SYNOD ENJOYED BY SENECA.

Packing Christmas Bags for Soldiers and Sailors—Mrs. Phillips Dead.

Seneca, Nov. 12.—Special: If there are women in the country who would like to do Red Cross work, and who cannot spare the time to work in the rooms, they could call at headquarters any time they are in town on the days when the rooms are open. View the garments and take sewing home with them. We are sure there are many in the country whose hearts are in this great cause, but who cannot stay at headquarters and sew. For a fact, few of the Seneca women sew there; the cutting is done there and garments distributed, with minute directions for making. The days and hours for opening the rooms are posted on the door, and if it should happen that these dates should conflict with the date of a visit to town and the ladies should wish to go to the rooms, Mrs. W. J. Lunney or Mrs. Lillie Tribble will be glad to go with them and give out garments to make.

The ladies of the town are meeting Tuesday afternoon to pack the Christmas bags for the Oconee boys in France or in the navy. There are about 20 in number.

The meeting of synod last week was a delightful occasion for Seneca people, as hosts, and they enjoyed meeting former friends among the visitors and making new ones from the representative gathering of Presbyterians throughout the State. Conspicuous among the addresses made were those by Rev. Drs. Green and White on the reformation, which historic date was celebrated on Wednesday, the first day of synod. Dr. Morris' address on "The Four Causes" was a masterly address, combining the four divisions of this great work of the assembly in one effort. Rev. M. R. Kirkpatrick was elected moderator, a distinct honor, which he bore ably and impartially.

There was a large attendance, and at the evening sessions the church was taxed to seat the audience. An automobile ride to Clemson College Thursday afternoon was a delightful feature of entertainment, and a short program was arranged by the college officials for the pleasure of the guests.

Seneca did herself proud in caring for the visitors. A number of homes in the country were opened to them also, and the social feature of the gathering was greatly accentuated thereby.

John Edwards and Francis Adams, of Camp Wadsworth and Jackson, spent Sunday with their homefolks.

On Sunday a mass meeting of all the congregations was held in the Presbyterian church when the week's Y. M. C. A. campaign was inaugurated. A fine address was given by a young Episcopal minister from England, now Y. M. C. A. secretary at Camp Sevier, and short talks were made by Rev. I. E. Wallace and Francis Adams. A canvass is being made this week in the interest of this splendid branch of war work, and Seneca will doubtless meet her apportionment as she has hitherto met the calls made upon her.

Hugh Macaulay, of Wallhalla, is working in the Seneca Bank.

Next week will be observed by the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church as Home Mission week. Interesting programs will be arranged and the members are notified of the change of the regular meeting from this to next Monday.

Two bazaars will be given in Seneca in December. The Methodist ladies will hold theirs the 1st and the Presbyterians the 7th. Both will be held in the dining room of the Columbia apartments.

Mrs. Margaret Phillips died at her home here last Wednesday, after an illness of several weeks, following a stroke of paralysis. The remains were interred at Friendship church after funeral services conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. S. Corpening. Mrs. Phillips possessed many Christian virtues, gentleness, kindness, love and a marked devotion to her children. She was a staunch member of the Baptist church and lived her religion through a long, useful life. She leaves two children, Miss Hattie Phillips and Mrs. Ernest Cochran, and a brother, J. G. Harper, and sister, Mrs. Jack Hopkins, and a large number of nieces and nephews, who mourn her death.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Jones are happy to know that they will move to Seneca in the near future and will make this their home. The Christian Endeavor Society will have a social meeting on Friday night at the manse.

Among the visitors to synod last week were three former pastors of the Seneca church—Revs. J. A. Wilson, W. S. Hamiter and M. R. Kirkpatrick—all of whom received a cordial welcome, and are still greatly beloved by their friends here.

Mrs. C. G. Strong, of Wallhalla, spent Thursday afternoon in Seneca on her way home from Greensboro, N. C., where she had visited her daughter, Miss Cora Strong.
