

Communications. We have received Cards from Gen. B. F. Batte...

We have also a communication from Lt. Col. E. B. Foster, in Virginia, addressed to the 45th...

We are likewise compelled to postpone an interesting letter, from our correspondent L. descriptive of the fight on the 18th inst., on the banks of the Potomac...

Concert. We were deprived of the pleasure, by indisposition, of attending the Concert on Monday night, for the benefit of the soldiers...

For the Spartan. Our Village was agreeably enlivened last evening with a Concert, gotten up by several of the young ladies and gentlemen of this place...

Death Dr. King Gibson. Another name has been added to the list of our lamented dead. Dr. S. King Gibson, a member of the Butler Guards, died at Fairfax, Va., of typhoid fever on the 23d inst.

Acknowledgments. Mrs. Jefferson Choate gratefully acknowledges the receipt of $10, from Mr. W. Thomson; and of contributions from Mrs. W. West, Mrs. Matthew Moore, Mrs. Payton Ballinger, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. O. E. Edwards, Mrs. M. O. Miller, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. N. P. Walker, Mrs. R. C. Springs, Mrs. J. M. Elford, Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. J. P. Smith, Miss Lizzie Morgan, Miss M. Wynne, Miss A. Wynne, Miss Fannie Ballinger, Miss Betty Wright, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Garrett.

Military Organizations. Judging from all the indications of the Northern press, it is apparent that no effort will be spared to effect our subjugation. If the mighty armies of which they loudly boast cannot effect a result so desirable if armaments and fortifications cannot avail—if rewards and promises applied to whites in Southern employment, compass not the end, singly and unaided then, insidious influences, through spies and disloyal citizens, are to be exerted upon our colored population, at the sacrifice of our homes, families and friends.

Woman. Below is a lovely picture of woman as a ministering angel, as drawn by the graphic pen of an able correspondent of the Charleston Courier, over their signature of "Personae." It will be found to be worthy of one capable of appreciating the tenderness of woman under the most trying circumstances.

Rebel Haul. A correspondent of the Southern Patriot writes from Flint Hill, Va., August 30th, says a better spirit seems to pervade the camp than formerly—every body seems to be contented and happy—the sick are improving—experience in the cooking department has created a great prejudice against flapjacks and belligerent soup and rebel hash is now all the rage, for green corn and Irish potatoes are abundant.

Our Relations with Kentucky. The following article is from the Memphis Avalanche, and very forcibly presents the reasons why the Confederate troops should not be withdrawn from Kentucky.

Northwestern Estimate of Our Army. The New York Herald of the 13th inst., gives the following table as a "correct statement of the present strength and position of the rebel forces, from purely original sources, and from data that we have been collecting for the last five weeks." The Herald endorses it as correct in every particular.

Kentucky Pluck. We extract the following spirited paragraphs from the Louisville Courier of Tuesday: "We presume there is not a Kentuckian, not base enough to be a slave, who is not getting his arms in readiness for the rapidly approaching conflict. And when Kentuckians bear their right arm in battle, their enemies may well call upon the hills and mountains to fall upon and cover them from their vengeance and fury."

A Card.

CAMP JOHNSON, September 14th, 1861. At a meeting of the Forest Rifles, held on their parade ground, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Soldiers Aid and Relief Association, and also the ladies of the town of Spartanburg, for their liberal donations of blankets, testaments, tracts, &c., which have been distributed so much to our comfort and welfare, and for the prompt manner in which they have helped us in making our uniforms.

Resolved, That we will ever cherish the warmest feelings of gratitude toward the kind ones who have thus remembered us. Resolved, That the foregoing be published in both of the papers of the town of Spartanburg.

Resolved, That we return our sincere thanks to the citizens in the vicinity of Mr. Henry B. Murph's for the splendid supper given to the Iron District Volunteers, the night previous to their departure for the camp, and for a large quantity of provisions furnished to the many kind citizens in that neighborhood.

Resolved, That we will ever retain a grateful recollection of the pleasures experienced on that evening, and of the kindness thus manifested towards us. Resolved, That the thanks of this company be returned to those citizens who so liberally contributed money for the benefit of our company.

Resolved, That this imperfect and delayed expression of thanks be sent to the papers of Spartanburg, with the request that they give them an insertion in their papers.

Resolved, That we will ever retain a grateful recollection of the pleasures experienced on that evening, and of the kindness thus manifested towards us. Resolved, That the thanks of this company be returned to those citizens who so liberally contributed money for the benefit of our company.

Beginning to Learn.

Only a few weeks ago it was called "treason" in us to denounce as unrespectably silly the idea that either half of this country could "whipping back" the other half. We have not nevertheless, that the war must go on till the Republican leaders find out that fact, or, till, by swindling contracts, they have sucked from the country the last available dollar, and the war ceases by exhaustion.

Which, of course, gives a gloomy idea of the chance of "whipping" them on their own soil. The first object of the rebels, as they made another in the confidence we have placed in our own? Is it true that the South carries with her the sources of certain failure, or shall we not rather be compelled to yield to her demand of transportation, and the means of making up military efficiency superior to ours?

Guard the Coast.

The news of the past day or two leaves but little doubt that a repetition of the descent upon Hatteras is about to be made on some other point of our sea-coast. We are gratified to believe that every precaution has been taken within this State, and that if the ruthless invaders make the attempt upon us, they will meet a fitting reception. The coast is now well guarded, and there are some thousands of troops ready at a moment's warning to listen to meet the enemy.
