THE ELECTION IN CHARLESTON

For Mayor and Aldermen, has resulted in the election of the full Conservative, or Citizen's ticket : General Wagener's majority was 777. This is quite a triumph for better order, when the fact is taken in consideration that the Legislature, by special act, anticipated the regular time of holding the election by over two months, so as to bring it on at a time when business required that the business men should be out of town.

General Wagener's known character as a gentleman, and as a man of business long identified with the interests of Charleston, gives every confidence that the affairs of the city will be care fully driven by the old Wagoner to success and prosperity; not a wheel will be suffered to crush the humblest citizen, or a spoke elevato to position, an unworthy scoundrel.

The success of this election inspires new hope and courage throughout the State.

NO CONVENTION.

The recent election in North Caroli. na, has resulted in a decided majority against holding a Convention for the purpose of changing the Constitution.

We think the verdict is right. At the last election it was charged by the Radicals that if the Conservative party got into power they would so alter the Constitution as to deprive the freedmen of their rights; this they denied, and pledged themselves against it . the result was they secured a handsome majority in the Legislature, and thrust out Holden, the Arch-Angel of the Devil; with this they should have been satisfied.

Theodore Tilton, in his paper, the Golden Age, gives an account of one of his special reporters ("and Chief Lady of the St. ff;") interviewing Commodore Vanderbilt, on the great question, "Shall the next President of the United States le a Woman ?" and in regard to the V ctoria League, of which

Compulsory Education,

The Republican State Convention of California has put this plank in its platform: "We approve and recommend a common school system that shall not only extend its benefits to all, but be compulsory upon all."

On the above, the New York World makes the following very sensible remarks:

politics. We have had those who insisted that the State was bound to see that every child in it received some kind of an education, compelling the education in public schools of those not instructed otherwise; but it has never before been contended, so far as we now remember, that while every child The natives not only poison their must be educated, no other education than that of public schools is to be allowed. It is one thing for the State to forcibly educate such children as are growing up in ignorance and quite another for it to forbid any other education to any child than such as it prescribes. Even the first of these procedures has been found so repugnant to the genius of our people that it has never found place in any State constitution save those imposed on the South by force; and if this is the popular reception of compulsory education with a complete saving in favor of a parent educating his child as he may desire, it can be readily seen how monstrous at once and impossible is that scheme of compulsory education, pure and simple, which the Republicans of California propose. By the reconstructed State constitutions of Louisiana, Texas, and South Carolina the Legislature is empowered to compel the education of such children as are not otherwise instructed; but while the authority has proportion. been possessed for three years, no steps whatever, so far as we are aware, have been taken towards its exercise. Something of this non-user is due, no doubt, to the fact that the care of education day, Our Speci. I Reporter augmented by the reconstructed rulers of the South has hardly gone further than the organization of well-salaried superintendencies, but the impossibility of compulsory education in a country like this has much to do with it. In ancient Sparta and in modern Prussia (both unmitigated military despotisms) compulsory education, in the one case physical and in the other mental, succeeded, but the success was too clearly due to the despotism which annihilates individuality to be paralleled here. Mr. N. G. Parker at last comes out with a reply to the communication of Mr. Edwin J. Scott, chairman of a committee of the Tax-payers' Convention. Mr. Scott had proposed to examine that official's books. Mr. Parker throws himself upon his dignity, and declines to allow the examination. His reason therefor is that there is a mode of examination for his office provided by law, and to that examination alone he feels disposed to submit. Now, Mr. Parker must be well aware that his communication simply details facts already well known. But does he not know that it is because the official examinations are not regarded reliable, that the public would be pleased to have a report from Mr. Scott's committee? Petroleum, as a source of revenue, was unknown ten years ago. In 1870, it had grown to be so important an element of commerce that, at the average of twenty cents a gallon, home consumption and exported, its value amounted to more than $42,000,000. The total exports of petroleum in 1870 reached 141,208,155 gallons, or thirty per cent. greater than the quantity exported the previous year. In 1860 1,500,000 gallons were exported. The home consumption for 1870 was about 70,000,000. The yield of oil in the Pennsylvania oil region is increasing in quantity yearly, and the general trade in the article also increasing in

The Agent of Darby's prophylactic Fluid at Culloder, Ga., writes that a most surprising cure of Erysipelas was recently performed there by this admirable (preparation.

