How to Make Money at Farming.

The question of labor is beginning to assume a proportion of considerable importance. Hitherto the farmer has offered the laborer one-third of the produce of the soil as hire, and many find themselves making nothing at all, while on the other hand, the freedman is complaining that "he can't live at the third." Nor can he live on the third of the produce of a poorly managed and bad conditioned farm. The only hop for it in our own opinion is:

- 1st. Not to plant one foot of land that is unmanured.
- 2d. To hire only as many laborers, and to keep only as many horses as are absolutely necessary.
- 3d. To pay the laborers, not in the produce of the farm but in money.
- 4th. To hire labor by the month.
- 5th. To feed stock on clover, oats, turnips, &c., and about 20 bushels of chopped corn, per annum.
- 6th. To make use of the implements of the present age, and exercise a wise judgment in the selection and rotation of crops.
- 7th. To rent all surplus lands at a fair rate, to industrious whites or freedmen, requiring them to furnish their own mules, ploughs, &c.
- 8th. To make use of white labor, as far as possible.
- 9th. To practice the strictest economy, especially in the use of liquor, tobacco, &c.
- 10th. To farm in person, not by proxy.

Mr. Editor, if any of your readers will adopt the above method of farming, I will guarantee to them:—
1st. Surplus money at the end of the year.
2d. Satisfaction with the gifts of Providence.
3d. Health, pleasure and profit.—J. Farm and Garden.

Lime Around Apple Trees.

We have known farmers to make it a regular practice, for a succession of years to throw caustic lime around their apple trees in the spring and summer. We once noticed that a tree standing in the immediate vicinity of our dwelling had, all at once, put forth with renewed energy, and we were at a loss for some time to define the cause. On examination, we found that a quantity of lime, which had accidentally been spilled, and rendered worthless by becoming mixed with the refuse on the stable floor, had been thrown at the foot and around the tree, and to this, as the principal cause, we immediately accredited the reviviscence and renewed fructification of the tree.

Taking the hint from the accident, we purchased twelve casks of lime and applied half a bushel to each of the trees in our orchard, and found that it produced immediately beneficial effects. Not the health of the trees only, but the quality of the fruit also, was greatly improved. This application will be especially beneficial in soils where there is a redundancy of vegetable matter. We would advise our farmers, in some places, especially in new forest lands, to make the experiment, and see if it is not deserving of the high recommendation it secures.—Exchange.

Wheat for Seeding.

A correspondent of the Canada Farmer, in discussing the subject of wheat growing, makes several points which may prove valuable to some of our readers. It is assumed that the best soil for wheat is that in which clay predominates, but to ensure a crop the land must be naturally or artificially drained. Arable land requires for a full development of its resources a crop of fall wheat in the system of rotation. The selecting and preparation of seed wheat is of great importance, yet rarely receives any attention. Seed wheat should be tested by immersion in water, as the imperfect grain will float on the surface, and is thus saved from that suitable for sowing. These floating grains are those infested with fungi or parasites, and though light enough to float, have still sufficient vitality to germinate and produce the pests which diminish the quantity and vitiates the quality of the wheat crop. After the floating grains have been removed turn the water off and give the seed a good coating of lime, which will render innocuous any smut which may adhere to the wheat. These precautions taken, it is assumed that a crop of clean wheat may be safely relied upon. The suggestion is worthy of a trial.—Rural New Yorker.

Farm Work.

Cotton-picking is now in full blast, and the busiest hours of the farmer are at hand. Be very careful to keep the different qualities of cotton separate. Gin as soon as possible, bale up and send to market. It is poor policy to hold back for a higher price, for while the chances are against you, your capital is also lying idle, and you are losing the interest upon it.
Prepare your land for an early sowing of barley and use manure.
Clover, Lucerne, Hungarian Grass, &c., may all be put in. Be especially careful in preparing for these crops, to plough and pulverize your lands thoroughly, and also manure well.
In all spare days be busy raking up your manure and hauling it out on your grain lands. You can also in such days repair your wagons and tools, make your bins for corn rat-proof, &c.—Other work will present itself to the industrious.—Farm and Garden.

To the Planters.

COTTON TIE AND IRON HOOPS
FOR BALING COTTON.
IRON HOOPS for Baling Cotton, being largely in use in the whole Southern Country, and being sold at a much less price than Rope, the propriety of using them in place of Rope is brought to the attention of the Planters. Besides the difference in value, the Iron Ties are great preservers of Cotton, when baled, from fire. Every Tie is perfect and ready for immediate use. We have made arrangements to supply the "ARROW TIE" and will be prepared to fill orders promptly at the Lowest Market Price. We beg that our friends in ordering, will state whether they will use Ties or Rope.
