LOCAL NEWS FROM SENECA.

Parents and Teachers Co-Operating. Tribute to Mrs. Coleman.

Seneca, April 12.—Special: Mrs. L. D. Wylie left for her home in Fayetteville, N. C., Tuesday, after a very pleasant visit of two weeks to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Reid.

The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Nield and daughter, Miss Alice, of Washington, D. C., are delighted to meet them again on a return visit to Seneca, their former home. They will spend a week or longer with Mrs. W. L. Verner and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Holman spent Sunday in Greenville with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sitton.

Mrs. Claude Hopkins and Miss Mildred Heller represented the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church at the State C. E. Convention, which was in session in Columbia Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. F. Alexander will be hostess to the D. A. R. chapter at the April meeting on Tuesday, the 19th, at 4 o'clock. The program will consist of a paper by Mrs. W. P. Davis, on the subject of "Revolutionary graves in our vicinity," which will be followed by a general discussion on "Tamassee School." The leader will be Mrs. E. A. Hines.

The Parent-Teachers' Association, which meets monthly, is growing in interest and enthusiasm, and much good is being accomplished by the parents and teachers being brought together in closer relation for a mutual cause. The April meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium, with Rev. J. W. Willis, president, in the chair. After the business was disposed of a splendid paper was given by Mrs. C. N. Gignilliat on the subject, "What a Community Owe a School." Twelve little girls of the second grade gave the "Snow Flake" dance, which was beautifully given, and not only did it reflect credit on their teacher, Miss Clyde Smith, but also on the children. The program was interspersed with two piano solos by Misses Sara Thomson and Annie Carey.

Mrs. E. A. Hines, former president of the Once-a-Week Club, presented a memorial to the late Mrs. M. W. Coleman, the first president of the State Federation, at the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which met in Columbia Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. She also received the memorial wreath from the Federation, and the local club will go to the cemetery in a body to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon and place the wreath on the grave of Mrs. Coleman. The memorial referred is published below:

Memorial to Mrs. Coleman. Ludie Merriman Coleman was the third child and second daughter of Louis D. and Louisa J. Merriman, and was born June 15th, 1851, at Greenwood, S. C. She received her education from the village school.

In March, 1872, she was married to Matthew Willis Coleman, then living in Walhalla, S. C. Mr. Coleman was originally from Edgefield county, this State. When Seneca became a station on the main line of the Southern Railway they moved there, where they became public-spirited citizens, bending all energy toward making the small hamlet into a town.

Mrs. Coleman possessed an unusual degree of untiring energy and will power, and her accomplishments along civic lines were wonderful. Even at this early period she was a firm believer in the advancement of woman. It was mainly through her inspiration along this line that the Once-a-Week Club was called together, and later that that club, with her leadership, called the convention in June, 1898, which resulted in the formation of this magnificent organization, standing ready to honor her, and of which she was the first president. She was a charter member of the Andrew Pickens Chapter, D. A. R., and the Industrial school at Tamassee was one of her long-cherished ideas. She was always greatly interested in the education of the young people of the mountains. The aged and the poor of that section were often grateful for her bounty.

Through her influence and generosity the Once-a-Week Club was enabled for years to keep traveling libraries circulating through Oconee and several other counties.

She was a writer of some note, having produced an attractive book, and a number of short stories were printed by notable magazines.

Personally Mrs. Coleman was very beautiful, retaining her charm of form and feature until quite late in life.

She died as she had often wished her passing to occur—here to-day, in the abundance of usefulness, to-morrow gone into the Great Beyond.

Some years ago the Once-a-Week Club lost its first member by death. Mrs. Coleman asked me to present the club memorial at that time, and in doing so I used a few unprinted lines I had by me, which pleased her. Only a few weeks before she was taken away she asked me for a copy of the verses, and so, because she loved them, and because they are as true of her as of that other friend and co-worker, I am adding them to this tribute—

"Tread softly round her where she's sleeping peacefully;

T. U. VAUGHN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Ends Life in Florida—Made No Confession—Slashed Throat.

Tampa, Fla., April 8.—Thurston U. Vaughn, arrested here a few days ago for the authorities at Columbia, S. C., committed suicide in the murderer's cell at the Hillsborough county jail here to-night. He slashed his throat with a razor, almost severing his head from his body.

