 The Kind You Have Always Bought

—Mr. W. F. Brawer, of Kershaw, died of cancer of the liver, last Saturday night, 19th Nov. 1904, aged 55 years. Mr Brawer was a good man and citizen and was one of the largest land owners in this portion of the state, owning about 8,000 acres. A widow and nine children survive him.

Cauthen and Miss Florence Bell of this place, sisters of Mrs. Cauthen, went down Monday to attend the burial.

—On Saturday morning last, shortly after breakfast, ex-Sheriff L. M. Clyburn and his family became desperately ill, and but for the timely arrival of the family physician the results might have been serious. The family had partaken of sausage which had been kept in an air tight vessel for awhile and afterwards exposed to the atmosphere, and to this is attributed its poisonous effect. Three of the family, the sheriff's wife, his daughter Miss Mamie, and Mrs. Belk, his wife's mother, are still unable to be up, but are much improved and, we are glad to learn, out of danger.

One Negro Kills Another.

In the Primus section last Saturday night John Massey was shot in the forehead and instantly killed by John Blackmon. Both parties are colored. Blackmon was arrested and lodged in jail by Sheriff Hunter on Sunday. It seems that the negroes had traded pistols and that Massey became dissatisfied and demanded that Blackmon at least give him his cartridges back. Blackmon said he would get them in him if he fooled with him. They separated and an hour or so later in the night they met in the road when the shooting occurred. An inquest was held Sunday, the jury finding that Massey came to his death from a pistol shot wound inflicted by Blackmon.

A Hundred new Pupils at the Cotton Mill School.

At a meeting of the trustees Friday afternoon another teacher Miss Katherine Foster, was elected for the Cotton Mill school, which is a branch of the Graded school. The teacher force of the Mills School is now double what it was last year, the present number being four. The increase was made necessary by the notably larger attendance of pupils, which was brought about by house to house canvass in the mill village by the superintendent, Capt. Skipper, and the teachers. The authorities are doing everything in their power to induce their operatives to send their children to school. By their efforts, aided by the teachers, nearly one hundred new pupils have been enrolled during the past two weeks.

The school's greatest need now is a suitable building and steps will no doubt be taken to erect one. Col Springs, president of the mills, has generously offered to donate a site and to pay half the cost of a modern school house.—Lancaster correspondent News and courier.

Arbor Day in Lancaster.

Arbor Day was celebrated here in a beautiful manner last Friday by the Graded School. Supt. A. R. Banks proposed to the children to celebrate this day by planting trees on the campus of the splendid new school building. In accordance with request the boys of the higher grades brought from the forest six fine young willow-oaks which were planted in places selected on the school grounds, with due ceremonies at ten o'clock Friday morning. After planting the trees 400 school children and about 100 of our citizens assembled in the auditorium of the school building, where the Arbor Day exercises suggested by State Superintendent Martin were held. These consisted of a tree song by the first grade in charge of Miss Nora Hough, followed by recitations, declamations and beautiful songs by the other grades. The music was conducted by Miss Stewart, who is in charge of the music department of the school, and she deserves much credit for the manner in which the songs were executed.

Another feature of the occasion that deserves special mention was an essay on "The Trees of South Carolina—their Beauty, Kind and Value," by Mr. Dan Lancy. It was full of thought well expressed. The crowning event of this occasion was the splendid address delivered by Rev. W. G. Neville, D. D., President of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina. Dr. Neville's address was an eloquent plea for the preservation of our trees, and the necessity of planting more trees. He spoke of the beauty of trees, the comfort they afford us, and the utility given by them in adding health to our country and in various other ways. His recent trip to Europe gave him the opportunity of comparing the conditions of the forests there and here. He stated that the trees of Europe were small and not to be compared to our Kings of the Forest, the oak and pine. His appeal to the young to plant trees now for future generations was both eloquent and earnest. Dr. Neville made a fine impression upon the Lancaster people and the Lancaster schools made a fine impression upon him, for he complimented Supt. Banks and his able corps of teachers, on the excellent order of the pupils and the people in having a man in charge of their schools who had done already so much for education in the State, and was now so earnestly engaged in the good work. He was surprised to know that Lancaster had 500 or more white children in the Graded Schools, and congratulated them on having such a fine corps of teachers.

If the town will observe Arbor Day as enthusiastically as did the school and begin now the planting of trees it will not be long till it will be a City Beautiful.

The trees were named for Dr. Neville, and the five trustees, Col. Leroy Springs, President of the Board; Chas. T. Connors, Sec. and Treas.; and Messrs W. T. Gregory, W. J. Cunningham and T. S. Carter.

Prepared to do the Work.

I have put in a gasoline engine with which to run my sausage and bone mill, and am now better prepared than ever to serve the public with the best meat to be had. I have also attached to my engine a wood saw, and can saw and split your wood on very short notice, right in your own yard. Call me up—market phone 43, residence 56 2f S. T. Blackmon.

Tribute of Respect.

Many thanks to the friends who were so kind to us during the illness and death of my father, Mr. W. L. Bird, who died Nov. 5, 1904. Farewell father.
 Father, thou wast mild and lovely,
 Gentle as the summer breeze,
 Pleasant as the air of evening,
 When it floats among the trees.
 Peaceful be thy silent slumber.
 Peaceful in the grave so low;
 Thou no more wilt join our number;
 Thou no more our songs shalt know.
 Yet again we hope to meet thee,
 When the day of life is fled;
 Then in heaven with joy to greet thee
 Where no farewell tear is shed.
 Father, give joy or grief, give ease or pain,
 Take life or friends away,
 But let me find them all again
 In that eternal day.
 M. D. H.
