the bloody tyrant. But I say that if I am ever needed I will respond, for it is my greatest ambition to serve the people. Then I say to you Teutons and Teuton sympathizers, that if you believe on him ye shall have everlasting life of hell fire and comforts of pain; so prepare ye the way for your lord and father of the Fatherland."

I think most of us think that this reward is just for him. I would rather be a lowly French peasant and wear wooden shoes than to be that imperial impersonation of force and murder known as Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany. Yes, I would rather live in a mud hut with the grape vines growing over my door than to be that blood-thirsty tyrant of so called modern Germany.

Sometimes I fret because I am in this, but when I think what it is for, I say "no," now is the time or it will never come. If we neglect it now, we will face Germany later."

It would never do for a German army to touch our shore. Some say that is not possible. Well, if we do not put our shoulders to the wheel now a time may come when even the wheel would not turn with all the help that we can render. We have got to send a large army to meet the Germans on foreign territory.

Then you people at home have got to back the government by taking liberty bonds, raising more foodstuffs and by economizing. But of course when it comes to that I know Edgefield is doing her part, and is willing to do more. We have to let pleasures take care of themselves and help to take care of the government, because we are the ones that make the government.

So I can say the boys of Camp Jackson are doing fine, and are ready to go to the front, and if the dear people of old Edgefield want to know how to help us, is by helping the government as I have intimated, for it takes care of us, and by sending a good word of cheer, for if you are behind us we are more than for you. There is no use of worrying about the people of Edgefield, for you could tour the whole country and you would not find a more energetic, hospitable and loyal people than old Edgefield, as well as the whole state of South Carolina. I think I would rather live and die there in preference to any other on the globe.

If any one from Edgefield ever comes over to visit the camp, just call around to warehouse seven, the hardware warehouse of the camp, and I will take you over the camp, and also to the trenches, but I will not take you where the shrapnel flies. Furthermore, I guarantee a square meal.

Well, I think I had better close, because there is danger of carrying some things too far. So with wishes that this year may bring all a hundred fold, I close.

Yours truly,

N. D. T.

HOW FARMERS MAY GET FLOUR WITHOUT MEAL.

Food Administration's Plan for Those Who Have Their Own Corn Ground.

Columbia, Feb. 9.—The national food administration has given authority for a modification of the pound-for-pound law in order to give relief to the farmer in South Carolina who has his own corn ground locally. Much dissatisfaction has been caused among farmers, who felt that it was unreasonable to ask them to buy Northern or Western meal when they had their own home ground meal which they could use. There was no protest concerning reduction of consumption of flour, but simply that the farmer did not wish to buy meal from his store when he had better meal or grits at home.

Under the new rule the farmer can have his corn ground by a miller, who will give him a certificate. This certificate must be filed with the grocer by the farmer, whereupon he can buy an equal amount of flour, not in excess of half a barrel.

This plan was recommended by practically the unanimous vote of the county food administrators at their meeting in Columbia on the 4th instant, and has been advocated by a large number of prominent people having knowledge of conditions in South Carolina.

The national administration was by wire immediately consulted about it, and on Saturday gave its consent to the plan. For the information of county food administrators and food representatives over this State, millers and farmers, the following is a description of the procedure necessary for farmers to obtain flour upon a miller's certificate:

The farmer takes his corn to the

CONVINCED OF TANLAC BY AID GIVEN WIFE.

Husband Says She Added Fifteen Pounds on Four Bottles.

DOUBLE ENDORSEMENT.

Knew Tanlac Would Help Him Greatly When He Began It. And He Tells Details.

Cases in which two or more people in the same family have been so greatly benefited by Tanlac that they have offered a double endorsement of this famous master medicine are common. When you see a person relieved of suffering and mad strong again, it is the most natural thing in the world for you to want the same benefits. This is how Charles E. Whitmore, of 103 Bradford St., Albany, N. Y., happened to take Tanlac.