This successful effort at suicide by Vaughn was the fourth attempt since his arrest Monday at Port Tampa City, where he was assistant principal in a public school, and going under the name of T. A. Earl. The man had not admitted that he was Vaughn, but his wife is alleged to have stated to officers here, after the arrest, that her husband was Thurston Vaughn.

Vaughn was former superintendent of the Odd Fellows' State Orphanage at Greenville, S. C. In 1912 he was convicted of the charge of assaulting four young girl inmates of the orphanage. He was sentenced to die Dec. 20, 1912, but before that date apparently became insane and was committed to the State Insane Asylum for observation. He remained there until his escape, Sept. 15, 1919. The woman who was with him is said to have been a nurse in the asylum. They came here several months ago and were married in this city.

Apparently Sane.

The razor with which the man committed suicide, the sheriff explained to-night, is one which is furnished the prisoners to shave themselves with. The jailer apparently neglected to take it up this evening, and while the other prisoners were conversing Vaughn snatched it up and quickly slashed his throat.

From his arrest until late yesterday Vaughn, apparently insane, was kept in a straight jacket. Yesterday he became rational and was placed in the prisoners' cell.

At the time of his arrest, before being taken from his home, he excused himself for a moment, telling the officers he wished to speak to a friend in the next room, and, going into the room, tried to cut his throat with a knife. Later in his cell at the asylum twice thrust his head into a bowl of water and attempted to drown himself.

Mrs. Vaughn, who has been paroled in the custody of friends, was placed under arrest again to-night for safe-keeping, the officers explaining that they feared a suicide pact, as, when she bade him good-bye at the jail Tuesday, she remarked: "We will meet again in heaven."

FORMER EMPRESS OF GERMANY

Passes Away—Death Came One Year After First Stroke Heart Trouble.

Doorn, Holland, April 11.—Former Empress Augusta Victoria, of Germany, died here at 6 o'clock this morning. By a strange coincidence the end came just one year after she suffered her first attack of heart disease.

It was while she was preparing to enter the house of Doorn, the present home of the former emperor of Germany, after her long residence at Amerongen, that she was stricken with what at the time was believed to be a fatal attack, that on April 11, 1920, for a few days there were reports that her death was momentarily expected, but she rallied and accompanied her husband to Doorn on May 15 last. Attacks of her fatal malady recurred at frequent intervals, each sapping her vitality and nullifying the measures taken by specialists to restore her health. When her son, former Prince Joachim, committed suicide in Berlin last July she was in such a serious condition that the news of his death was kept from her for a long time, and it is said that she never learned that her son killed himself. Last autumn the former empress' condition gradually became worse, and on several occasions her children were called to Doorn, but her strength was such that she rallied bravely when the end was believed to be imminent. Since the first of this year it had been known that she was gradually sinking.

Funeral services over the body of the former empress will be held at the house of Doorn to-morrow. The remains will be taken to Potsdam on Wednesday, and another funeral service will be held there.

The glistening powder on hat and gown ornaments is made from the purified refuse of old clam and mussel shells.

Once she was with us here, smiling and gay, Doing life's simple tasks—faithfully, willingly, Eagerly welcoming strength for each day.

That she might labor more, That she might comfort sore Greatly tried souls that were going her way.

Tread softly round her where she's sleeping peacefully, Strew flowers over her—blossoms that are white,

As the dear hands of her, Folded so easily— Her toil is ended here; she rests to-night.

FEDERAL JUDGE PRITCHARD

Passes Away at Asheville—Death Due to Pneumonia.

Asheville, N. C., April 10.—Federal Judge Jeter Conley Pritchard, senior Judge of the United States Circuit of Appeals for the Fourth District, died here this morning at 6 o'clock of pneumonia. He was in his 64th year.

President Harding wired the following telegram to Mrs. Harding:

"I have learned with deep regret of the death of Judge Pritchard, whom I held in great respect and high regard. Please accept assurance of very genuine sympathy and know that many of his countrymen feel a share in the great loss his death brings to his State and country. Warren G. Harding."

The death of the famous jurist was due directly to pneumonia, which developed Thursday and served to aggravate his previous physical afflictions. For more than 48 hours previous to his death he had been unconscious, and while medical experts exerted every effort to save his life, the disease continued to fasten its grip upon him.

