Probably Fatally Injured in a Runaway.

Mr Paul G McCorkle formerly of this place but now of Chester, was probably fatally injured in a runaway last Thursday afternoon.

The Chester correspondent of The State of yesterday gave the following account of the occurrence:

Chester, June 8.—A fearful, horrible, and possibly fatal accident occurred here this afternoon about 7 o'clock.

Mr. P. G. McCorkle was driving with his wife and little boy out near the park and his horse very suddenly became frightened and got beyond control. He ran from the street across the hills near the park and threw the occupants out of the buggy. Mrs McCorkle escaped with slight injury, but fearfully shocked; little Billie was unhurt, but Mr. McCorkle sustained several kicks in the face that the doctors think will prove fatal. He held the lines and the horse kicked him twice, the blows landing just under the left eye, breaking the eye lid and cheek bone, and directly in the mouth and nose. He is terribly mangled and at this hour is unconscious. Drs. Cox and McConnel are attending him and everything in their power will be done to save the patient.
