COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES.

More Meetings on Co-Operative Marketing.

Westminster, Saturday, April 8, at 8 p. m., at school building. Friendship, Monday, April 10th, at 8 o'clock. Fair Play, Tuesday night, April 11th, at 8 o'clock. Oakway, Thursday, April 13th, at 8 o'clock p. m., at Woodmen Hall.

D. W. Watkins, assistant director of extension of Clemson College, has been requested to speak at Oakway and Fair Play, and another speaker will be requested to speak to the committeemen Saturday at Westminster.

Enthusiasm Sweeping State. Enthusiasm for the efficient selling of cotton on the Oklahoma or Texas plan is sweeping the State as the time for the campaign to end approaches. In two weeks Calhoun county jumped from 3,200 bales signed to over 19,000 bales. Many other counties have made remarkable progress recently. Interest with the plan of selling grows with the study of the plan and accomplishments of the co-operative selling system.

No Argument Against System. There is no sane argument against the co-operative system of selling farm products. There is every argument for it, chief among these being the absolute success of co-operative marketing as demonstrated in California among fruits and in Oklahoma and Texas with cotton. A debater at Georgia State Agricultural College wrote Theodore H. Price, editor of "Commerce and Finance," of New York, to find out what arguments could be used against the formation of co-operative marketing associations for cotton. Mr. Price answered by telling the debater that there was but one side to the question, and that was the affirmative side. He further stated:

"It is only through co-operation and compromise that civilization is advanced, and those who oppose them oppose human progress. I advise you to decline the argument."

Victory Week, April 10-15. All over the State of South Carolina committeemen will be called upon to canvass other farmers to secure additional signatures to the contract during the coming week. With many counties far beyond their minimum quota already, it is expected that great and far-reaching results will be obtained at the close of Victory Week.

Committeemen of each school district and other interested signers are to meet in each cotton-growing county of the State on Saturday, April 8, to outline plans for the "general attack." There will be rousing "pep" meetings stirring the hearts of workers with a great enthusiasm for the greatest cause in the history of cotton growing. All signers interested in launching the attack for victory are asked to give hearty response to the call.

The man who has delayed on account of the five-dollar organization fee need fear it no longer, for an agreement can now be signed whereby the only fee that he will be called upon to pay will be taken out of the first sale of the cotton through the association. Every cotton grower in the county should hesitate no longer in signing the contract. Every merchant and banker in the county should see the splendid results to be obtained through such a South-wide system of selling, and aid in every possible way. It has not failed in the other States. "IT SHALL NOT FAIL" is our motto. The man who does not sign is blocking the path of human progress and standing in his own light, and no one should care to have it recorded that he did such a thing.

Georgia Exceeds Her Quota. Sunday's Atlanta Journal carries the story of the success of the sign-up for co-operative marketing in Georgia, the seventh great cotton-producing State to link up for selling on the California or Oklahoma plan. The minimum quota of 200,000 bales, based on 1920 production, was exceeded by 40,000 bales. Co-operative marketing is now "the biggest thing in the South" and South Carolina has no fear of not getting her quota. Geo. R. Briggs, County Agent.

The Closing of Earle's Grove School.

Following is the program for the closing exercises of Earle's Grove school, at Earle's Grove school house on Friday night, April 15th: Welcome by Margie Whitworth. Letter drill, by seven girls. Play, "St. Slocum's Country Store," by 11 boys and 11 girls. (Time, one hour, 20 minutes.) The true characteristics of the country store are shown in a very striking manner. Recitation by Harry Martin. "They Kept Me in When I was Tardy," by Albert Richey. Song, by primary department—"Sweet and Low." Play, "Uncle Josh and Aunt Jerusha Visit School," followed by "Aunt Jane's Visit." Song with violin accompaniment, by Jimmie McAlister. Recitation, "Fradie Cat," by Suttie Cartee. Short plays. "Mary Lou's Recitation," by four boys and two girls. "The Thunder Drag," by two boys and one girl. "A Stupid Witness," by three boys. "No Peddlers Admitted," by three boys. Song, "Farewell," by teachers. "Home Ties" at Fair Play.

