For the Tiuss TO _____ BY LOIS. The sun's departing spiendor glows Adown the crimson West, And airy birds now seek repose in leafy glades where similows rest. Above the trees the clear new moon Lifts up the veil of gathering gloom. Like hope that smiles through sorrow's strife And half dispels the ills of life.

Where vine leaves droop 1 stand alone, And think, dear one, of thee : Oh ! would that thou could'st quickly come And spend this evening's hour with me. Through waving woodlands, breezes bear The sweetest odors, rich and rare--No care should rest upon that brow,

If thou wert here, beside me now Our purest thoughts, and best, we d share,

And then the tangled threads would take, Of our past lives-one liere, one there-And hold them up for love's sweet sake. Wo'd trace up them with many a smile ; With treasures of the heart beguile This evening hour, could we but meet, Oh ! love, and hold communion sweet

Of all the days since last we met, 'Tis now my heart most longs for thee :-Ah, dearest, I can ne'er forget Quite all that thou hast been to me Above the trees the clear full moon bifts up the voil of shimmering gloom, And round my heart love's mean ries play ; But thou, alas I art for away.

A MODERN GEORGE WASHINGTON .----Yesterday morning a careless moson dropped a half brick from the second story of a building out on Jefferson street on which he was at work. Leaning over the wall and glancing downward, he discovered a respectable citizen, with his silk hat scruuched over his eyes and ears, rising from a recumbent posture. The mason, in tones of some apprehension, asked : "Did that brick hit erable, wrath "Yes, sir, it did; it hit permanent value, me." "That's right," exclaimed the ma-TERMS :-Sing son, is tones of undisguised admiration. "Noble man ! I would rather have wasted a thousand bricks than have had you tell me a lie about it."-Burlington Hawkeye.

LEAVING HUSBAND AND CHILDREN FOR CONSCIENCE SAKE .- A curious case of awakened conscience is thus reported from Hamlin, N. Y.: "On Thursday morning last Mrs. Charles Randall quietly informed her husband that during the period of twelve or thirteen years in which they had been married she had not been to him what a wife should be, and she had made up her the 3d of July. mind to leave this part of the country. She her three little ones to live in peace and happiness. The wife calmly prepared breakfast, left the morning's work unfinished, packed her trunk, kissed her children, and departed, the hired man accompanying her to Brockport, where she took the 5 P. M. train for nobody knows where."

A "TRONG OBJECTION - "Are you sat-isfied .... ry, gentlemen ?" said Judge Noonan this morning after the jury had been impanelled.

"We are," said the lawyers in chorus. A tall, gaunt figure rose up solemnly in lege. the jury box and said impressively, "But I'm not."

"What's your objection, Mr. Snooks?" inquired his honor, blandy.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE, OF FOREIGN LITERATURE. 1876.

THIRTY-SECOND YEAR. THE ECLECTIC reprints the best Essays, Re-views, Scientific Papers, Tales, Stories, Po-ems, and Biographical Sketche from the whole field of foreign literature, and it assumeds itself especially to those readers who seek profit, as well as anusement, in solid and healthful literature.

LITERATURE.

In the department of general literature, the Extension is unsurpassed by any of the literary monthlies. A class of writers contribute to the English periodicals such as seldom appear in American magazines, and the choicest of their orticles are agained and the choicest of their articles are reproduced in the Eclectic. Among the writers recently represented in its pages are the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Antho-ny Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, lobert Buchanan, Leslie Stephen, Arthur lielps, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, and others equally eninent.

biliers equally entinent. SOIENCE. It is believed that in this department the Eclectic is more comprehensive and complete than any other magazine not exclusively devoted to the subject. Its articles are written by the leading authorities in their special fields: as Profs. Huxley and "yndail, Richard Proctor, it a back of the subject of the subject of the subject. B.A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, all of whom have been represented in recent is sues of the Magazine.

BIOGRAPHY.

BIOGRAPHY. There is no branch of literature more impor-tant and, at the same time, more generally in-teresting, than Biography. In this department, therefore, will be found sketches of most of the famous men of the present and past times. FICTION.

In this department the best current literature of its class is found : comprising occasional se-rial novels, but chiefly the short stories and tales, for which the English Magazines are du-el every morning, exc

No agricultural paper or magazine in the country, North or South, we venture to say, can boast a more weighty list of contributors than the Rural Carolinian. Other publications might, porhaps, display a larger array of names, but in practical experience, learning, talent, influ-ence and special position, the Rural Carolinian is not easily matched.

the war, will be in power at Washington; and the year of the twenty-third election of a President of the United States. All of

The Opposition House of Representaigently investigate the corruptions and misdeeds of GRANT'S administration; and at will, it is to be hoped, lay the foundation for a new and better period in our national Feb 4 history. Of all this The Sun will contain Dry and in Oil, Paint Brushes, its readers with early and trustworthy information upon these absorbing topics. The twenty-third Presidential election, with the preparations for it, will be memorable as deciding upon GRANT's aspirations for a third term of power and plunder, and still more as deciding who shall be the can-didate of the party of Reform, and as electing the candidate. Concerning all these subjects, those who read The Sun will have the constant means of being thoroughly well informed. The Weekly Sun, which has attained a Brandy Peaches, at circulation of over eighty thousand copies, Nov. 19 already has its readers in every State and Territory, and we trust that the year 1876 will see their numbers doubled. It will continue to be a thorough newspaper. All the general news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at full length when of moment; and always, we trust, treated in a clear, interesting and instructive manner. It is our aim to make the Weekly Sun the best family newspaper in the world, and we shall continue to give in its columns a large amount of miscellaneous reading, such as stories, tales, poems, scientific intelli-gence and agricultural information, for which we are not able to make room in our daily edition. The agricultural department especially is one of its prominent features. The fashions are also regularly reported in its columns; and so are the markets of every kind. The Weekly Sun, eight pages with fifty-six broad columns is only $1.20 a year,
