> GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE --- NO. 2. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, ) Columbia, 5th Dec. 1836.

Gentlemen of the Senate.

and of the House of Representatives :

I have received from Col. Gad-den a report on the proposed Rail Road between Charleston and Cincinnati, and regarding it as a very able exposition of the principles upon which self-moving engin s operate upon planes of different degrees, and also of the general economy of building and repairing rail roads, with a practical reference to the various contemplated routes for the one in question : I have deemed it proper to lay it before you, to to be used and disposed of as you may think proper.

It s accompanied by a map, on which the d ferent routes projected are distinctly marked, so that their relative bearing and distances can be seen at a glance of the eye.

I avail myself of this occasion to suggest the expediency of making an appropriation for completing the preliminary surveys, which will be indispensable to a wise and judicious selection of the route on which this road shall be constructed. Until this shall be done, I presume the Legislature will not be disposed to make any appropriation to aid in the exe-

PROSPECTUS OF THE SOUTHERN MEVIEW.

TO be published at Washington, quarterly, in an Svo No. of 275 to 3.50 pages: price 5 dollars per annum, payable in advance. The place is chosen, not only for its facilities of in ormation, literary and political, but as that at which the Southern States can be united upon the undertaking, with the greatest ease, and with the completest exemption om all State or Party jeulousies.

Of the matter, three fourths (say 225 pp.) shall consist of regular Reviews; making about 9 of 25 pp. each. These must, as to literary works at least, return, as a general rule, somewhat towards that older method, now almost forgotten, and give a regnlar analysis of the book reviewed, if it be of any merit. In Politics and upon Occusional Topics, there may be a greater liberty of deviating into mere disouisition. In this portion of the Review, there will be given, in each No. a paper historical of the Politics and general events of the day : to serve as a Historical Register. Its execution will always be committed to he strongest hands only ; and its purpose, to give a unity and consistency to the Public Loctrines of the Review, such as can scarcely be so well effected in any other manner.

Occasional Retrospective Reviews will also be embodied in this part of the plan, with a view of favoring, in a certain degree, the more carious studies: or to revive the knowledge of important books, forgotten in the confusion of modern learning.

Writers will be led, of regular purpose, to give their papers, wherever the subject will permit, the formof a Series ; in order not only that they may thus afford a completer body of information, but serve, also, to re-print apart, for popular circulation ; a method that will much augment both the reputation and usefulness of the Review.

A body of Miscelanies (say some 50 pp.) will form the subordinate and more amusing part of the Journal. Its contents will be somewhat various . but them on all questions which may come before the will, for the most part, consist of short Literary Notices ; Bibliographical Articles ; a critical list of New Publications, foreign and domestic, and general Literary Intelligence. In Communications, the most compressed mode of writing will be every where required. Papers, in which the words do not bear a just proportion to the information conveyed or the effect intended, will be either rejected, without scruple, or abridged, without mercy.

To warrant this exaction, the usual rate of compensation to writers will be advanced to 24 dollars per printed page : a price that will offer fair remuneration to the talents and labor which we wish to secure.

Of this revival of a Review of the South, the purpose is, to give once more to our region, (now eminently needing it) an Interpreter and a Defender; the common Representative of our Institutions, and of the Mind itself among us. Such, in that great Congress of Opinion, where the fates of civilized nations are now so largely settled, we do not possess and we have already suffered much for it It is time to make ourselves understood and respected there. The Journal which shall do this, must combine the general strength of all who, throughout the South, love the country, and are capable of doing t intellectual service. It must, then, be, not the champion or the propagandist of local opinions, but the friend of all that pursue the public good. Into the vulgar methods of Politics, debased by Partizan rancour, or corrupted by the interest, or overborne by the popular passion of the hour, it must not fall .-From it, the pride of the Nullifier must receive no diminution, the fidelity of the Unionist no reproach .--It must be no vantage-ground to either party; nor serve but as an equal field, where they will only contend which shall most advance the cause of the South, and of that older doctrine of Jeffersonian State Rights, avowed by both parties alike, and now the only hope of rallying and of rescuing the country.

To vindicate, then, our peculiar Institutions ; to repel with argument, lest presently we be forced to repel with arms, all external interference with our domestic condition : against the wild rule of mere Chance and Corruption, to uphold a Republican and Federative, as distinguished from a Democratic and Consolidating administration of the National affairs : from the disorders of the Central governmentcution of the work itself.

