DEAN & RATLIFF,

The Folks that Sell the Good Kinds.

STATE NEWS.

— For the first time in seven years there is not a white man in Charleston jail.

— A young white man by the name of Louis fell through the dock in Sampit at Georgetown and was drowned.

— Two negroes were killed by the explosion of a steam pipe in the boiler room of the Olympia mill in Columbia.

— Two highway robberies have occurred in Newberry county within the last two weeks. Both men robbed were white men.

— Judge Gage has returned from Scotland but his health is still too feeble to permit him to perform his judicial functions.

— Graded schools are opening all over the State and there are reports of unusually large attendance and good prospects from all.

— The cotton gin is getting in its work early in the season. Ramsey Bowers lost his arm last week in a gin in Hampton County.

— A young white man was found unconscious in a yard in Columbia. It is thought he is a life insurance agent for the Virginia company. He was a great cigarette smoker.

— The body of the late Lieutenant J. W. L. Clement, U. S. N., has been brought to Charleston for interment. The young man died of typhoid fever while his ship was at a European port.

— Will Dinmore, a white man, was arrested in Spartanburg on the charge of stealing goods from freight cars. The man had been employed by the Southern and had in his possession keys to the cars.

— It is reported in the New York papers that Mrs. Sigmund Wolf, formerly of the town of Sumter, has fallen heir to a fortune of over twenty millions. It is said that this enormous sum was left by a brother in South Africa.

— A terrible storm visited the lower portion of the State last Wednesday. Much damage was done in Charleston and Georgetown, and in Horry County the damage to the crops, timber and buildings is estimated at one million dollars.

— A fishing fleet known as the "Mosquito Fleet," was caught in a severe squall off Charleston and one of the boats was sunk. Two men in the boat were drowned and the other was pulled out of the water when almost exhausted. All were negroes.

— Last Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the city of Greenville a Charleston and Western Carolina freight train ran over and instantly killed Wm. Henry Morgan and Arthur Davis. They were walking on the track and paid no attention to the train, which was running slowly backwards.

— Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, says that South Carolina made 8,000 bales of cotton last year against 1,000 the year before. The crop of 1903-04 was the most valuable on record. The average was $61.38 per bale against $44.52 the year before. The total value of the crop was $617,501,548.

— The cotton mills of Columbia will probably be equipped with a new device for the cleaning of cotton dust and other trash which gives the operatives so much trouble. The device is an invention of a Sumter man and a trial is being given at the Granby mill now so that if it works successfully the other mills in the syndicate will use it. It is now being used at Sumter.

— If the present ratio of increase keeps up in fertilizer tax returns, Clemson College will get not far from $120,000 this year. Up to September 10th the State treasurer has received from this source $102,338.70, against $91,289.05 for the same date last year. The income for the entire fiscal year of 1903 was $98,909.80, which shows that the increase in the last three months of the year was about $7,000, most of the fertilizer having been purchased.

— The boiler in the saw mill of Mr. James Wise, near Aiken, blew up at 9 o'clock last Saturday morning. Mr. Wise was badly cut and scalded. David Fagan's skull was broken and the negro fireman is badly scalded. Fagan is the only one thought to be seriously hurt. The accident is said to have been caused by the carelessness of the fireman in putting cold water into the boiler, with eighty pounds of steam on.

— Cherokee County enjoys the distinction of being the first county not only in South Carolina, but in the United States, to have as much as a carload of tin ore mined within its borders. Capt. S. S. Ross, who discovered a tin mine on his farm near Gaffney about a year ago, has so far shipped two carloads of ore to England to be smelted at Cornwall. It is said to be a fact that not so much as a ton of ore has ever before been taken out of any single mine on the North American continent.

— Being conscience stricken at the thought of having swindled a cotton mill seven years ago with a water packed bale a farmer, living in another county, has sent $5 in cash to Greenville, that being the amount to which he was not entitled. The case is rather remarkable. Often it is found that the weight of a bale decreases after it has been thoroughly dried, but it more often happens that when complaint is made to the original seller, the fault is laid at the door of a ginner. In this instance, however, the ginner was the innocent party.—Greenville News.

GENERAL NEWS.

— Judge Parker has visited New York and held a conference with the Democratic leaders.

