SEA ISLAND HOTEL. (Formerly the Saxton House.)

BEAUFORT, S. C.

This House, so favorably known to the travelling public, and more especially appreciated by invalids and others seeking a genial Southern clime, 'to escape the rigors of Northern seasons, will be reopened on October first, 1872 The house has been enlarged to more than double its former capacity, and has been fitted up with every convenience calculated to minister to the comfort and pleasure of its guests, and the proprietors will earnestly endeavor to secure to all who may become their patrons the comforts and privileges that are rarely found elsewhere than at home. Situated on the coast and thus enjoying the advantage of sea air, *Beaufort is so far South as also to render its climate mild and agreeable. The table will continually be furnished with the best products of the Northern and Southern markets. Good livery accommodations, a finely equipped Billiard Hall, Bowling Alley, and a Telegraph office are among the other desirable acquisitions of the house.

Beaufort is in daily communication with both Charleston and Savannah by railroad and steamboat, both lines of which are readily accessible in from five to fifteen minutes, from the hotel.
