

Ghastly Find in Spartanburg.

Man Killed Friend and Didn't Know it Till Next Morning—Body Cold in the Yard.

Special to Greenville News.

Spartanburg, Sept. 2.—W. T. Glenn, an aged farmer living near Duncan's, was shot and killed by his neighbor H. P. Haddon last night. Haddon was arrested and lodged in jail tonight. The circumstances of the case are somewhat peculiar. The family of Mr. Glenn and the family of Mr. Haddon attended a protracted meeting at Wood's Chapel last night. On returning home, members of Mr. Haddon's family noticed some one peeping in at the window of the house.

Mr. Haddon was immediately notified. He went to the door with his pistol in hand and observed a man running across the yard from the window. He fired a shot from the pistol and returned inside. This morning he was astonished and aghast to find the dead body of his venerable friend and neighbor lying in his yard about 150 feet from the house.

The tragedy is most deplorable. The men were near neighbors, their lands adjoining, and there was no ill will between them. Glenn was a man in comfortable circumstances, being a practical and successful farmer. It is estimated that he was worth $20,000. Ten children survive him. Haddon is in jail tonight.

Looking to The Future.

Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal believes that in politics, as in other things, the country should prepare for war in time of peace, and he proceeds, therefore, to comment on the chances which the Democrats might have in the next presidential campaign. Mr. Watterson sent one of his newspaper commissioners to the middle West to feel the Democratic pulse. The result of these investigations are interesting, chiefly for the fact, that as much as we may have been inclined to doubt it, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan is not dead. The Courier-Journal's representative says that the issues uppermost in the Democratic mind of that section are the railway rate question, the trust question and the tariff question. Out there the people seem to have a vonderful regard for Mr. Roosevelt. They consider him the greatest statesman of the age, yet their admiration does not reach that point where they are willing to renounce the old faith and accept the new. From a careful survey of the situation the Courier-Journal says that Mr. Bryan is the most popular and accepted leader of his party and the sentiment turns to him as the next candidate for the nomination. There is an intimation, or we might say even a declaration, that Mr. Bryan will not aspire to that position for a third time. He prefers to be recognized as the power behind the throne. He wants to dictate the policy and he prefers to send some other man to the slaughter. And a slaughter is what it will be if we pin our hope to the men who have led us into the political wilderness on former occasions. Mr. Watterson leaves no room for doubt as to where he stands. He says that he will be a Democrat so long as there is breath in his body. He reminds the public of his service in former campaigns and he tells of his work in trying to save the party from the pitfalls of populism. He states without using argument—for the fact is self-evident—that with two Democratic parties against the Republican party, Democracy must go down in defeat. He believes that Bryan will be the leader. "It will, therefore, be up to him to say," remarks Mr. Watterson, "whether theoretical or practical shall be the word; whether we shall be dragged through new regions of experiment, or shall take the highway of the actual; whether we shall continue the folly of extracting sunbeams from cucumbers, or shall address ourselves to things immediate and tangible; in short, whether we shall fight a real instead of a sham battle, or still go mooning after the impossible."

Of course, we have three years in which to determine these things. But the Watterson idea is good; there is no sense in waiting until we are whipped again before we look to our guns. The East will never accept Bryan. There can be no fusion between Bryanism and Parkerism. We have lost all chance in times gone by because we clung to dead leaders. Three years hence may find us straggling and drifting, while the Republicans will present a solid phalanx. But somewhere in this broad land there might be found a statesman, so sane, so safe, so liberal in his views, and so strong that we would not be forced to admit the hopelessness of the cause while fighting under his banner. The Bryan coin has been tossed too often to offer hope for the future.—Greenville News.

Hanged for Killing wife and Seemed Very Happy.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 2.—J. W. Hammons was hanged in the county jail here today for the murder of his wife in this city April 29 last. The drop fell at 12:36, and life was extinct in nine minutes. Hammons made a brief statement, in which he expressed a willingness to pay the penalty his crime, saying that the Lord had forgiven him and he felt confident of being saved. Hammons was fifty years old; and a native of Stokes county, to which place the body will be sent for interment. It was turned over to his relatives.

Sunshine may be healthful, but the lazy man seems to flourish best in the shade. Many a man fails to appreciate his happy home because it is happy only during his absence.

SICKENING SHIVERING FITS of Augue and Malaria, can be relieved and cured with Electric Bitters. This is a pure, tonic medicine; of especial benefit in malaria, for it exerts a true curative influence on the disease, driving it entirely out of the system. It is much to be preferred to Quinine, having none of this drug's bad after-effects. E. S. Muaday, of Henrietta, Tex., writes: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice, till he took Electric Bitters, which saved his life. At Crawford Bros., J. F. Mackey & Co. and Funderburk Pharmacy drug stores; price 50c, guaranteed."

