

Simple, Touching Lines.

The New England Diadem gives its readers the following beautiful stanzas, which were suggested by hearing read an extract of a letter from Capt. Chase, giving an account of the sickness and death of his brother-in-law, Mr. Brown Owen, who died on his passage to California. We have but seldom met anything so painfully interesting in every line, and it will be read with "teary eyes" by many who have lost brothers, fathers, husbands or sons on their way to or after having reached, the land God and of Graves.

Lay up nearer, brother, nearer,
For my limbs are growing cold.
And thy presence seemeth dearer,
When thy arms around me fold;
I am dying, brother, dying,
Soon ye'll miss me in your berth,
For my form will soon be lying,
'Neath the ocean's briny surf.

Hearken to me, brother, hearken,
I have something I would say, Ere the veil of my vision darkens,
And I go from hence away;
I am going, surely going,
But my hope in God is strong,
I am willing, brother, knowing That he doeth nothing wrong.

Tell my father when you greet him,
That in death I prayed for him, Prayed that I may one day meet him,
In a world that's free from sin;
Tell my mother, (God assist her, Now that she is growing old.)
Tell, her child would glad have kissed her,
When his lips grew pale and cold.

Listen brother, catch each whisper,
'Tis my wife I'd speak of now, Tell, oh tell her, how I missed her,
When the fever burned my brow.
Tell her, brother, closely listen,
Don't forget a single word,
That in death my eyes did glisten,
With the tears her memory stirred.

Tell her she must kiss my children,
Like the kiss I last impressed, Hold them as when last I held them,
Folded closely to my breast;
Give them early to their Maker, Putting all their trust in God,
And He never will forsake her,
For He said so in His word.

O my children, Heaven bless them!
They were all my life to me,
Would I could once more caress them, Ere I sink beneath the sea;
'Twas for them I crossed the ocean, What my hopes were I'll not tell,
But I have gained an orphan's portion,
Yet He doeth all things well.

Tell my sister I remember Every kindly parting word,
And my heart has been kept tender,
By the thoughts their mem'ry stirred;
Tell them I ne'er reached the haven,
Where I sought the "precious dust," But I've gained a port called Heaven, Where the gold will never rust.

Urge them to secure an entrance,
For they'll find their brother there;
Faith in Jesus, and repentance
Will secure for each a share—Hark! I hear my Saviour speaking,
'Tis, I know his voice so well,
When I am gone, oh don't be weeping, Brother, here's my last farewell.

Hasty people drink the nectar of existence scalding hot.

Keep that man at a distance who hates music and the laugh of a child.

Kindness in ourselves is the honey that blunts the sting of unkindness is another.

Divine light is not as the light of the sun, to work by.

'My bark is wrecked,' as the dog remarked, when thrown overboard in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean.

It is well remarked, that it was better to be born with a disposition to see things on the favorable side, than to an estate of ten thousand a year.

Happiness, it has been finely observed, is in the proportion of the number of things we love, and the number of things that love us as well.

He who pampers the selfishness of another does that other mortal injury, which cannot be compensated by any amount of gratification imparted to him.

A colored man at Cincinnati sued the judge at an election for refusing his vote.
He claimed ten thousand dollars damages, and the jury gave him one cent.

Richmond papers take encouraging views of the next crop, and prophesy better times for producers of tobacco and cereals.

Let you be ever so pure, you cannot associate with bad companions without becoming addicted to some of the bad habits. Evil company is like tobacco smoke —you cannot be long in its presence without carrying away a taint of it.

SOMETHING LIKE A KNIFE.—The Editor of the Boston Post says that a newly invented dozen bladed knife has been made by a Yankee cutler, which has in addition to its blades, a corkscrew, a bodkin, a hair brush and a boot-kick, besides a season ticket to the theatre.

A DELICATE QUESTION.—"Why is the letter D like a ring?" said a young lady to her accepted one day. The gentleman, like the generality of his sex in such a situation, was as dull as a hammer. "Because," added the lady with a very modest look at the picture at the other end of the room, "because we can't be wed without it."

WIT AND HUMOR.

What letter is it that is never used more than twice in America? Ans.—A.

The name of a man in Vermont who feeds his geese on iron filings, and gathers steel pens from their wings, is Sharp.

The old gentleman who undertook to take the twist out of the malestrom, has gone out West to whitewash the Rocky Mountains. He goes for large jobs.

THE ADVANTAGE OF CHANGE.—A person asked an Irishman why he wore his stockings wrongside outward. 'Because,' said he, "there's a hole on the other side."

To enjoy life you should be a little miserable occasionally. Trouble, like cayenne, is not very agreeable in itself, but gives great zest to other things.

A man in Cincinnati recently cut his throat, because he lived next door to an amateur trombone player. The coroner held an inquest and returned a verdict of 'justifiable homicide.'

A mother admonishing her son (a lad some seven years of age,) told him he should never defer till to-morrow what he could do to-day. The little urchin replied, "Then mother, let's eat the remainder of the plum pudding to-night."

A learned writer says of books: "They are masters who instruct us without rods or ferules, without thanks or anger, without bread or money. If you approach them they are not asleep; if you seek them they do not hide; if you blunder they do not scold; if you are ignorant they do not laugh at you."

COOL COMPLIMENT.—An acquaintance the other day meeting with a lady friend in the street, passed the word, "Fine day, Miss D." "Fine," exclaimed the shivering damsel; "my feet are cold as ice." "Very likely," was the cool rejoinder, "I have always said you had a nice foot."

HUMOROUS.—"Mr. Showman what is that? That my dear, is the rhinoceros." He is cousing German or Dutch relative to the Unicorn. He was born in the desert Sary Ann, and feeds on bamboo and missionaries. He never leaves his home unless he moves, in which case he goes somewhere else, unless he is overtaken by the dark. He is a very courageous creature, and always whips when he conquers. He was brought to this country much against his will, which accounts for his low spirits when he is dejected and melancholy. He is now somewhat aged—although he has seen the day when he was the youngest specimen of animated nature in the world.
Pass on, my little dear, and allow the ladies to survey the ring tailed monkey, a hannibal that can stand hanging like a fellow cutter, only its reversed.

age, gentleness, affectionateness.

power, dignity, gracefulness.

gance, ingratitude.

friends, a cheerful spirit.

dence, firmness.

Three things to like—Cordiality, good humor, mirthfulness.

Three things to suspect—Flattery, puritanism, sudden affection.

Three things to avoid—Idleness, loqua-city, flippant jesting.

Three things to cultivate—Good books, good friends, good humor.

Three things to contend for—Honor, country, friends.

Three things to govern—Temper, Impulse, the tongue.

Three things to be prepared for—Change decay, death.

The Fredericksburg Herald says: We are informed of a singular case of change of color that is now going on in the person of a black man living in Culpepper county, Va. Our informant has known the negro for fifteen years, and describes him to have been at one time as "black as tar." Within the last three months the negro has been gradually changing his skin. His hands are still dark, but from the wrists to the shoulders as fair as any white man's.
His whole body is spotted, gradually changing its hue. It is a marvel in view of the fact that the negro has never had a day's sickness, and is healthy now.