That charming little play, "Home Ties," will be presented by the same players who presented it so well at South Union on March 29th, for the benefit of the Fair Play school, at Fair Play on Friday night, April 7, at the Fair Play school auditorium. Those who witnessed the presentation at South Union assure the people of Fair Play that they will be highly pleased with "Home Ties." The proceeds of the evening's entertainment will be devoted to the interests of the Fair Play and South Union schools, the receipts being on a percentage basis of division between the two schools. The price of admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at this presentation of this splendid play.

Could Not Have Separated Twins. Chicago, April 3.—The Siamosee Twins, Josefa and Rosa Blazdek, who died last week after two weeks' illness at a hospital here, were joined at the spine and severing them would have been fatal. X-ray photographs taken after their death are said to show. The pictures, it is declared, showed a continuous U-shaped spine and also many vital organs in common. The deaths were due to intestinal obstruction, according to Geo. W. Brady, radiographer, who made the pictures.

LOCAL NEWS OF BOUNTY LAND.

Brilliant Exercises Bring to Close a Successful Term of School.

Bounty Land, April 3.—Special: The weather is at last favorable to farming, and some of our farmers are planting cotton. A delightful social entertainment of last week was the Christian Endeavor social held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hubbard. Delicious refreshments were served after various amusements were engaged in.

Frank L. Pickett, of Rockingham, N. C., was a guest of the week. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Doyle, of Anderson, were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Doyle.

Mrs. John Archer, who has been spending some time in Spartanburg, returned a few days ago to the home of her sister, Mrs. J. D. McMahan.

John Allen Denny will begin work this week with the Mallet Brothers on the highway.

Hurt Gillison, of Clemson, and Jay Gillison, of Seneca, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gillison.

We are glad to report an improvement in the condition of Mrs. M. J. McDonald, who has been quite seriously ill for several days. Her many friends are hoping for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Allen Stuart is visiting her children in Pickens.

The B.Y.P.U. will be entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lynch next Friday evening, and the members are looking forward to the occasion with happy anticipations.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wilson visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Norton, near Walhalla, the week-end.

The "Gypsy Smith Circle" will meet next Friday afternoon with Mrs. Dean Davis.

Jasper Doyle was quite indisposed for several days last week, but is able to be out again.

Hon. and Mrs. John L. Smith, of Seneca, attended the closing exercises of our school Friday.

Our school closed a most successful term last Friday afternoon with quite an interesting program. The exercises were in keeping with the observance of Carolina Day since this date came so near being the date on which the school closed, and were enjoyed by quite a number of the community people. Both teachers and pupils acquitted themselves with remarkable credit. Indeed, the program and its rendition would reflect honor to an institution of far greater pretensions than old Bounty Land assumes, although Capt. S. K. Denny, in his much appreciated talk, made the assertion that the two communities of Bounty Land and Richland had turned out more professional men and women than any other section of the county, and Capt Denny ought to know, since he is one of three pupils now living who attended the first school ever taught at Bounty Land, which was in 1852.

The other two pupils are Thomas Handy Stribling, of Greenwood, and Mrs. Mary Biggerstaff, of Fair Play. This school was taught by the late Col. B. R. Doyle, father of Mrs. Julia Doyle Shanklin.

Mr. Denny, in his remarks, said that the school boy satchels are a great deal heavier now than they were then, which probably accounts for the fact that children are not so thoroughly drilled in the studies which were taught in those days, and naming some of our distinguished Carolinians, he told the audience of the great impression made on his mind when he heard of the death of our great John C. Calhoun and saw the old Keowee Courier bordered in black, in mute significance of the great loss felt at his death.

Capt. Denny gave an interesting account of the stirring times of '76, when Gen. Wade Hampton was elected, and the establishment of white supremacy in South Carolina. This was both interesting and instructive to the pupils and visitors present.

