NEW SENECAN GRANTED

Supreme Court Order... Case—Mob Law... The court also severely criticizes the spirit of mobs, and says that where trials are held under conditions similar to those obtaining at the Gossett case, it is a "judicial lynching."

Associate Justice Cothran

wrote the opinion and the entire court concurred, the new trial being granted on the grounds that Gossett was not given a fair trial by the special court. Justice Cothran severely criticizes the statute under which special courts are called, and cites a number of incidents to show that an accused has no showing under the present policy of special courts.

The court also severely criticizes the spirit of mobs, and says that where trials are held under conditions similar to those obtaining at the Gossett case, it is a "judicial lynching."

The opinion affects a number of other special courts held recently, and virtually says that these courts could not give a defendant a fair trial.

Several trials by special courts, it is recalled, have resulted in electrocutions, and "Ping" Griffin is now in the penitentiary under death sentence by a verdict of a jury called together especially to try him, and the circumstances are a good deal similar to the Gossett case. No appeal has been taken in the Griffin case, and "Peetie" Fogle has already been electrocuted by a special court verdict.

Speaks of Mob Violence.

Speaking of mob violence and the effect on the public mind in trials like Gossett's, and the section under which the court was called, Justice Cothran says: "We are convinced that the procedure provided for in this section is a bald concession to the spirit of mob law, and presents the spectacle of the law, strong and mighty, bowing to the despotism of the mob, which has been declared to be greater than the tyranny of a despot. It provides a miserable compromise with lynch law, enabling the law to bargain with the mob to stay its hand and allow the court, under the form of law, to accomplish what is equally reprehensible—a judicial lynching."

"It is notorious that such bargains have been made. The angry mob has been appeased by the promise of a quick special court to try the offender under circumstances that render his conviction inevitable. There can be no compromise with the spirit of lynching for any crime. Those who compose such a mob are themselves without the pale of law and commit a crime not only against the victim of their vengeance, but against the majesty of the law. They are not entitled to recognition as parties to a contract. They stand under their duty feet the subjects of our law, and the law is strong enough to treat them as such."

The case has attracted considerable attention for more than a week. Two brothers, Kenneth and John Gossett, were charged with the murder of a man named...

Foch Will Visit America.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Marshal Foch, unannounced, yesterday walked into the American embassy here without the usual formality, took a seat in the reception room, and, like any ordinary caller, sent up his card asking to see Ambassador Herrick.

When the presence of the distinguished visitor became known a secretary immediately ushered him into the ambassador's office. Marshal Foch told Mr. Herrick that he had come to the embassy in person to say definitely that he was going to the United States.

Oconee County Rural Carriers.

The Oconee County Rural Letter Carriers will meet at Seneca on the first Monday in September (the 5th.) All the carriers and sub-carriers who can come are urged to do so, and to bring their wives, as there is some important business that concerns all carriers that will come before the meeting. We are expecting Hon. J. E. Johnson to be with us. The Seneca Carriers' Association will entertain the association. Be sure to come if you want a good time.

Enormous Increase of the Celluloid Industry has taxed the camphor market to the utmost.

THE QUALITY FROM SENECAN

School Faculty Session Will Begin September 1st.

Seneca, Aug. 30.—Special: Miss Nell Hines will leave Thursday for Danville, Va., where she will teach history in the graded schools of that city. She will be accompanied as far as Winston-Salem, N. C., by Miss Mary Hines, who will be a member of the school faculty there this year. These young ladies carry with them the best wishes for a pleasant and successful year in their school work.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Heller have returned from Charleston, after a delightful stay of several days in the historic "City by the Sea."

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowery was open Friday evening to a large circle of their friends who were entertained informally. This was a most enjoyable occasion, the dining room and parlor being planted and the broad piazza were also used. Progressive cards were enjoyed until a late hour, when ice cream and cake were served.

The Seneca schools will open tomorrow (Sept. 1st.) The school peeps are that this will be one of the best sessions in the history of the school. With a few exceptions, the teaching staff is well known to the patrons. The assignment of teachers for the coming year has been made as follows:

- First Grade—Miss Margaret Froland. Second Grade—Misses Orla Egan and Marie Reese. Third Grade—Miss Winnifred Anderson.

NEW LIVESTOCK SPECIALISTS.

Seth D. Sims and David T. Herrman Added to Clemson's Force.

Clemson College, Aug. 27.—Director W. W. Long announces the appointment of two new livestock specialists for the extension service, both of whom will give attention to swine work. The new men are Seth D. Sims and David T. Herrman.

Has Been Settled Amicably—Objections to Soliciting Withdrawn.

Six months ago S. O. Whitman, president of the Oconee Orphanage, located near Old Pickens, indicted J. A. Morgan for certain statements made in connection with Whitman's conduct of the orphanage. The matter was carried into the courts, but the parties have acted in what appears to be the spirit of wisdom in this case, and have settled their differences in the court of common sense.

The Chattooga School.

The Chattooga school closed last Friday, Aug. 26, for three weeks, to take advantage of fodder weather. The efficient teachers, Misses Bessie and Carilla Seawright, of Piedmont, have returned to their home for the holiday.

Opening Long Creek Academy.

Long Creek Academy will begin its eighth session on Tuesday morning, Sept. 6th, at 10 o'clock. There will be two speakers for the opening exercises, and any visitor from the Beaverdam Association or elsewhere will be welcome.
