HENRY'S
CONSTITUTION RENOVATOR, OR BLOOD CLEANSER.

This medicine is known to the faculty as being the concentrated fluid extract of Sarsaparilla united with other valuable medicinal herbs, and is guaranteed as chemically pure. FOR THE CURE OF Scrofula and Consumption.

This remedy is compounded expressly for purifying and cleansing the blood of all infirmities, going at once to the fountain-head of disease. It extinguishes
Tumors, Consumption, Syphilis, Skin Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Boils, Rheumatism, Waste of Vitality, Scrofula.

We all know that the poisonous vaccination introduced in during the late war bred the most villainous diseases. Vaccination was taken from the arms of many persons full of scrofulous sores. Then of course the impurities of the scrofulous patient were absorbed in the blood of men otherwise without disease, and both became infected alike. Men, women and children throughout all the West are most woefully diseased from this cause, and know not, until a few months ago, the origin of it.

Henry's Constitution Renovator Relieves the Entire System of Pains and aches, enlivens the spirits, and sends new blood bounding through every vein. It imparts a Sparkling Brightness to the Eye,
A Rosy Glow to the Cheek,
A Ruby Tinge to the Lips,
A Clearness to the Head,
Brightness to the Complexion,
Buoyancy to the Spirits,
And Happiness on all Sides.

For all affections of the kidneys it is unsurpassed. People have been rescued, as it were, from the very jaws of death, by a timely use of this great remedy.

I used two bottles and all my skin eruptions were cured. I feel like a new man. I was very much troubled with syphilis. Your remedy seems to be curing me fast. Send me a few more bottles."—

COKEBURY
SCHOOL.

THIS old and popular Institution will resume Exercises on the first of February under the rectorship of Mr. W. C. HENRY, an experienced and successful instructor of youth. Mr. Henry was educated at the Edinburgh University of Scotland, and stood among the first in all his classes. He taught in the Cokesbury school during the past year, and the patrons were so perfectly satisfied with the progress of their children and the discipline of the school, that they entered into obligations of guaranty to induce him to remain another year, as the strongest inducement to obtain his services. I have some experience in teaching myself, and I can, most unhesitatingly, recommend him to my friends and the public as a superior teacher, and an accomplished Christian gentleman. Rates of Tuition 25, 40, and 50 dollars per scholastic year, half in advance. Board can be obtained at $12 per month, exclusive of washing and lights.

Whipper and Wright.

The correspondent of the Charleston News, gives the following pen and ink sketch of the two most prominent candidates for the office of Associate Judge. It will be noticed that Cain takes the side of Wright:

To-day the Missionary Record (of which Cain, the "religious Senator," or "Senator No. 2, from Charleston," is editor,) was circulated, and one of its editorials upon "The Judgeship—Whipper, Wright, or who," created considerable comment among the legislators, and especially poor Whipper's friends, because Cain unhesitatingly asserts that Wright is entitled to the judgeship, and contends that Whipper "has been amply rewarded by the party. He is the only colored man who has received the distinguished honor of a position worth three thousand five hundred dollars a year, as coadjutor of the laws of the State. He has been honored with a prominent place in all the legislative affairs of this State. He will fill the office of coadjutor of the laws for four years, which will give him fourteen thousand dollars. If he is not satisfied with that, then he is a very unreasonable man. We understand that he wants to hold on to both positions, coadjutor and judge."

Wright is a colored man who lips and is always in a good humor. He speaks more perhaps, than any three of the colored Senators, and generally very clearly. His influence with the colored legislators is very great. He states that he was born in Pennsylvania, and after graduating at the Lancaster University, New York, studied law for two years at Montrose Susquehanna County, in Pennsylvania, and a little over a year at Wilkesbarre, in the same State. He was admitted to the bar in Susquehanna County, being the first colored man admitted to practice in Pennsylvania. After the "Union came in" down South, he was made by General Howard legal adviser of the freedmen of South Carolina.

William Whipper is also a colored man. While popular, he does not enjoy so high a degree of popularity as his rival; yet his chances for the associate judgeship are perhaps a little better than Wright's—doubtless because he is a member of the House, which of course on "joint ballot" has an immense majority, and the partisan feelings of the members will make many of them vote for him, who otherwise would support his opponent. Whipper served in a Michigan regiment during the war, and came into Charleston with "the Union." He has, I am informed, made affidavit before Magistrate Nash (colored senator from Richland, that he had studied law for nine months before the war, and thereupon was permitted to practice in this State. As regards Whipper's mental attainments, Wright is his superior; yet Whipper possessed a great amount of shrewdness, which coupled with an extraordinary degree of persistence, would make him about equal with Wright in any contest in their legal profession.