Debility and Emaciation

Both result from the lack of ability to convert the food into nutriment. How necessary, then, for those suffering from these alarming symptoms to immediately resort to a remedy that will strengthen the stomach and digestive organs. For, as soon as this desirable object has been accomplished the health improves, and the patient resumes his usual personal appearance. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have attained a world-wide popularity in such cases, and have been proven the best and safest means of removing constipation, toning the tomach, giving ene rgy to the liver, and reliev ing every symptom of nervousness and depression of spirits. Its cheering and beneficial effects are highly spoken of by thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health. No reit has been before the public, or has won the high endorsements accorded to this excellent tonic. Many other preparations, purperting to be correctives and restoratives, have been while the popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters continues to increase, and is now recognized as a standard household medicine.-The success which attends the use of the Bitters evinces at once its virtues in all cases of debility and disease of the stomach. Certificates, almost without number, have been published, attesting its truly miraculous power in removing those painful and fearful diseases. And at this time it seems idle to do more than call attention to the great remedy of the age, in order to awaken public attention to its excellence .--It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.

CONSUMPTION, Its Cure and Its Preventive, BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

M ANY a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and fiends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they caimly adopted

DR. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

SIMPLE TREATMENT, and availed themselves of his wonderful efficaci-ous medicines, they would not have fullen. Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his direction for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing esumptu-ous To the faith of the invalid is made no repesentation that is not a thousand times subresentation matts not a thousand times sub-stantiated by living and visible works. The Theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy re-quires no argument. It is self assuring, selfconvincing

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption orginale in dyspepsia and a func-ionally disordered liver With this condition the pronchial lubes "sympathize" with the stomach.

They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here thein comes the culminating result, and the settlig in, with all its distressing symptoms, of CONSUMPTION,

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts the Podophilum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-scarching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike colomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND," The work of cure is now beg ning. The vitiated & mucous deposit in the bowels and in the alimen-tary canal are ejected The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD. The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes printess, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach, An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet iven by an insulgent father to suffering man. chenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform s functions and to hasten and complete the cure. given by t enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impured and diseased portions of the lugs. In the form of be cheated. gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time the malady is vanquished the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the man-hood or the womanhood that was.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well, it is almost im-possible to prevent taking cold when the image are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure curnet be offered.

are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fail and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their langs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirit—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and morale ertainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stage of con-sumption; confined to my bed, and at one time physicians thought that I could not live a week, physicians thought that I could not live a week, then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which t now off r to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could teel them pentrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my longs, and I would spit up more than a pine of offensity yellow matter every more ing for a long time very morning for a long time

As soon as that began to subside my cough, lever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was wastes and decomposition that is continually pr much. I soon gained my strength, and have growing flesh ever since." ressing succeeds in arresting these wastes and repairs the same with material made from heat "I was weighed shortly after my recoverey" ad-ded the Doctor then looking like a mere skeleton my weight was only ninely-seven pounds my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds and for years I have enjoyed uninter rupted health. hy blood-and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain ; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite im-proving, and flesh and weight increasing. Dr. Schenck has discontinued, his professional Dr. Schenck has discontinued, his professirnal visits to New York and Boston. He or his son Dr. J. H. Wonder if 'he Commodore's garments smelt lile Easan's, that Jacob had stolen in o.der to rob his brother of his birthright?

The interviev cr seems to have come to the conclusion that the Commodore and Mrs. Victor'a C. Woodhull ("Blood will tell") had . ntered into a semi business and semi-political arrangement by which, if . he would support his claims for a renomination to his present lucrative position, he in return would lend his influence to throw the New York Legislature as a make-weight into the scale of her chances to be President Grant's successor.

We believe Theodore Tilton runs a sort of semicivilized Christian Journal; we have yet to learn that he ever did either cause any good, and if he only succeeds as well with the Victoria Lengue, as he has in advancing the cause of Civilization and Christianity, the question will never be asked again "Shall the next President of the United States Le a Woman."
