Mr. Luther Timmerman of the Red Oak Grove community is employed in building the cantonment in Columbia. He passed through Edgefield Monday enroute to Columbia, having spent Sunday at home with his family.

Mr. A. E. Padgett and Miss Gladys Padgett have returned from a two week's visit to Atlantic City. Miss Helen Tillman who accompanied them, remained over in Atlantic City for a further visit of two weeks with a school friend in that delightful resort.

Misses Emmie, Grace and Lila Lanham were in Edgefield on Saturday in their car. Miss Emmie Lanham is chairman from the Roper's section for the Woman's Council of Defense, and came over to consult Miss Elizabeth Rainsford in reference to the work.

Tuesday afternoon the Red Cross party met with Mrs. J. S. Byrd as hostess. This part of the membership of the U. D. C. is making money to purchase supplies for the army. Their next work will be the making of hospital shirts for the soldiers, according to the Red Cross pattern.

Dr. W. J. Langton writes to the Baptist Courier that Antioch, Rehoboth, Republican and Red Hill churches of Edgefield association, after due consideration in conference have decided unanimously to form a pastorate with Red Hill as a center. They agree to furnish the pastor a good home and pay him $1,300 a year. The salary is to be paid monthly. Mr. Langton says further, "The pastor who is fortunate enough to get this call will have a large opportunity for usefulness."

H. E. Quarles, Cold Springs, is the secretary of the joint committee.

How to be Happy Though Hot.

On nearly every farm and in nearly every country home is a great deal that can be done and ought to be done to increase human comfort in summer. Here are a few suggestions:

1. Work early and late but take a good rest and a nap in the middle of the day. This is the custom in nearly all countries to the south of us, and ought to be followed more generally by farmers in our section. The writer was talking recently with ex-President Taft, who emphasized this wise adaptation to conditions in the Philippines as one of the most striking features of life in those islands.
2. Screen the house to keep out flies and mosquitoes.
3. Provide comfortable hammocks, rocking chairs, and rustic seats for the porch and lawn. Hammocks and rocking chairs don't cost much, and after doing a hard day's work, the tired farmer and his wife are certainly entitled to the extra comfort these conveniences offer.
4. Give the boys Saturday afternoons off for baseball or the swimming pool, except when the work of crop cultivating is most pressing. Mr. Farmer should also have the same time "off" for attending his farmer's meetings and Mrs. Farmer for attending the meetings of her farm women's club. Arrange a picnic, too, after crops are laid by.
5. Have plenty of big, red, juicy watermelons together with an abundance of cantaloupes, grapes, figs, apples, pears and peaches. Then don't stop with eating these fruits raw or in pies, but get the good wife to learn the forty other ways of serving and cooking them, each one with a new and keen appeal to the hungry palate, the very sight of each producing what Charles Lamb calls "a premonitory moistening of the nether lip." (If you haven't provided these things this year, you can at least resolve now that you will not let another fall go by without planting abundant fruit trees nor another spring without planting a big enough melon patch.)

6. Keep a great variety of vegetables in the garden. Many farmers have plenty of vegetables in early summer, but a scarcity toward fall. Let's see if every Progressive Farmer reader this year can't have growing clean up to the last of October all the good things Mrs. Lindsay Patterson had growing up to that time last year—corn, peas, okra, lima beans, beets, turnips, cabbage, lettuce, radishes, snap beans, sweet and Irish potatoes, carrots, pumpkins, salsify, parsnips, tomatoes and onions.

Don't let a foolish fancy keep you from enjoying certain vegetables, but try a little while and you will learn to like all of them.—The Progressive Farmer.

They Shall Return.

They shall return when the wars are over,
When battles are memories dim and far;
Where guns now stand shall be corn and clover,
Flowers shall bloom where the blood-drops are.

They shall return with laughing faces,
Limbs that are lithe and hearts new-born;
Yea, we shall see them in old home-places,
Lovelier yet in the light of morn.

Dream not they die, tho their bodies perish;
Spirits like theirs, so free and brave,
Go on to conquer and vitally flourish
Spite of the sword and grasping grave.

They shall return when the wars are over,
When the battles are memories dim and far;
Where guns now stand shall be corn and clover,
Flowers shall bloom where the blood-drops are—
They shall return!
—J. Lewis Miligan.

Land For Sale.

The undersigned will sell 800 acres of land in Meriwether township, formerly the estate of M. O. Glover but now owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Glover. The land has two dwellings and 12 tenant houses on it. Every farm has separate pasture fenced with cattle and hog wire. More than 300 head of cattle can be pastured. One of the best stock farms in the State. The place has more timber than is needed for the farm and also has ample supply of cedar posts to keep up and build additional fences.

ENGINE BUILT LIKE A WATCH

Fast, Modern Airplane May Read!
Cost From $10,000 to $20,000 and Wears Out Quickly.

The engine of your motor car weighs from 500 to 1,200 pounds, or more. It will average from 20 to 30 horsepower at the lowest, says a writer in Collier's. The new airplane engines run less than three pounds per horsepower and the finest of them two pounds or less. Airplanes have been built with air-cooled engines for short-distance, fast scouting whose engines weigh less than a pound and three-quarters per horsepower. They must be quite literally, as an old advertisement used to say, "built like a watch."

At present a high-powered airplane engine of the best type—say 120 to 150 horsepower—cannot be purchased for much less than $3,000. And the whole airplane, a big one, may readily cost $10,000 to $20,000. You can readily see why the construction of only 15,000 airplanes, as in England's program, would easily equal, for a total expenditure for men and camps and hangars and repairs and wastage, more than half a billion dollars.

A fast modern airplane has an average life of only about two or three hundred hours of active service—say two months at the outside. This means that to keep 10,000 airplanes on a battle line you have to be able to build 5,000 per month or more. The cost would be almost unthinkable. That is why warfare in the air for any length of time would bankrupt the world. And that, in turn, is why warfare in the air means the end of all warfare.

SHIPS NEED OF AUSTRALIA

Grain of Little Value Without Transportation, as Little of It is Used at Home.

"Australia's food production this year will average normal; it is neither unusually heavy nor light, but there is going to be considerable difficulty in handling the crops, because there are no facilities for transportation," said H. W. Stephens, a merchant of Melbourne, who was visiting the United States. "The greatest need of Australia today is transportation. Until ship tonnage is provided it is almost useless for the farmers to complete their harvesting, as it requires only a small percentage of the crops to supply the domestic needs. Heretofore great quantities of grain have been shipped to England and it is still going overseas, but in not sufficient quantity, for England needs wheat now as never before. But without ships it is impossible for us to send our wheat abroad."

"The wheat crop of Australia was damaged to some extent by mice, and until the farmers learned how to combat this pest it threatened to become a serious menace. The farmers used poison, water, gas and other means, and finally got rid of them."

Pray at Old Shrine.

Fifteen years ago the supreme court of the United States evicted 300 Indians from their old home on Warner's ranch, in California. Some time later the Sequoia league induced President Roosevelt to name a commission to find a new tract for the Indians. This resulted in the government buying the Pala valley, where the Indians found homes much better than those they were evicted from. But Warner's ranch was the old domicile, where Father Ubach of San Diego held services once a year, at which time all marriages, baptisms and funerals were held. The present priest is Father George G. Doyle, and he has rehabilitated the chapel "for memory's sake." On a recent Sunday the old chapel was rededicated, and the Indians from the Pala valley were happy in praying at the old shrine.