Whipper says: The effeminate man is a weak politician. He is a cross between a root beer and a ginger pop, with the cork left out of the bottle over night. He is a fresh water mermaid lost in a cow pasture, with his hands filled with dandelions. He is a tea-cup full of whipped silyluby—
Witten in pantalettes—a sick monkey with blonde moustache. He is a vine without any tendrils—a fly drowned in sweet oil—a paper kite in a dead calm. He lives like the butterflies—nobody can tell why. He is as harmless as a cent's worth of spruce gum, and as useful a shirt button without any button-hole. He is as lazy as a bread pill, and has no more hope than a last year's grasshopper. He is a man without any gall and woman without any gizzard. He goes through on tiptoes and dies like cologne water spilt on the ground.

AWFUL FATE OF A YOUNG MAN.
A young man while intoxicated, fell into the machinery at the rolling mill at Stranton, Pa. The engineer heard the grinding of the bones, and stopping the cogs were mashed, and the engine immediately. As he did so, the blood like fine rain, came drizzling down with little pieces of flesh. The men saw something flying through the air, which they thought was a cloth from the engine, but which was the unknown being, thrown some forty feet from the wheel, landing on the top of a furnace where it was found broiling, burning and disfigured. The name of the unfortunate young man was James F. Vesey.

150 babies have been found in the little basket crib at the door of the New York Foundling Asylum since the 29th of last November.

Destructive Fire in Chester.

To one of the sufferers are we indebted says the Phoenix for the following account of a destructive conflagration in the town of Chester. We sincerely hope our contemporary will not be discouraged, but will soon rise from the ashes:

CHESTER C. H., January 23, 1870.
EDITOR PHOENIX: A fire broke out this morning, about 1 o'clock, in the store of M. B. Friedlerger & Co., which destroyed property to the value of $15,000 or $20,000, before it could be checked. The cause of the fire is as yet unascertained. The building in which it began was a two-story frame house, belonging to the estate of Daniel Carroll, deceased. The first floor was occupied as a dry goods store by M. B. Friedlerger & Co., and the second floor as the residence of Mrs. Carroll, and as the sleeping rooms of the members of the said firm. Mrs. Carroll retired between 11 and 12 o'clock. Mr. Friedlerger and Mr. Luicks, his partner, had gone to their room about 10 o'clock. About 1 o'clock Mrs. Carroll was awakened by the roaring of the flames, and at once aroused Mr. Friedlerger and Mr. Luicks. The fire had then progressed too far to allow them to save anything in the building. Next to the house in which the fire originated was a three story brick building, belonging to Mr. E. H. Able, occupied by Mr. Isaac Heyman as a dry goods store on the first floor; by Messrs McClure & Bradley as the printing office of the Chester Reporter on the second floor and by the Masons and Odd Fellows as a common lodge room on the third floor. Next to this building was a small one, the property of Mr. J. J. McNichol as a confectionary. This house of Mr. Agurs was torn down to stop the progress of the fire. The building of Mr. Able was entirely destroyed, together with the contents of its second and third stories. The stock of goods of Mr. Heyman was removed, but necessarily much damaged.

The loss may be summed up as follows: House belonging to the estate of Daniel Carroll, (uninsured,) $2,500; house belonging to J. L. Agurs, torn down, (uninsured,) $1,000; stock of goods of M. B. Friedlerger & Co., insured in the London, Liverpool and Globe for $1,999, in the Georgia Home for $2,500 and in the Enterprise, of Cincinnati, for $2,500—$9,000; Isaac Heyman's stock, insured in the Georgia Home, $9,000, lost by removal $1,000; McClure & Bradley—Chester Reporter—loss 2,000—insured for $1,500 in the Putnam, of Hartford, $5,000, lost by removal $1,000; McClure & Bradley—Chester Reporter—loss 2,000—insured for $1,500 in the Putnam, of Hartford, J. J. McNichol—loss $200 by removal of goods—uninsured; Wylie, Rodley & Agurs—loss probably $1,500 by removal of goods, covered by insurance in the Liverpool, London and Globe.

It was by the strenuous exertions that the whole business portion of the town was kept from sharing a similar fate. In these exertions none bore themselves better than the colored men of the town. They worked nobly. The zeal they manifested in saving the property that was endangered cannot fail to bring about a better feeling between them and the white citizens of the town. Nothing was saved from the Reporter office but the books and a few cases of type. The press and type of the Chester Standard was packed away in the cellar of the same building in which was the office of the Reporter. It also was entirely destroyed.

REPORTER.
CHARLOTTE, COLUMBIA AND AUGUSTA RAILROAD.—We had the pleasure of meeting, yesterday, with the genial and able President of the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, Col. William Johnston, in the city on business connected with his road. Colonel Johnston ranks with the ablest railroad men in the country, and keeps fully up with the political, financial and industrial questions pertaining to the situation. His road is now enjoying a high degree of prosperity in its entire line; within the past few months, the receipts from freights and travel having augmented fully 100 per cent. The future prospects of this important link in the great and popular short passenger route Northward, are daily brightening, as evidenced by the increasing demands of travel: Its trains, of three, four and five passenger cars, arrive and depart daily, filled with passengers. The bulk of the travel is now Westward, and is making heavy demands upon the rolling stock of the road, which has latterly been largely increased, and requires still further additions of engines and cars to meet the growing demands of business, alike from travel and freights.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

General Stewart L. Woodford, the late Lieutenant-Governor of the State of New York, on February 1st becomes editor of the Brooklyn Union.