I have also received the accompanying memorial, signed by two of the Judges of the Cont of Appeals, in the name of the whole Bench, setting forth the wretched state of the Hall provided for the Sessions of the Court, and the want of a public Law Library for the me of the Judges during their Sessions in Co-Sambia. A suitable library, conveniently accessible to those who are to decide all ques. tions of law in the last resort, is second in importance only to judicial qualifications. It is not to be presumed that decisions pronounced in the absence of the u-ual and necessary means of forming correct opinions, can have that claim to general confidence, which should belong to those adjudications which are to settle the law of the land. I therefore, respectfully recommend the subject to your consideration, both as it relates to the Hall and the Library.

I also submit for your consideration, a statement of the injuries sustained by certain citizens of Anderson District, by the deterioration of horses impressed for the use of Capt. Prekens' Company of Mounted Infantry, called into the service of the United States, in Feb. het. The impressments were male under the supposed warrant of an Act of the Legislature, which was only intended to apply to cases in which the State was actually invaded. But as the Officers were actuted by a patriotic motive, it would seem to be unjust to make them responsible for the consequences ; and it would be even more unjust that those citizens who sustained damage by the impressment of their property, should be left without compensation.

As the laws of he United States provide no remedy for this class of cases, they are submitted to the liberality of the Legislature. GEO. MCDUFFIE.

Cincinnati and Charleston Rail Road.

The Proxies and Stockholders of the Rail Road Company are requested to meet at CLARK's, this morning at half past 9 o'clock, on business of importance.

The following gentlemen have been, by the Court of Appeals now in session, admitsted to practice in the Courts of Law in this State: Julius A. Dargan, John A. Alston, Davis Goudelock, Jaines G. Hall, John Sinart. John M. Lowry, And the following were admitted to practise in the Courts of Chancery : Charles W. Miller, Wm. J. Hanna,

Henry Summer. John Smart,

The communications of "A Stockholder," (which seem to be of a character especially useful at present) have been received, and will be attended to as soon as practicable.

We are sorry, both on account of his treatment of the subject, and our personal knowledge of the author, that the crowded condition of our columns will not allow us to publish "MILES" until it will be too late to have any effect on the matter that it is designed to have given yourselves stronger and wiser local systems-to direct the public view towards a home policy of the States, capable, through itself, to confer upon us the blessings of well-ordered Liberty, expected in vain from the Federal Power : from the delusions of Party Politics abroad, to call home the attention of our people to those arts, by which the wise and brave have often raised petty States into noble and prosperous Commonwealths: to attach men, if possible, to their birth phree, and them, from wandering and selfish adventurers, into citizens, the lovers of civilization : to re-animate public spirit, and give it purpose, as well as energy: to hold, over Parties and Politicians, the tribunal of a Public Opinion far different from that idle and corrupt one, of which the Newspaper Press is the voice; for these purposes, to diffuse through the land sound and well considered public doctrines, with Knowledge and Taste, their natural alliessuch will be the general aim of that literary league, among the best talents of the country, which has been set on foot, in the present undertaking.

Of its critical purposes, it is not necessary to speak so minutely. In general, it will, of cour e, strive to guide the popular taste towards the lest sources, in Knowledge, and the truest models in Ele ant Letters. Its judgments will, however, found themselves upon dent of his temporary renown, nor that of his birth on this or the other side of the Atlantic. Towards the few good writers, that want of cultivation has yet permitted us to have, in America, it will know how to be respectful. But in Literature, as lately in Trade, we shall insist that no man's bad commodity be forced upon us, under patriotic pretences. Upon all that school of writers, whose works, for want of every other merit, attempt to make themselves one, out of the very fact that they are not English, an unsparing war will be waged ; nor less upon that other great division of the invading army of Dulness -the endless compilers of bad and illiterate Schoolbooks-a sort that drive out everything humane amongst us, by poisoning its very fountains, where they pass. Over these and whatever else of pernicious the Northern Press pours out upon us, a strict supervision must, for our very safety, be maintained. Upon the Literature of mere Amusement-Novels, Verses, the Travels of ignorant and impertinent people, or the like: upon Anniversary Orations, Inaugural Discourses, and those volumes of Indigestion which pass for Public Speeches : upon the Biographies of Presidential Candidates, and of all illustrious and heroical persons in general, that are still alive: upon Charity or Missionary or Temperance or Antimasonic Sermons or Reports; and upon all Awful Disclosures whatever, the current criticism of the Review must proceed by notices, justly proportioned to the brevity of existence enjoyed by this literary grass, which flourishes greenly in the morning, and is cut down and flung away be ore the night. Life is too short, Art too long, and Learning grown too prolific, for people to occupy themselves more than an instant with bad books, while such great bodies of good ones rot, almost unread.
