FIRST PRIMARY OVER.

The first primary election is over and we hope that peace reigns everywhere. Of course, with the majority, it is the peace of Warsaw, but in these times if every Democrat cannot live for himself, let him live for the common good. In looking over the list that shows the result of the elecpresented themselves for the suffrages of their people. Every one showed a most respectable popular following. Gentlemen, bide your time. Likely this time may be the most triumphant in the next election. While we can but sympathize with the defeated, we at the same time congratulate the people on the selections that have so far been made. All good men, and every good man should lend his best efforts to secure their election.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN.

The Democratic campaign has opened in good earnest. The ratification meeting in Columbia was a grand send-off. Since then the good work has been going bravely on. Anderson, Oconee, Pickens, Greenville and Spartanburg have spoken in the bloody garment. The excitement attendant upon elections is deplored by many as a great evil, but it is nevertheless highly important that the Democrats in South Carolina should indulge very largely in said evil. We should warm up, become enthusiastic and let consequences take care of themselves. We do not think that ter to run the risk of dying of exciteifiers in the physical world and are 760,161 bales. equally so in the political. We have immediate evils from both, but the result in either is good. Let Democrats remember that coldness and apathy will not pay now. The State Executive Committee has mapped out the field for us and we should stand ready to respond whenever the call is made Even were it not at all necessary or important, so far as the chances of success in this election require, to get up an arousal, we should show our love for the great Democratic cause Sam Lee for Congress from the First disguise, as it is actively co-operating by grand demonstrations. Progress of the Campaign.

Over 6,000 persons turned out at the Anderson meeting to hear Senator Bayard speak on Thursday last. Fifteen hundred mounted red shirts turned out to welcome him, and he was enthusiastically received. Bayard made a stirring speech, which won the affections of the people, and he was greeted during its delivery with frequent outbursts of applause. He arraigned the Republican party for its many unconstitutional and sectional measures, denouncing its insincerity, hypocrisy and corruption. The Senator paid a glowing tribute to Hancock. Gens. M. C. Butler, J. D. Kennedy, Johnson Hagood and Hon. D. Wyatt Aiken also spoke.

The meeting was very harmonious. The negroes in large numbers attended the speaking.

The people of Oconee followed in the footsteps of their sister county, and held a rousing meeting at Wal-halla on the 10th. There were twen-ty-one mounted clubs in line, numbering one thousand, one hundred and forty-four Red Shirts. Three thousand people were present at the Addresses were delivered by Gen. Hagood, Senator Butler, Gen. Kennedy, Congressman Aiken, Col. J. S. Cothran and J. Scott Murray, Esq., the Democratic Presidential Elector from this district. There was marked enthusiasm and close attention to the speakers. Oconee promises to give Hancock and English two thousand majority. Everything was quiet and orderly.

An enthusiastic crowd of several thousand red shirts flowed into Greenville on Monday. Among them were many colored Democrats. The meeting was presided over by ex-Gov. B F. Perry, who made the opening speech. He was followed by General Hagood, Senator Butler, Maj. Hugh S. Thompson, General J. D. Kennedy and Congressman J. H. Evins.

Reuben Bright, a Columbia huckster, was arrested on the 9th instant, for beating a colored Democrat. A warrant was also issued for Spencer Lee, for aiding and abetting Reuben Bright. These intimidators will stand their trial under an act passed by a Republican Legislature. The pun-ishment for this offence is imprisonment for from six months to three years, or a fine of from $100 to $2,-000, or both, at the discretion of the court, and the offender shall be ineli gible to hold any office. To the Colored Voters_

We propose to say a few words to you in all earnestness, and with an eye single to your interest. You are clothed with as high prerogatives as any citizen of this great country, viz: the right to vote, and have a choice in choosing your rulers. It is no meaningless privilege, but the highest which can be bestowed upon you. For four years you have lived under Democratic rule in South Carolina, and for two years in this county all of its officials have been Democratic. What has been the consequence? Taxes are lower by nearly fifty per cent; honesty has marked public officials; schools are kept open longer with more children in attendance, and the white people who represent threefourths of the property holders have cheerfully paid an annual levy of two wills to raise school funds; crime has decreased; peace reigns supreme and a better feeling has existed between the races. You are getting along better and are more prosperous now than you have been since you were freed. What do you care for politics beyond voting for men of character and fairness, who will see that your rights are protected? You wish to better your fortunes still more and have your children after you to do even better than you are doing. You wish to live in peace with your white friends and attend to your own business. Can you do these things if you stir once more the muddy waters of Radicalism and follow blindly the leaders who formerly led you and whose only regard for you is based on their using you for their own sel-A young man named Caywood, 18 fish venal purposes?