Boys, Read This.

A few years ago a large drug firm in a city advertised for a boy. Next day the store was thronged with applicants, among them a queer looking little fellow, accompanied by a woman who proved to be his aunt, in lieu of faithless parents, by whom he had been abandoned. Looking at this little waif, the merchant in the store promptly said: "Can't take him. Places all full; besides, he is too small." "I know he is small," said the woman, "but he is willing and faithful." There was a twinkle in the boy's eye that made the merchant think again. A partner in the firm volunteered to remark that he "did not see what they wanted of such a boy—he was bigger than a pint of cider." But after consultation the boy was set to work. A few days later a call was made on the boys in the store for some one to stay all night. The prompt response of the little fellow contrasted well with the reluctance of others. In the middle of the night the merchant looked in to see if all was right in the store, and presently discovered his youthful protoge busy scissoring labels. "What are you doing?" said he. "I did not tell you to work nights." "I know you did not tell me so, but I thought I might as well be doing something." In the morning the cashier got orders to "double that boy's wages, for he is willing." Only a few weeks elapsed before a show of wild boasts passed through the streets, and, very naturally, all hands in the store rushed to witness the spectacle. A thief saw his opportunity, and entered at the rear door to seize something, but in a twinkling found himself firmly clutched by the diminutive clerk aforesaid, and after a struggle was captured. Not only was a robbery prevented, but valuable articles taken from other stores were recovered. When asked by the merchant why he staid behind to watch when others quit their work, the reply was, "You told me never to leave the store when others were absent, and I thought I'd stay." Orders were immediately given once more: "Double that boy's wages; he is willing and faithful." To-day that boy is getting a salary of $2,500, and next January will become a member of the firm. Young men imitate his example.—Holt's Journal of Health.

LEGISLATURE.
The most important measure of the Session perhaps, is the Act to repeal the Township Law, which has passed and thus saves the State about $1,000,000.

The Charleston Extension bill, designed to oust the present officers, by ordering a new election has been defeated in the Senate.

The 1st February has been fixed for the election of an Associate Justice of the Supreme Bench. The prominent Candidates are Whipper and Wright, both colored, and the white men have made every effort to postpone the election, for the purpose of preventing the election of a colored man to the Supreme Bench.

A bill is pending, and will pass it seems, for appropriating $500,000 for purchasing "lands for the landless."

The Metropolitan Police bill met its just fate, and was quickly dispatched in the Senate.

A bill is pending to redeem certain obligations. It authorizes the issuing of $324,000 in State bonds, running twenty years to pay the principal and interest of a loan made in July, 1864, and February 1865, by the Charleston Savings Institution to the Bank of the State.

Also a bill to exempt from taxation for five years all manufacturers of cotton and woolen fabrics: a bill to amend the charter of the Graniteville Manufacturing Company; to require foreign insurance agencies to pay a license for soliciting or taking insurance in this State—it provides that the county commissioners may issue the licenses for one hundred dollars, payable annually.

The concurrent resolution for the adjournment of the General Assembly, sine die, on Tuesday, March 1st, 1870, was laid on the table in the Senate.

A private despatch to a Southern member of Congress, from Jackson, Miss., says H. R. Revels, of Natchez, has been elected to the United States Senate for the short term, by eighty one votes. The receiver of the despatch says Revels is a negro.

They are to have a grand musical reunion festival in New York next May, which is to eclipse that of Boston. 10,000 thousand musical artists are to assist.

John Noll, residing three miles from Ipa, died on the 17th inst, aged 109 years. It is said that he never took medicine until about two years ago.

Don Platt writes that any one possessed of a whole coat and a clean shirt, and who is a member of Constock's, one go into Washington society at once.

Speech of Mr. Dawes upon Republican Extravagance.

One of the most remarkable speeches of the Session, is that of Mr. Dawes, one of the ablest members of the Republican party in Congress, and chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. He accuses his party of violating their pledges of retrenchment and economy, made in the last Presidential election, and of going beyond the extravagance which they charged upon the administration of Andrew Johnson. The very first estimates of General Grant's administration, he shows, are $28,000,000, more than they were in any year of Andrew Johnson's; and the heads of departments are now proposing to spend next year near $50,000,000 more than was appropriated for the present year.

The New York World proposes a remedy for all this in a reduction of the taxes. But we would suppose as the power is equally in Congress, that it would be more natural and equally effective, to cut down the appropriations. Hear the World:

"The only sure way to cure such reckless extravagance is by a reduction of the taxes. With an overflowing Treasury, there will never be any end to prodigal and wasteful schemes. The dishonest schemers understand the conditions of success; and the chief bamboozlement of the last eight or nine months has taken the form of a device for reconciling the people to heavy taxes. Unless a great deal of money comes into the Treasury, the plunderers cannot get a great deal out of it. They have accordingly sung loud peans, and made them resound from end to end of the country, over Secretary Boutwell's marvellous reductions of the public debt
