Post Office.

Among the internal changes lately cffected, is the removal of our Post Office to Church Street near the Palmetto House. It is a judicious move, as it is more central then before. Our accommodating Post Master in this, as all other matters, conneed with this Department has consulted the interests and feelings of the entire com-"mannity, and so arranged it as to give it in repose for the conscience. appearance, what it is in reality, the third most'important Office in the State. Our friends will remember this change.

Death of Smith Patterson. This young man a son of Mrs. Leverton of our town, died-

He was a member of Company "K" Pal metto Sharp Shooters, and has since the war served his country faithfully and honorably. No soldier has higher claims to the kind and tender remembrances of coun try and friends than he. On many battle fields he has given the highest evidences of soldierly devotion to our cause by his prowess, and in the interlude of battle by is patient endurance of the Lardships of the tented field. Obedience to law was one of the beautiful virtues of his soldierlife-a faithful execution of duty, a bright and glorious trait in his soldier character The deceased was not only a hero, but pos sessed many axcellencies and virtues that endeared him to his friends and acquain tenees. In disposition, he was gentle and kind-in moral deportment worthy of imitation by his comrades Reared by a pious mother, no pains were spared to give him a moral or mental education, and most beautifully did he illustrate her maternal teachings. While in Wofford College, he was studious and attentive, and made such progress as would soon have fitted him for the office of teacher, a position for which he seemed to have ardent aspirations. At out re loading. Many of these guns have one time, he was employed as a teacher in been captured by our men, as the Yankers, the school of the Odd Fellows at this place, and gave general satisfaction so far as we know. Upon the public at large, he made a favorable impression both for proficiency So loud are the reports of this prodigious and scholastic attainments. In fact, he combined all the qualifications requisite, not only for the place of teacher, but for a carcer of usefulness. None can lament er. the loss of such a one more than those who

Virginia. FROM THE PETERSBURG FRONT.

There was evidently a truce between the hostile lines yesterday, as the quiet of the day was unbroken by the sound of caunon or the discharges of musketry. For the last few days the practice of picket firing has been almost entirely dispensed with at most points along the l nes, but it is always resumed at nightfall.

The enemy is said to be drilling a large number of negroes in the rear of their lines on our right, and also a considerable force of newly armed recruits. There are said to be fully six or eight thousand nogrocs at this point, who are no doubt being gotten in readinces to participate in the next battle South of Petersburg. The farms South of the Boydran Plank Road, which have fallen within the Yankee lines, have suffered everything of valte upon them.

The Yankees have established a regular race course at the Yellow House, on which their best nags are run every day. These races are not only witnessed and participa-ted in by privates; but by high officers of the army, and much money wagered.

THE NORTH SIDE OF THE JAMES.

Grant keeps persistently quist: So far as fighting is concerned, the North side is as still as the grave. Monday night, about eleven c'clock, a great rumbling was heard in the direction of the enemy's pontoon bridges, and this continued until the morning. It was intimated that a force of cav airy was coming to this side; but our pickets, who were on the alert, saw nothing of them. Yesterday morning, there was considerable canconading at Dutch Gap, and firing was heard in the vicinity of Peteraburg. No movements or indications of active hostilities are reported. The opinion a broached in certain quarters that Grant, Leing sure of Lincoln's election, has postpoued indefinitely his grand assault, and ntends to promote the siege at his leisure. At least there is reasonable ground for doubting whether he intends an assault on our now lines-at least not till he can bring up his fleet and assant Drowry's Einfl at the same time. For would be sit still and see those new lines thrown up without interruption, as he has done, if he intended to make his real fight there?

THE SOUTH SIDE

Thirty more deserters came into our lines n Saturday and Sunday, and are now on their way to a place which shall be nameess. Order 65 works like a charm The Yankees have named the terminus of their City I o nt Road "Warren Station," in hon r of General Warren, w' o first gained a foothold on the Weldon Road. It is said that the Yankee troops behind the breastworks are being armed with a repeating rifle or musket, an ingenious weapon, which has a chambered barrel and fires twice with to their sorrow, have long since discovered. CHIEF JUSTICE TANEY .- All the old jurists of the last century are dropping off tapidly. In England, Lyndhurt has gone at a ripe old age, within the past year. In Washington, on the 12th of October, died Roger Brooke Tauey; Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. If is death has removed another of the famous cotemporaries of the birth of American independence, who for so many years has been the chief interpreser of the Constitution, which was adopted welve years after he was born. It might almost be said of him what Grattan deslared of the Irish nation, that he had watched beside its cradie and followed its hearse. Chief Justice Taney was not on
