baltimore is very strong.

FROM PENSACOLA. -Two of the so'diers stationed at Fort Pickens had deserted and were brought to the Navy Yard by one of the boats of Gen Bragg. They report that the negroes who were recently stolen from the Tortugas are now on Santa Rosa at work—that there are about nine hundred men in the fort and on the island, besides sixty from ships—and that only six vessels of war are now off the harbor. Genaral Bragg is progressing rapidly in his fortifi-cations, and is nearly ready to "entertain" the corces at Pickens and in the floet "in a hostile anner." The troops of the Confederate Army are in good spirits, and are sanguine of success.
But little sickness prevails, and the troops generally are in good health, sun burnt, and ready for the conflict.
