

Our Delegation in Congress.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Abbeville Banner, writing from Washington, Sept. 4th, speaks in the following terms of our Congressional Delegation:

"In the Senate, Judge Butler stands deservedly high. As a ready debater and acute reasoner and thorough lawyer he stands in the front rank. There could be no higher evidence of his intellectual ability than the single fact, that among all his peers, in that august body, he stands at the head of the Judiciary Committee, selected as its Chairman by the voice of the Senate, as being better fitted for its arduous and abstruse duties, than any of the many able Lawyers and Statesmen who compose the body.

—Of Mr. DeSaussure, I know nothing, on account of his recent appearance in the Congressional theatre. He brings with him, however, a reputation for great abilities, which I cannot but believe will make him a worthy and acceptable Statesman.

In the House of Representatives you are particularly fortunate in having an able and gentlemanly delegation, watchful of the rights, and devoted to the interests of their beloved South Carolina. I have not the pleasure of an acquaintance with Mr. Wallace or Mr. Colcock, but these gentlemen are very much respected for their talents, and amiability of manners to their associates.

Governor Aiken is a most perfect gentleman. He has endeared himself to a host of friends, including all the officers of the House, by his uniform kindness to them, whatever their grade, which is a sure mark of the true gentleman. He is what may be called a working member. As a member of the Committee on Commerce, he was a fit representative of the commercial City of Charleston, and his prompt attention to the wants and business of his constituency is worthy of all praise; in this respect others would do well, to make him their exemplar. He seldom troubles the House with speeches; indeed, I recollect of but one occasion in which he occupied the floor, and that was in a matter that directly concerned his own people, in repelling certain charges made by Mr. Durkee in his speech on Slavery. The occurrence is so fresh in the recollection of all that I shall not enlarge upon it. Suffice it to say that by his firmness, and at the same time, gentlemanly forbearance, he caused a retraction to be made.

Mr. Woodward, has the reputation of being one of the ablest lawyers on the floor of Congress. His recent able argument on the Wheeling Bridge case, is striking proof in favor of his general estimate of his legal ability. I may be pardoned for expressing the opinion, as a faithful Correspondent, that a mind peculiarly of a legal turn, is prone to objections, and that it once and awhile occurs that these objections, good in themselves, and irresistible in a judicial tribunal, are not always expedient or politic in the National Legislature. Mr. Woodward is an able and useful member of the Committee of Foreign Relations. He is a very close and logical reasoner, a ripe and thorough scholar, and I am sorry to know that he has expressed his intention of declining a further re-election to Congress.

With Gen. McQueen I have a very slight acquaintance, and therefore cannot venture to say much. He is a universal favorite with his brother members, and is cherished by the officers of the House for his acts of kindness to them, the justice of whose praise in his favor, and respect for his character and bearing, I have occasion to know, is well-merited.

I am deprived of the pleasure of knowing your Representative, Mr. Burt, on account of the long, the lengthened indisposition which constrained him to be absent from the Capitol for a considerable portion of the Session. He is considered as one of the ablest men in the delegation, and in Parliamentary law is thought to have no superior in either branch of Congress. As a Presiding Officer, I do not think he is surpassed in this or any other country. But it is a work of supererogation for me to speak of a gentleman who is so well known by those who read your excellent paper. It is much regretted that he has decided to quit Congress.

I turn now to notice one who is of the younger branch of American Statesmen. Col. Orr is not much over thirty years of age, but he has in his short and brilliant career in the councils of the Nation, marked his name upon the legislative history of the Country, in characters which cannot be easily effaced. His sun is but just risen, who knows but that when it shall have reached and passed its zenith, he may be the worthy warrior, in point of influence and ability, of the political mantle of the lamented Calhoun. His course hitherto, his acknowledged influence over the legislation of his Country, and his weight and quickness in debate—indicate him as fast gaining the goal of a honorable ambition—the service of his native State, with devotion, and the whole Country with honor. Col. Orr, at the same time that he protects with a brave hand the rights of his own constituents, and guards with sensitive devotion the position and honor of his own State, nevertheless, in my judgment, is national in his views, and looks to the peace and happiness of the whole Country. In point of personal influence and popularity he is second to nobody in the House, which has been clearly demonstrated several times during the present session, in his success in most of what he has undertaken to carry through. I love you best when it is tempered by wisdom. I like the confidence which youth and strength has in its own powers, and the generous confidence it begets in others, and I have seen no man in Congress, of late years, for whom, in my judgment, there is a better present, or brighter future than James L. Orr.

THE IMPENDING FALL OF THE TURKISH EMPIRE.—We have been favored by a Liverpool merchant with the following extract of a letter just received from a correspondent long resident in the Levant: "Constantinople has recently been the scene of very many extensive and destructive conflagrations—no less than eight in the same number of days—by which property to the amount of 450 millions of piastres is said to have been destroyed. The cause of these terrible fires, which entail ruin to thousands, is undoubtedly discontent at the mal-administration and extravagance of the government. A change in the ministry is announced, but by no means a satisfactory one, as it consists in men of the same opinions as those set aside; and it seems very questionable if some more serious means be not ere long resorted to by the suffering people. Surely those hitherto put in force can but tend to increase their misery and ruin. Ottoman rule is fast drawing to a close in Europe; and unfitted as they are to adopt the new order of things, it is high time they were set aside altogether. The question seems alone to be, who are to replace them in the possession of their splendid country? but this fear to their removal cannot much longer continue to prevail.—The Greeks, I fancy, will not be tolerated by civilized Europe, looking to their incapacity to govern, exemplified by a quarter of a century of flagrant mis-rule. Who then is to come? This is considered of little moment, seeing that a change can but be for the better; still European jealousies will be put in motion. Nous verrons.