Landrum Snaps At The Governor.

Much Surprised at Heyward's "Milk and Water Policy"—Roasts Liquor People.

Special to Greenville News.

Spartanburg, Sept. 1.—The following is a copy of a letter written to the Governor by B. G. Landrum tonight:

"In reply to yours of August 31st, in which you state that you have no authority to accept my resignation as chairman of the county board of control, and in which you further suggest that the resignation be sent to the State board of control, I beg to say that I received my commission duly signed and sealed from you, and I recognize no one but you in tendering my resignation.

"Why your view of the matter doesn't warrant you in accepting a resignation of a commission which you as the executive have power to issue or to revoke, is a proposition that is too puzzling for me.

"I do not consider the State board worthy of passing on the matter, besides not one of the member's names appears on the commission, and to you alone I have directed my letter. If you do not accept the resignation the matter stands as it is. I will have nothing whatever to do with the county or State board in any shape, form or fashion hereafter."

"I feel that I have done my entire duty and I must confess a surprise at the milk and water policy you seem to have adopted in a matter in which the people of the largest white voting county in the State are so vitally interested."—B. G. Landrum."

What Japan Has Won.

But it was not a fruitless victory for Japan. The New York American sets down the things which were won by force of arms, and as it well says, the two prizes at the head, will be found the most valuable, even though they are not likely to be mentioned in treaty or protocol. Here is the list:

I. Place among the great Powers when greatness is reckoned according to military and naval prowess.

II. Place among the great Powers when greatness is reckoned, as it should be, according to the civilized instinct for peace and industrial development.

III. The better half of the Island of Sakhalin—the more fertile part, and the part which controls the only strait by which vessels from Vladivostok can enter the Pacific.

IV. Port Arthur, Russia's only ice-free harbor, with all its fortifications and public buildings.

V. Dalny, the Czar's great city, built to order at the cost of uncounted millions; a city of monumental granite buildings, the potential Hong Kong of Northern Asia.

VI. Recognition of Japan's "preponderating influence" in Korea, which practically means Korea shall be a Japanese province, opening a place for the surplus population of the Chrysanthemum Isles.

VII. Russian evacuation of Manchuria really the one thing for which Japan went to war. It will leave Manchuria to the Chinese, Japan will yet be—if it is not now—the strongest influence in China.

VIII. The railroad between Port Arthur, Dalny and Harbin.

IX. The complete cession to Japan of the entire Liaotang peninsula.

X. Fishing rights along the Siberian coast. Surely, it would seem that Japan had not fought in vain, for there are some things which are even greater than indemnity. And the greatest of these is peace.—Greenville News.

A Yorkville Desperado.

Salisbury, N. C., Sept. 3.—Zeke Young, a negro, was shot and killed and another negro dangerously injured here this afternoon by Whitman Hardy, a mulatto desperado from Yorkville, S. C. The shooting appears to have been without provocation. Hardy himself was slightly wounded while attempting to escape. He was arrested and is now in jail here. The murderer is wanted by the South Carolina authorities for shooting two white men.

Hester's Report of Cotton Crop.

New Orleans, Sept. 1.—Secretary Hester of the cotton exchange has made public the following leading totals from his annual report, showing the cotton crop of the past season.

Receipts of new cotton handled at southern outports to close of August, 1905:

New Orleans, 596 bales; Galveston, 45,862; Mobile, 934; Savannah, 24,483; Charleston, 925; Wilmington, 469; Norfolk, 160; Baltimore, —; New York, — Newport News—

Total new cotton growth, 1905-06, marketed in July and August this year, 75,429; new cotton marketed July and August last year, 79,429 bales.

American cotton crop for two years, year ending close of August: Receipts of cotton at all United States ports for the year, 1,139,782, against 7,252,222, last year; overland to northern mills and Canada, 1,128,183, against 939,943 last year; southern consumption taken direct from the interior of the cotton belt, 2,117,920, against 1,819,209, making the cotton crop of the United States for 1904-05 13,565,885, against 10,011,374 last year.

Total crops 1904-05, 13,565,885; 1903-04, 10,011,374.

Secretary Hester makes the actual growth of cotton of 1904-05 (in thousands of bales): Commercial crop of 1904-05; less old crop of 1903-04, 200; total 13,366, plus growth of this year marketed in July and August, 1904, 80.

Grown not marketed, 1903-04, 322,402; total, 13,768.

Deduct July and August receipts of new cotton growth of 1905-06, 75.

