befor his term ends, at any cost. He said today that his constables had about fifty cases in Charleston and the fun will begin soon. The governor says he has been informed that the grand jury in Charleston will not bring in true bil's against any of the defendants in these liquor cases, not even in Chicco's case, where the proof is of a most positive nature. He says he really hopes that the grand jury will act that way, that it will only make the legislature more prone to act decisively. He says that in doing this way the people there will simply be damming up the waters that will finally wipe them away. In the course of his conversation the governor gave the impression that the legislature would at the coming session be asked to create a dispensary recorder's court in the various cities, which will not permit a trial by jury to offenders, but will permit the judge on a prima jurie showing to sen-tence each offender and fine him.

It seems that if this method is not resort ed to then there will be an amendment to the existing laws made so that the State car obtain a change of venue before a true bill is found in the offender's county, leaving the grand jury of whatever county the case may be transferred to pass upon the case. ----

TRAIN WRECKERS WORK .- Birmingham. Ala, Sept. 22.-A southbound limited ex-press on the Queen and Crescent route was wrecked at 1 o'clock this morning nincteen miles north of Birmingham. The wreck occurred on a curve and embankment. One end of the rail had been displaced by removal of fish plates. Near by lay tools which had been stolen from the section house at Somerville, seven miles away, and with which the rule had been taken up. The engine leaped from the track down the embankment. In so doing the engineer and firemen were hurled away out of all danger. The postal and baggage cars were piled on top c shells of the engine and crushed like egg The express messenger was im prisoned in the wreckage, but got out un-The train being vestibuled, none of the conches or sleepers, of which there were five, turned over. The train was full of people coming from the World's Fair, none whom were hurt. Fireman Walter Waite has his shoulder b'ade broken: engineer Fraley hurt in the shoulder and eye cut; postal clerk J. S. Stockton bud'y cut in the head; fireman Tom Bailey hurt in back: porter Howell cut. All of the injured were brought here to the hospital.

Superintendent Fraser and Sheriff Morrow were at the scene of wreck with blood hounds after the supposed wreckers. It is thought the wreckers had a grudge against the road on account of some law suits or something of the kind. ---- Lawlessness.

It is certainly appailing to read the accounts in the daily papers of the lawlessness that seems to be abroad in the land, both pliane

North and South. For the past two months, very near every the ag laily paper that has been issued, contains an account of the commission of some atroliab cious crime, until now the decalogue is about exhausted. Are we drifting into barbarism? If we are, then the boast of American civilization should cease, and our churches and school houses should be pulled down, our system of justice abolished, and let every man stablish unto himself a code of law and morals, for we are not advancing in civilization, and our churches, schools and l'courts are becoming al parody in the sight of the outside world. Of course, neither civilization, society nor the institutions of learning can put a stop to the individual committing crime, as it is impossible for human agencies to change human nature, as both the divine and human laws have been violated from the beginning of the world to the present time, and these laws will be violated through coming ages. But we must say that the individual com mitting crime, is quite different to what is known as moby. In one case it is the individual. In the other it is people for whose protection laws are enacted, and they allow excitement and passion to control, and become criminals themselves. Thus violating the very law that they attempt to vindicate, for after the criminal is put to death, or tortured by a wild mob, the law has not been vindicated; the wild human passion is alone appeased, and the majesty of the laws has been insulted and trampled under foot. Many a peor wretch who was innocen has suffered at the hands of an infuriated mob, when if he had been given an impartial trial before a court, presided over by an impartial Judge, and an impartial jury to pass on his innocence or guilt, he would have been acquitted.

In many instances the death penalty is inflicted by the mob, when the pun ishment prescribed by the law is only imprisonment for a limited number of years, as in the Roanoke case a few days ago, which was an outrage of the deepest dye. and one that will stand on record as being one of the most brutish and inhuman lynch ings that has ever taken place in a civilized community, for the infuriated mob was not satisfied with having put the poor wretch to death, but must burn the body. It must be remembered, that in the Ronnoke case, the law was trampled under foot, for the prisoner was in the hands of the officers of the law, and in endeavoring to protect him several lives were sacrificed, and even now, Mayor Trout is a refugee from the city to evade the vengeance of the mob. because in the discharge of his duty he endeavored to protect the prisoner from the fury of that rabble.

We can see no excuse for the Roanoke lynching, and it is folly for the rabble to attempt to hold Mayor Trout responsible for the sad occurrence. They are to blame for the horrible affair.

We must admit that the history of our State is stated the lynching of Richard. son at Denmark, the crimes with which the parties stood charged were most heinous, and the penalty was death, and there was not : shadow of doubt as to the guilt of the parties, and they received the punishment prescribed by law, and which their heinous crimes deserved.

But even in these cases, it would have been much better to have let the law take its course and thereby be vindicated, than to have resorted to mob law.

The B d Law. information of the public, we For give b the road law as to who are liable to rose

Upon the failure of any employer to comply with such demand, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, before any Trial Justice, shall pay : fine of ten dollars, or ten days' imprisonment, for every such offence."

"Any person liable to road duty, who shall havebeen duly warned twelve hours before theday fixed in his notice for such working, stating the hour and place of working, shall be subject to the direction of the overser in charge. If any person of the legal sge, shall neglect to appear, or shall refuge to work upon the highways and roads, (having no justifiable excuse,) according to the direction of the overseer, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and. upon conviction thereof before a Trial Justice, shall be fined in a sum not less than five dollars, nor more than ten dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not less than five nor more than twenty days."

We heard it stated not long since, that the road isw could not be enforced and that road hands were fools for paying attention to orders to work the roads from overseers. We think the above extract from the law is sufficient to knock the black out of such a statement, and as a friend to the hands on the public roads, we advise them to pay no attention in such a wild assertion for it is very evident that the person who made such a remark did not know what he was talking

It is very wrong in any one to advise another to disregard a law to which a penalty is attached, for it often brings trouble that could be avoided. It is certainly to the interest of every farmer, business man, laborer, preacher and teacher that the public roads should be kept in a good traveling condition, and until a better system of working the roads Is adopted, the present system should be carried out to the very letter of the law.

The whole trouble is, there are too many who are chronic kickers sgainst any and all laws that happens to not suit them.

WHITE CAPS IN BERKELEY .- Charleston, Sept. 26.-Here's a genuine sensation from the classic shades of the village of Mount Pleasant, the capitol of the Reform county of Berkeley. On Monday night the elite young men of the town, disguised with masks and things, waylaid Capt. R. G. McGull, an old resident of the village, and beat him un mercifully with a buggy trace-regular white cap style.

It seems that Mr. Magill's domestic relations are not the happiest in the world Some time ago he had a row with his step son, who brick batted the house because his stepfather had forbidden him to enter it the two not having been on good terms. The rumor then got out that Magill had been beating his wife, but this the lady de-
