[FOR THE ORANGEBURG NEWS.] Elijah.

BY REV. DR. I. D. DURHAM. Elijah stands on Jordan's shore, And waves his sacred mantle o'er Her crystal fountains, while they divide, And form a channel deep and wide. And, while he walks o'er holy ground, Elisha by his side is found, Urging that he may doubly share His spirit, and its gracious care. And, while they talk of power divine, Restored of God, on Abraham's line, The heavenly chariots gather round, And fiery warriors guard the ground. But now the realms of ether roar With winds, that shake the world below; While heaven-sent chariots roll on high, Bound to bright worlds beyond the sky. Thus, guarded by a shining band, The Prophet leaves old Canaan's land, No more to suffer pain or dread, No more by ravens to be fed. So doth the Christian Pilgrim stand On mundane shores and crumbling sand, Waving his mantle o'er the flood,— A mantle washed in Jesus' blood. See now the chilling waves divide, And angels walking by his side, Guarding him safely, while they tell That Jesus hath done all things well. And heavenly convoys hovering o'er The way, and all the shining shore, Exultant shout redemption nigh, And take the loved-out-home on high.

If two archangels came from heaven, and one was ordered to sweep the streets of London, and the other to be prime-minister of England, there would not be a moment's hesitation in the choice of their employments. The will of God would be their pleasures.—Newton.

A SWEET THOUGHT.—This little fellow, said Martin Luther of a little bird going to roost, "has chosen his shelter, and is quietly rocking himself to sleep, without a care for to-morrow's lodging; calmly holding by his little twig, and having God alone to think of him."

Circular. To the Bible Societies and other Distributors of the Bible in South Carolina:

DEAR BROTHERS—As I am about preparing my annual report of labors as Bible Agent for South Carolina, please report to me briefly and immediately the result of Bible distribution in your respective fields. Those who have already sent me interesting and encouraging reports, will please accept my thanks. May God bless your labor of love in the distribution of the donation of books received by you from the American Bible Society. As it is the earnest desire of the American Bible Society that every destitute reader in South Carolina should possess a copy of the Holy Scriptures, permit me to urge you to keep me advised as to destitutions in your fields; so that all persons may be supplied as soon as possible with the word of God. Donations of Bibles and Testaments for distribution will be procured for you if you will write to me at Columbia, S. C., and say how many books you want, and give me your address in full, with the name of your Consignee in Charleston, S. C. You will pay freight. Let it not be said that there is a dearth of God's word in any portion of our State when the American Bible Society is willing to give a Bible to every destitute reader, irrespective of color. E. A. BOLLES, Agent for American Bible Society of S. C.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Price of Representation. We will not insult the people of Georgia (says the Chronicle & Sentinel) by asking them to open their mouths and take into their bowels the abomination contained in the last pill compounded by the political quacks at Washington. If our people were mean enough to bid for representation on such debasing conditions, they have no guarantee that additional degrading terms will not be exacted. We are called on to deliver up to outlawry and political martyrdom the best and purest men in the South, and to send to Congress creatures who can take the test oath, and swear that they set their faces against our people in the day of trial. This would be placing the brand of infamy on our own brows. Military despotism, or any other rule, would be preferable to such an alternative as that presented in the Sherman bill. If degradation and torture are in store for us, let not our people voluntarily aid in the infliction, but let the shame of such a monstrous iniquity fall upon its instigators and authors. Dirt, dirt, and when we have swallowed it all, and ostracized the representatives men of the South, what will it avail us? Who are to supply the places of the representative men of this generation? What character of men are to occupy Executive, legislative and judicial positions in our State? Who are to represent us in Congress? These interrogatories arise in reading over the provisions of this last wicked and desperate enactment of Congress, and, we but express the opinion of our people, when we say that Georgia cannot purchase representation on the terms proposed. It is a farce and mockery upon the States, and our people cannot fill the Bill. Thank! Heaven Georgians will never voluntarily consent to be insulted and debased by a Brownlow, a Morse, or a Bryant. Military despotism is far preferable to the representatives of this stripe, and it is only creatures of this character who are eligible to offices of honor and trust under the proposed amendment. Save us from the affliction.

The Fenians. The following accounts of the Fenian rising are taken from the Baltimore Gazette of Saturday.

The Fenian rising in Ireland appears to have been general. On Tuesday at Tallegh, eight miles south of Dublin, the Fenians attacked the barracks, but were repulsed with the loss of one man killed, five wounded and eighty taken prisoners. Six loads of ammunition and two hundred prisoners had been brought into Dublin up to Thursday night. The main body of the insurgents retreated to the hills north of Dublin, closely pursued by the military. At Killmallock, in Munster County, the police were attacked by two hundred Fenians, who retreated after losing thirty of their number dead on the field and fourteen prisoners. The barracks at Dromore had been fired and totally destroyed. At the same place the manager of the bank and a police messenger had been shot. The Coast Guards at Killeagh, county Clare, were attacked and their arms taken away from them. At Caryford, Wicklow, and at Holy Cross the stations were assaulted and plundered of the arms they contained, and in Tipperary the excitement was said to be intense.

At the latest advices the railway trains were running between Dublin and Cork. Thirteen persons had been arrested at Limerick. All was quiet in Dublin and there were no longer any signs of disturbance in Cork, Limerick or Waterford. Still later advices state that fifteen hundred Fenians were reported to be threatening the town of Tipperary; that Donohue, the leader in the fight at Tallegh, together with three of his companions has since died. The insurgents in the mountains are represented as suffering severely from cold and exposure. Troops from England were being rapidly poured into Ireland. A skirmish had occurred at Killynure, in Limerick county, in which the insurgents were defeated with loss. Another band was defeated at Olmell. Armed parties are still roving through Clare, Tipperary and Limerick, stripping private houses of guns and other weapons, and have frequent conflicts with the police and constabulary. Incendiary fires are said to be frequent in the city and county of Limerick. The county is said to be full of Irish-Americans, but it is difficult to apprehend them, as the country people refuse to betray their hiding-places to the authorities. In Dublin the conclusion has already been reached that the insurrection has failed.

There was great excitement at New York yesterday among the Fenians, arising from the brief details of recent outbreaks in the vicinity of Dublin, as furnished by the cable. It was rumored among the New York Fenians—through upon what authority is not stated—that Colonel Gleeson has received a dispatch reporting that the Irish Fenians had attacked Barrack Tallegh, near Dublin, and succeeded in disarming one hundred and fifty men. It was rumored also that five thousand fresh men and risen near Dublin. The excitement has materially increased recruiting in New York.

Two fast young men, just returning home after a night's carousal, saw the sun rising. One of them insisted it was the sun, the other that it was the moon. They agreed to leave it to the first man they met. He also had been out on a lark. "Excuse me, sir, but my friend and I have made a little bet whether that's the sun or the moon that's now rising, and we've agreed to have you decide the matter." "Pat is, gentlemen, I should be very happy; but you see I'm a stranger in the city, and been out all night."