"My wife, who had been all run down and nervous, and getting weaker right along, began to take Tanlac," Mr. Whitmore explained. "Well, of course, I watched the results, and it was wonderful to see the way it built her up. On four bottles she gained fifteen pounds. I had been doubtful about Tanlac, but that settled me. When I started Tanlac I could hardly eat one good meal in a whole week. From suffering with a bad stomach I had become nervous and restless at night, and all run down. Instead of digesting, my food would just lie like lead on my stomach and sour and ferment and form gas. Because I had sour stomach—acid stomach—so long, my mouth had gotten sore. I could not sleep restfully, but would wake up every hour or two and would roll and toss. I was tired in the morning, and by mid-afternoon I was so tired out it seemed I couldn't get through the day. I had lost all ambition, and I did not care. Seeing what Tanlac had done for my wife encouraged me to take it, and I was not surprised when it began to brace me up right away. It did as much for me as it did for her. I slept right through the night, woke up rested, with a good appetite, and was able to enjoy my meals. My food digested, and the gas, bloating and sour stomach disappeared. I felt like a new man, and the old tired, worn-out feeling went with the rest of my troubles."

When Mr. Whitmore's stomach became weak, his system probably began to clog with waste matter. What he needed was a good system purifier, stomach tonic and reconstructive, and Tanlac did the work for him and he saw it do for his wife, and as it done for countless thousands.

mill and has it ground. He signs a certificate which the miller will have, stating number in his family or tenants for which he buys, the amount of flour he has on hand; and agreeing to use in his household equal weights of flour and substitutes. Thereupon the miller signs a certificate as to the number of pounds of meal ground. This certificate is then filed with the grocer, and thereupon the farmer can buy an equal weight of flour, but in no case in excess of one-half barrel.

This relieves the only difficulty that has been encountered in South Carolina.

There has been no objection whatsoever to the reduction in consumption of flour, and the farmer has been patriotically ready to reduce his consumption of flour, but he very naturally did not desire to buy more of what he already had an abundance in his home.

Blanks are being mailed to the county food administrators for distribution to millers. They were mailed yesterday afternoon. Millers should apply to the county administrator of his county for the blanks.

STORY A ROMANCE.

People With Stomach, Kidney, Blood, Rheumatic or Skin Affections Relieved.

Acid Iron Mineral (non-alcoholic, natural iron) is taken from a great deposit found upon a poor farmer's place near Hickory, Mississippi, and the story of this great gift of nature's, which made the farmer rich and the medical world richer, and makes it possible for people to quickly treat stomach, digestion, kidney, blood and rheumatic complaints at home, makes interesting reading.

An old man while digging a mill race on the Horn Farm, ran across it. He was afflicted with an old fever sore and blood troubles, which were considered incurable. During the several weeks digging his feet and legs were wet each day as water gathered, and he noticed that this water turned a reddish color, caused by mixing of water with the vein of peculiar looking mineral, almost like powder, which had apparently laid for centuries encased in a marble-like casing of rock and clay.

The sore on his leg began to heal, and by the time his work was completed his leg was sound and well. This was considered so very remarkable by the people of that section that an investigation was made, and it was found to be like radium, gold, platinum and other wondrous secrets of nature—a natural compound containing inimitable properties in proportions no chemist has attempted to duplicate, though a large sum was offered him who could accomplish this.

To-day, like radium, which is used in curing cancers, x-ray work, and illuminating watch dials so Acid Iron Mineral has its many uses being a remarkable remedy used externally or internally and any one troubled with blood diseases, eruptions, rheumatism, kidney, bladder or stomach disorders of any sort may wisely visit the nearest store and procure a bottle. A twelve-ounce bottle sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00 by the Ferrodine Chemical Corp., Roanoke, Va., or send stamped envelope with letter telling what your trouble is for folder telling more about this great iron preparation, Acid Iron Mineral.
