ASTONISHING CURES SEEM MIRACULOUS.

Persons Who Were Helpless From Disease Rise Up Almost as if by a Miracle After Using Strange, New Liquid

Many Southern People Among those Who Report the Most Astonishing Results.

A news message from Fort Wayne, Ind., says that city is now in a turmoil over many astonishing cures that are being effected by the strange new liquid, Root Juice, which has been creating a sensation in Atlanta for the past few weeks.

Mrs. J. Schondell, who lives at 210 Madison street, Fort Wayne, had suffered for years with rheumatism which became so bad that she was helpless. She had tried doctors and patent medicines without results and had about given up hope when the wonderful power of the famous Root Juice treatment became known.

The startling story of her recovery is best told in her own words, taken from a signed statement which she recently gave out. Regarding her case Mrs. Schondell says: "I was unable to move and had to be carried from one place to another. After trying doctors and medicines without success, I began using the Root Juice and can say that when I had taken two bottles I was able to walk without assistance, and am now once more taking care of my household duties. The medicine saved my life."

Atlanta people continue to report many strange and wonderful benefits that are following the use of the new Root Juice medicine in that city.

Persons who suffered from indigestion, loss of appetite, pains, belching, bloating and distress after eating, constipation, biliousness and headaches say that a few doses correct the trouble. The appetite increases and the stomach seems to digest anything.

Andrew Barney, residing at 624 Decatur street, who has been a sufferer from stomach, liver and kidney trouble for over two years, in a statement issued for publication, said: "I suffered dreadfully from indigestion, belching, headaches and pains in the small of my back. At times I had no appetite and at other times I could not sleep. I was nervous, irritable and worrisome and felt all run-down. I used the new Root Juice medicine only two weeks, but already feel a great deal better. My indigestion is nearly gone, I can eat almost anything, and for the first time in two years I sleep fine. Before taking this Root Juice treatment I tried six different medicines and four doctors."

The medicine seems to possess strange power in relieving disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys and many sufferers from these maladies have reported complete cures. In view of the wonderful benefits being derived from its use by persons in other places it would seem advisable for all home people who seek health to at least give it a thorough test.

IN MEMORIAM.

(Presbyterian Standard, Feb. 21.)
John S. Verner died at Columbia, S. C., February 13, 1912, in the 63d year of his age.

These words have brought sorrow to a wide circle of friends, and record the close of the life of a man notable for lofty ambition, unflinching energy, unflinching devotion as husband and father, and irreproachable conduct in all affairs of Church and State.

Mr. Verner was born at Retreat, Oconee county, South Carolina, May 14, 1849, of that sturdy Scotch-Irish stock that had borne itself so nobly in the annals of our country. His father was Ebenezer Pettigrew Verner, of Greenville, S. C. He was the third of the twelve children that played over the wide fields and rich pastures of their childhood's home.

He received his primary education at the private school of Rev. J. J. Kennedy, and was graduated at Davidson College with the class of 1870, but so great was his love of books, so wide his interest in human life, that it may truly be said of him, "he died learning."

After his marriage to Miss Mary C. Phillips, eldest daughter of Dr. Chas. Phillips, at Davidson, January 14, 1873, he settled upon the plantation of "Coneross," in Oconee county, but after a few years moved to Walhalla, where he read law with Col. W. C. Keith, one of the ablest lawyers of the State, and became a partner in the law firm of Keith & Verner.

The stormy politics of the times attracted his eager attention; he was an active participant in the "Red Shirt" campaign of 1875, a member of Gen. Wade Hampton's staff, and the famous Legislature that freed his State from the infamy of negro domination; for thirty-seven consecutive years he held honorable political positions, serving his fellow-men judiciously, satisfactorily and with unspotted reputation. His mind was pre-eminently legal, clear, shrewd, accurate, and as a speaker he was fluent and forcible.

In early manhood Mr. Verner connected himself with the church of his fathers, and delighted in her service, taking up the duties of deacon, Sunday school superintendent, and elder, as these offices were urged upon him, and filling them with intelligent activity. He loved the open Word, the majestic hymns of the early writers, the prayers of the saints of God.

Of a genial disposition and large-hearted hospitality, he knew no greater pleasure than to gather about him a group of congenial friends, and was easily first among equals in flow of conversation, quick repartee and wealth of anecdote that enlivened, but never soiled, the stream of friendly converse.

Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Verner, one of whom died in infancy. It was to give his children the best advantages within his reach that Mr. Verner moved to Columbia in 1884, and it was the melancholy death of his son William, a young man of brilliant promise, in 1905, that wounded beyond cure his tender, loving heart and made him an easy prey to the pneumonia that resulted in a fatal, but lingering disease of the heart. Five years he battled bravely, with more than mortal courage against disease, going down again and again to the brink of death only to struggle back to life, hoping against hope.

"Great heart, high mind and noble soul,

Farewell until we come to thee!
Rich was thy journey to the goal,
Rich thy reward and state shall be."

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 17, 1912.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

MAYFIELD JUDGMENT $3,873.08.

The Defendant in Case is Now Out on $5,000 Bond.

(Greenville Piedmont, 8th.)
Master in Equity J. W. Gray, to whose court was referred the case of R. G. Stone, as administrator, with the will annexed, et al., against W. D. Mayfield, defendant, has filed his report in the office of the Clerk of Court. The Master found judgment against the defendant to the amount of $3,873.08.

In connection with this matter it will be remembered that a case alleging breach of trust was brought against W. D. Mayfield some time last fall. The plaintiff alleged that W. D. Mayfield, as administrator of the estate of John Bannister, deceased, when he left the State to make his home in Texas, took with him funds belonging to the estate and failed to make account to the Probate Judge of said funds. The preliminary hearing was had before Magistrate Stradley. The Magistrate threw the case out of the court on the ground that the defendant, before he left for Texas, had made his return to Probate Judge John C. Bailey and received a receipt showing that he, as administrator of the estate, had paid out in cash considerable more funds than he had received.

A suit was also brought in the civil court and the matter was referred to Master in Equity J. W. Gray.
Mr. Mayfield is now out on a bond of $5,000.