Actual growth crop of 1904-05, per United States census bureau, 13,693,000.

USED FOR PNEUMONIA.

Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., says, "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case. Refuse substitutes. Sold by Funderburk Pharmacy C. O. Floyd Kershaw, S. C."

Yellow Fever In Atlanta, Georgia.

One Case Develops There in Sick Man from Pensacola—Can't Spread, is Belief.

Atlanta, Sept. 2.—John C. Carruthers, arrived in Atlanta Thursday night from Pensacola and developed a case which was diagnosed as yellow fever here today. He was taken to the detention hospital three miles outside of the city, where every precaution is being taken. Carruthers was examined by health officials soon after he arrived, and coming from an infected point, was closely observed. He was taken to the hospital Friday and the case was pronounced yellow fever this morning.

Carruthers lived within one block of the original cases of fever in Pensacola, and when he learned the nature of the disease there he left, coming to Atlanta.

No fear is expressed, as it has been demonstrated in previous seasons that yellow fever cannot spread in Atlanta.

Peppered The Bridegroom.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 3.—John Kinker was shot and painfully wounded in the left shoulder with a shotgun by W. L. Mason, at Lacrosse, Va., this afternoon. He went to Mason's to be married to Miss Lula A. Harris, who was living at Mason's. It is said Mason had notified Kinker that he would kill him if he came on to his yard. On Kinker entering the yard, Mason fired on him twice, as above stated. Kinker was subsequently married to Miss Harris and is doing well. Mason is under arrest.

Many Convictions in Saluda.

Saluda, Sept. 2.—Eleven convictions, one acquittal and one mistrial. Such as the record of the sessions court just ended here. Of the parties convicted several pleaded guilty.

The fines paid for this term of court amount to nearly $600.

The grand jury presentment was after the usual order, except that cognizance was taken of a case settled before Magistrate Etheredge in which Pope McCarthy, white, and Jim Bell, colored, shot each other some weeks ago while gambling. The proper officials were requested to investigate this matter and an order was passed requiring the magistrate to show cause why the case was settled.

Nothing makes a woman with a new hat so angry as to have other women pass her without looking at it.

Courtship has been compared to strawberries smothered with ice cream, and marriage to a beef steak smothered with onions.

A NEW JERSEY EDITOR'S TESTIMONIAL.

M. T. Lynch, Editor of the Phillipsburg, N. J., Daily post writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I cannot say too much in praise of it." Sold By Funderburk Pharmacy, C. O. Floyd, Kershaw S. C.

A barking dog occasionally bites the dust.

1,000 Bales of Cotton Burned.

Johnston, S. C., Sept. 3.—The Johnston warehouse at this place was consumed by fire at 12:30 o'clock last night. It contained about one thousand bales of cotton valued at $60,000. Building and content were fully insured. D. T. Outsee is reported as seriously burned. There is no clue to the origin of the fire.

Negroes Win Suit Against Landlord Who Failed to Hold for Ten Cents.

Specials to The State. Greenville, Aug. 31.—A case of unusual interest was decided by Magistrate Stradley late yesterday afternoon. A damage suit was brought by two negro tenants against J. G. McCarter, who the complainants alleged, had violated his agreement with them to hold their cotton for 10 cents.

Eight bales of the staple were involved in the suit and Magistrate Stradley decided against McCarter who will pay his tenants the difference between 7 1-2 cents for which the cotton was sold, and 10 cents, for which it is alleged he promised to hold it.

A mule by any other name would kick just as hard.

Many a poor fisherman gets tangled up in a string of lies.

It's a poor architect who is unable to draw his own conclusions.

Wise is the man who is able to shut up when he has said his say.

It isn't necessarily the most cheerful man who "smiles" oftenest.

A GRIM TRAGEDY

is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds which cured her, and to-day she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Crawford Bros., J. F. Mackey & Co. Funderburk Pharmacy, druggists. Trial bottle free.

Some friends are ungrateful and all are more or less unremunerative.

Beauty is but skin deep—and most people are awfully thin-skinned.

A widow's effort to get married is usually more strenuous than her maiden effort.

MAKES THE LIVER LIVELY.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup gives permanent relief in cases of habitual constipation as it stimulates the liver and restores the natural action of the bowels without irritating these organs like pills or ordinary cathartics. Does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Remember the name Orino and refuse substitutes.

Funderburk Pharmacy, C. O. Floyd, Kershaw, S. C.

You would never know how bright some children are if their parents didn't tell you.

Avoid serious results of kidney or bladder disorder by taking Foley's Kidney Cure.

Funderburk Pharmacy, C. O. Floyd, Kershaw, S. C.