— The Japanese scheme of tunneling Russian forts in order to blow them up is proving successful.

— The Ottoman government has deposited $25,000 in settlement of the claim of an American citizen of Smyrna.

— As the weather is getting cooler people are moving in on St. Louis. Great crowds will attend within the next sixty days.

— James McWilliams, 107 years old, a veteran of the Indian, Mexican and Civil wars, died Wednesday at his home near Greenville, Ala.

— Seven thousand men have been thrown out of employment in the Pullman car shops because the company says it cannot pay the high wages.

— Blaine Hoffman, of Pittsburg, Pa., is the first victim of this season's football. He was killed by being crushed underneath a pile of opposing players.

— The special grand jury at Huntsville, Ala., investigating the lynching of the negro Horace Maples have reported indictments against ten of the mob.

— The great strike at the blooming and bar mills, at Sharon, Penn., has been brought to an end, and the fires have been lighted preparatory to going to work this week.

— David B. Leiphardt, superintendent of the dead letter office at Washington, is himself dead by his own hands, having sent a bullet into his head on Saturday night.

— Frank O'Donnell, a lad 18 years old, has been arrested in New York, charged with forgery and embezzling funds to the amount of $25,000. He was in the employ of a lawyer.

— Heavy fighting with great loss of life is of frequent occurrence in Paraguay between the government troops and insurgents. Negotiations are now on foot to end the revolution.

— Gen. John T. Wilder, of Knoxville, Tenn., now a pension agent, but commander of Wilder's brigade in the Civil war, has just been married in North Carolina. He is 80 and she is 18.

— Some of the Indians of the Five Tribes in the Indian Territory are threatening to boycott the public schools if the negroes are permitted to enter them—thus drawing the color line between black and red.

— The Southern Methodist Church at Statesboro, Ga., have by resolution denounced the horrible crime in that place, the burning of two negroes, and they have asked members participating in it to withdraw from the church.

— The largest chicken farm in the world is at Sidney, Ohio. Between 70,000 and 90,000 chickens are hatched daily, and each day's crop enters a series of ninety pens, at the end of which after moving up one a day they are ready for market.

— Judge Miller in his charge to the grand jury of Hinds County, Mississippi, on Friday said that 200 men were killed in that State between January 1 and April 15, and that it is reasonable to suppose the same ratio has been kept up since.

— Two shocks of earthquake were felt at Augusta, Ga., last Wednesday. Within the city limits the disturbance was noticed only by a few, but on the hills west both tremors were distinctly felt. The first was noticed at half-past two and was followed in five minutes by the second. No damage was done.

— Andrew Carnegie gives a bonus of 10 per cent. upon their yearly wages to all employees upon the Skibo estates who are total abstainers from intoxicating drinks. He believes that such are well worth their bonus, both from an economic and social point of view.

— A mob at Carlisle, Ind., has chased all non-resident negroes from town; and the press dispatches report that all resident negroes will be driven out. The homes of all negroes in the village have been visited, and partly demolished. This assault upon all the negroes of a community was incited by the shooting of a white man by one negro.

— Sam Faison, a young negro who threw a rock in a moving train on the Atlantic Coast Line between Wilmington and Newbern, N. C., sometime ago, was tried and convicted at the recent term of Pender Superior Court, and sentenced to two years in the chain gang service, which is the heaviest sentence imposed by law. The negro's act was one of pure deviltry and the heavy missile which he hurled into the train struck a small white boy named Koonce, of Newbern, fracturing his skull and perhaps inflicting a life injury.

— A singular freak by lightning was enacted at Arabi, Ga. From a clear sky a bolt of lightning came and struck the residence of Mr. Kimball, tearing it almost to pieces. The bed on which Mrs. Kimball and her four-year-old baby were lying was torn into fragments. Mrs. Kimball and infant falling to the floor; however, the teacher bed on which they were lying saved them. Neither of them were hurt in the slightest—only shocked. Mrs. King, the nurse, who was sitting by the bed, was sent spinning around in her chair, and was somewhat injured. It is thought, by a piece of the splintered bedstead striking her on the head. There was a set of steel springs on the bed, and how the occupants escaped death is a mystery none can explain.