Judge Pritchard was a son of William H. Pritchard, and was born in Jonesboro, Tenn., April 12, 1857, his father being of Irish and Welsh ancestry, and his mother, Elizabeth Browne, of Irish parentage.

Facing the problem of obtaining an education during the trying days of reconstruction in the Southland, and following the death of his father at Mobile, Ala., his mother instilled into his mind and heart those stern precepts of morality by which he has ever been governed. Judge Pritchard, yet in his teens, walked 35 miles across the mountains of East Tennessee and Western North Carolina to Bakersville, where he arrived with ten cents and nothing more save the clothes he wore. He at once sought employment and entered the office of a little weekly newspaper, where he worked by day, and by night his occupation was the diligent search of such text books as were obtainable. His early life was dominated by an earnest desire to attain prominence in the nation and fame in some line of usefulness.

Later entering politics, he was elected to the North Carolina House of Representatives from Madison county in 1885 and again in 1887. In 1887 he was admitted to the bar and licensed to practice law. The following year found him the nominee of the Republican party for the office of Lieutenant Governor. He was elected, in 1895, for a two-year term in the United States Senate, and in 1897 was chosen for the six-year term, which he also served. On the 1st of April, 1902, he was appointed by President Roosevelt to the Supreme Court Bench of the District of Columbia. Upon the death of Judge Simonton the President advanced Judge Pritchard to the Judgeship of the United States Circuit Court for the Fourth District, April 9th, 1904, which position he held until his death.

Judge Pritchard is survived by his widow and one daughter, the wife of ex-Solicitor Thos. A. Rollins, and three sons, Dr. Arthur T., Solicitor General M., and Attorney McKinley Pritchard, and a sister, Mrs. J. T. Harris, all of Asheville.

WILLIAMS IS FOUND GUILTY.

Georgia Farmer Sentenced to Life Imprisonment in Murder Case.

Covington Ga., April 9.—John S. Williams, Jasper county farmer, was taken to Atlanta and placed in jail to-day to await action, April 30, on his motion for a new trial, which was made here to-day immediately after he was convicted and sentenced to a lifetime imprisonment on the charge of murder. He expressed confidence that he would finally be acquitted of the charges.

The trial was the first one arising from accusations that Williams had caused the killing of eleven negro farm hands after Department of Justice agents had started to investigate alleged peonage charges on his farm, February 18 last. Three of the negroes were alleged to have been brought into Newton county and here drowned. Lindsey Peterson was one of these three, and it was in this case to-day that conviction was had.

The other eight negroes were declared by Manning, the negro farm boss and self-confessed accomplice in the murders, to have been killed in Jasper county, and inquiry by the grand jury will soon be in progress there with a view to indicting Williams and his three sons.

Williams appeared to take his conviction calmly, but when his wife and daughters broke into sobs their grief affected him, and it was a hard struggle for him to hide his emotions as he sought to comfort them.

The date for the trial of Williams, on the other two indictments here has not been set, nor has the court announced when Manning will be tried, although it was indicated that the negro would face a jury before the regular July term.

CITIZEN SHOT DEAD BY OFFICER

Lieutenant Kills Man Who Shot and Wounded Him.

Punta Gorda, Fla., April 9.—Fred Pitt, a prominent resident of this city, was shot dead last night at his home by Lieut. B. G. Toohar, of Carlstrom Field, army aviation camp. The lieutenant is in the hospital at Carlstrom suffering from gunshot wounds, he having been fired upon by Pitt. The shooting was the result of a mistake on the part of Pitt, who fired upon Toohar and Sergt. Krisjan Bredvad, and Private E. J. Youngblutz, a detail searching for two deserters. The three soldiers had been told that the deserters were seen to enter an outhouse on the Pitt place. They surrounded the outhouse just before midnight and searched it without finding any one. Sergt. Bredvad before a coroner's jury to-day explained that as they left the outhouse Pitt, apparently aroused from his sleep, appeared in the doorway of his residence and, evidently mistaking the soldiers for marauders, pointed a shotgun at them and ordered them to throw up their hands. Bredvad says they obeyed to explain who they were, when Pitt and Lieut. Toohar started to call out. The greater part of the load of birdshot entered Toohar's body. The lieutenant replied to the fire with his pistol and Pitt fell dead.