"The French are pre-emptory, in their demand for immediate satisfaction on seven different subjects. With the Charlemagne screw liner on the Bosphorus to back them at Tripoli, the French Admiral La Susse, gave the Pascha short time to reflect; and had satisfaction, or threatened to bombard the place; and the French Admiral La Susse, is supposed to have proceeded to the Dardanelles. The present moment is a critical one for the Turks, and may embroil the political horizon of Europe.—Liverpool Journal.

OBITUARY. Departed this life on the 16th inst., Mrs. CHARLOTTE JONES, consort of Col. C. B. Jones, of Chester District, in the 23d year of her age, leaving a large circle of devoted friends, a fond husband, and helpless infant to mourn her loss.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. Yeas with the spirit, for they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

South Carolinian and Chester Standard please copy.

DIED on Sunday morning, the 26th instant, at his residence in this District, Mr. HENRY HUNTER, aged about 87 years. M.

AN OUNCE OF FACT, is worth a pound of theory; and the swarm of conclusive facts that cluster round that incomparable preparation, Hoodland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia, establishing its value as a tonic and restorative, are such as would prevent incredulity itself from questioning its efficacy. In all cases of diseases of the stomach, whether acute or chronic, it may be recommended for its soothing, cordial, and renovating influence. Dyspepsia, heartburn, loss of appetite, nausea, nervous tremors, relaxation, debility, &c. are relieved by the bitters in a very short space of time; and a perseverance in their use never fails to work a thorough cure. 32—2m.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER. Important to Dyspeptics.—Dr. J. S. Houghton's Pepsin, The True Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, prepared from Rennet or the Fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., Philadelphia. This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Liver Complaint, constipation and Debility, curing after Nature's own Method, by Nature's own Agent, the GASTRIC JUICE. Pamphlets, containing Scientific evidence of its value, furnished by Agents gratis. See notice among the medical advertisements. 1

LANCASTER DAGUERREAN HALL. J. B. COUSART. NOW informs the citizens of this place, and country generally, that he is now prepared for the purpose of giving those who may wish to do so, an opportunity of procuring perfect

LIKENESSES of themselves or their friends. The latest improvements are now in his possession. Ladies and gentlemen are respectfully solicited to call and examine his stock. PHOTOGRAPHS inserted in Lockets and Breastpins in the neatest style. Lancaster, Sept. 15, 1852. 32—1y

THE IMPORTED JACK MARRINGO. WILL stand the present season at Lancasterville, at his own stable, at ten dollars the insurance, (no colt no pay,) and twenty-five dollars to insure a Jenny. Any person trading or trafficking away the mare before it is ascertained whether she is with foal or not, forfeits the insurance. PEDIGREE: Marringo is a beautiful dark brown, 15 hands high, 5 years old; possessing beauty of frame, fine action, and muscular power unsurpassed by any Jack of the present day. He was imported from Spain about sixteen months ago, and was bought by John Brown of Liberty Hill, from the importer, about the time he was landed in Charleston. For the correctness of the above statement and further information, I would respectfully refer those wishing the same to the above named gentleman at Liberty Hill. The subscriber feeling an interest in the raising of fine mules in this part of the State, and having a full knowledge of the purity of his blood, offers the services of his Jack on the above low terms with the hope and expectation that the public will avail themselves of an opportunity for improving their stock, which has never before been offered. State of South Carolina. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. WHEREAS, information has been received at this Department, that an atrocious outrage was committed by a Negro fellow, on the person of a lady of a Negro District, on the 28th of July last, and that the said negro has made his escape. Now be it known that in order that the said negro fellow may be brought to trial, I, JOHN H. MEANS, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the State aforesaid, do issue this my Proclamation, offering a reward of Two Hundred Dollars for his delivery to the Jail of Anderson District.

The said Negro is a young fellow, not exceeding 30 or 32 years of age, five feet six or eight inches high, well built, of rather yellowish complexion, converges briskly and sensibly, was well dressed at the time with dark coat and pants, checked shirt, and wore a cap and slippers. He is a stranger in the neighborhood, and represented himself as a Black Mason from a distance, hunting work. He is believed by certain persons who saw him following by the name of PAT, or PATERSON, who was taken from Anderson District to Alabama some eight years ago, by one William N. Wyatt, who afterwards sold him to a trader near Columbus, Georgia. Given under my hand and the seal of the State, this 14th day of August, A. D. One Thousand Eight Hundred and Fifty-two. J. H. MEANS, [s.] BENJAMIN PERRY, Sec'y of State. Sept. 14th, 1852. 32 4t

Head Quarters. BUCK HEAD, 54th August 1852. THE BRIGADIER GENERALS are hereby required to make returns as directed by the Act of 1841, (see Section 18th.)
