There remains now but two weeks until our State election, when the voters of South Carolina will be called upon to decide which of the two, Reuben Tomlinson or Franklin J. South Carolina Politics.

Advices from South Carolina are better than anybody has, for some time past, been venturing to hope. Not improbably we may see there the defeat and destruction of the Scott-Parker ring and the election of Mr. Tomlinson, the belters' candidate, as Governor. Our readers know what that would mean-at least so far as concerns the overthrow of the ring. which has done more to make the name of the North an offence in the nostrils of settling upon the course which they will the South than any ten army corps we ever sent there. And so far as concerns the success of Mr. Tomlinson, we can assure them of our own knowledge that his election they may heartily desire as being man who thoroughly knows the ring, and of a perfectly sound Republican. It is not our habit to have much to say about local elections; but there are aspects of this South Carolina election in which it is seen to be anything but local; in which it s seen to be of even more than national

We do not know how good Republ cans, or good Democrats either, who valne our good name as a people and believe perpetuating our free institutions could better use the r influence or their money, so far as money is legitimately used in political contests, than in helping the least, to take the State out of their hands.