Mr. Denny's talk was not first on the program. We hope to send the entire program, including an inspiring talk by the principal of school, Miss Lalla Ballenger, in which she gave an interesting compilation of the many great forward movements in which South Carolina was foremost, all of which inspired the audience with a feeling of pride in being South Carolinians. The welcome address was modestly given by little Miss Lucy Beth McDonald. The program consisted of songs, recitations, readings and drills. A drill by half dozen small boys, dressed as Revolutionary soldiers, deserves special mention, and shows the skill and painstaking of the teacher, Miss Carrie McMahan. The closing address, by Supt. of Education L. C. Spears, was good. Mr. Spears' subject was "Future Citizenship." He stressed the assertion that no nation, State or county or community is any better than its citizens, and that if one man in a community goes wrong the entire community suffers. That difficulties in a school or community are generally the result of misunderstanding and lack of co-operation. Misses Ballenger and McMahan have accepted the school for another year, and Bounty Land trustees are to be congratulated on securing their services again.

NEWS AND NOTES FROM SENECA

Former Seneca Young Man Marries California—Personal.

Seneca, April 4.—Special: Miss Camille Wood, a member of the senior class of Anderson College, was at home several days, spending the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Wood.

Mrs. R. L. Nimmons, who has been very ill at her home for several months with no improvement in her condition, was taken to Atlanta a week ago and placed in a hospital, where she can have special treatment. Her physician, Dr. E. C. Doyle, and Mr. Nimmons accompanied her. It is hoped that her system will respond to the treatment, and that she may soon have a decided change for the better.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society will be represented at the State Convention in Greenville on April 7th and 8th, by Rev. I. E. Wallace, Mrs. C. N. Gignilliat, Miss Sue Gignilliat, Miss Frances Holleman, Francis Wallace, G. W. Gignilliat and Charles Gignilliat. The Junior C. E. will be represented by Frank Holloman, Ralph Heller and Eldridge Hines.

There will be communion services in the Presbyterian church on next Sunday morning. Preparatory services to-night (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Burgess and Mary Burgess will leave the latter part of this week for a two weeks' stay in Aiken.

A number of the young maids and matrons met at the home of Mrs. J. Q. Adams Tuesday afternoon of last week for the purpose of organizing themselves into a club. Mrs. J. H. Adams and Mrs. E. A. Hines met with them to assist in the organization. The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. J. Q. Adams, president; Mrs. R. H. Renfro, vice president; Miss May Hines, secretary, and Miss Sara Davis, treasurer. The name of the club is "Seneca Literary and Civic Club," and meetings will be held at the homes of the members each Tuesday afternoon. Miss May Hines was the hostess yesterday afternoon.

Much interest centers around the recent announcement of the marriage of Miss Lillian Jordan to Miss Evelyn Vickery, of Riverside, Cal. The happy event took place on the 18th of March. Mr. Jordan numbers his friends by his acquaintances in Seneca, the home of his boyhood and early manhood days. For several years he has resided in California, and has been successful in business, being a young man of sterling qualities. Hearty congratulations, in which his numerous Seneca friends join, and all good wishes to the happy couple that their married life may be attended with happiness and prosperity.

Representatives from the Hayne Circle and Civic League of Walhalla, the Woman's Club of Clemson and Once-a-Week Club and Literary and Civic Club of Seneca, met at the home of Mrs. J. S. Stribling Thursday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a County Federation of Women's Clubs. Much interest was manifested. The time seemed to be ripe for this organization. Mrs. J. H. Adams called the meeting to order, which was opened with prayer by Mrs. Leslie Stribling. Mrs. E. A. Hines extended a warm welcome to the body of women. Mrs. B. A. Morgan, vice president of the Western District, of Greenville, was the guest of honor, and was made temporary chairman, with Mrs. Leslie Stribling acting as secretary. Mrs. Morgan told in an interesting manner some of the work of the Western Division and the mutual benefits received by the organization of county federations. In the election of officers Mrs. J. H. Adams was chosen president of the county federation. Three vice presidents were elected from the towns that have women's clubs—Mrs. D. W. Daniel, Clemson; Mrs. J. A. Ansel, Walhalla; Mrs. W. J. Laney, Seneca. Mrs. Elias Earle, of Clemson, was elected secretary, and Mrs. J. W. Bell, of Walhalla, treasurer. Forty or more club members were present, with a voting strength of about half that number. Committees were appointed to draft a constitution, which will later be presented to the executive committee.

Mrs. Morgan advised that there will be semi-annual meetings of the federation. Walhalla's invitation for the next meeting was accepted. A delightful social hour was spent in a general "get acquainted with each other." Misses Sara Thomson and Leola Hines and little Susan Stribling assisted the hostess in serving delicious block cream and angel food cake.

Tax Machinery Ready by May 1. "Numerous inquiries are still being received by the tax commission," says the Columbia State, "in regard to the new income tax, and the commission has mailed many copies of 'he act to persons requesting it. The commission is fast completing its machinery for enforcing the law, and will be in readiness before May 1st, when the State tax is due, to put men in the field, and also to establish an income tax office."

A director, six field men and an office force are being arranged for, but final selection of the director has not as yet been made.

EDWARD H. MCCOLLOUGH DEAD.

Walhalla Man Passed Away in Hospital at Greenville Thursday.

(Greenville Piedmont.)

Edward H. McCollough, a former resident of Greenville, who was the first city engineer here, and who engaged in the civil engineering profession, died Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the United States Public Health Service Hospital after a lingering illness. Mr. McCollough, although over the age limit, volunteered for military service on the Mexican border and also for service in the World War.

At the outbreak of the World War he enlisted in the 117th Engineers, Rainbow Division, as master engineer. He saw service in the Alamo-Marne offensive, at St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and the defensive sectors, and also was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Mr. McCollough was a son of the late Rev. J. D. McCollough, having been born in Union, this State, Sept. 1, 1861.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from St. Andrews church. Interment followed in Christ church cemetery.

Tribute from A. G. Gower.

The following beautiful tribute to the memory of Mr. McCollough was paid by A. G. Gower, a Greenville citizen:

Edward H. McCollough. It was my privilege to often see Mr. McCollough, as he lay on his bed of suffering at the United States Public Health Service Hospital, and always I carried away the impression of "the gentleman unafraid" as I left the presence of his bright smile and genial personality.

Even after the power of speech was denied him and the ability to take sustenance in the ordinary way gone, the winsome smile and the warm hand-clasp were still there.

Far beyond the age limit of military service, but because he had the mental training that his country so greatly needed, the physical ability to render it, and a willingness to serve, he was accepted.

Mr. McCollough went to the Mexican border, thence with the Rainbow Division to France, enduring all the hardships of the service, doing faithfully his "bit" to win the war.

After the armistice another fight began, the consequences of German gas taken root, and with smile and courage the arch enemy this introduces is met and faced bravely to end.

Many men are making the same fight that Mr. McCollough made at the U. S. P. H. S. Hospital as bravely and as smiling as he.

Fragrant and beautiful flowers will bring a message of interest, sympathy and cheer to their bedsidles if they come. A. G. Gower.

Edward H. McCollough was well known in Walhalla, where he had spent a number of years as resident and citizen. For some ten or twelve years he lived here with his family and that of his venerable father, who was then rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Walhalla. He was always genial and a gentleman withal. He had his faults, but he was a man, a manly man, who did not stoop to low deeds of any kind. And he had his friends wherever he went. They were numbered by his acquaintances. At his passing there are many who will feel that friend and gentleman has passed out from among them.

Mr. McCollough is survived by several brothers and sisters and numerous other relatives, among them being Mrs. H. H. Legare, of Walhalla, and Miss Ida McCollough, of Great Falls, this State, sisters; and Mrs. Geo. M. Ansel, of Walhalla, a niece. To the bereaved ones the sympathy of many goes out in their hour of sorrow.

Mr. McCollough had for some time been engaged in highway engineering work in Oconee, having his headquarters in Walhalla. Some time ago, owing to the inroads that the disease caused by having been gassed during the war had made upon his constitution, he left Walhalla for hospital treatment at Greenville. His death was the culmination of a long and brave fight against the ravages of this fearful malady that has followed so many of the returned American soldiers and brought them prematurely to their graves.

Chance to Hear Dr. Clarence Poe.

Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, will speak at Anderson Saturday, April 8th, at 10:30 a. m., at the Court House, on "Co-operative Marketing of Cotton."

Dr. Poe is recognized as one of the best authorities in the South on this subject, and a number of Oconee people could well afford this trip to hear him. Geo. R. Briggs, County Agent.

Rainfall and Temperature.
