The Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America.

CONDUCTED BY J. O. STRIBLING.

Communications intended for this department should be addressed to J. O. Stribling, Anderson, S. C.

Which Crowd Do You Belong To?

If you are at home today in the country you cannot be in town at the same time! If you don't belong to the crowd of farmers that are organizing themselves together to protect their own interests, you are against this crowd and belong to the other doing nothing crowd, that is willing to stay out of the Farmers Union and let things go to suit the cotton speculator, and then go about whining over hard times and abusing the cotton speculators for doing the very same thing for their interest that you have failed to do for your interest.

Do you belong to the crowd that believe in standing around, grumbling and complaining about the unjust rules in raising farm products by others than the producers of these great important products, and never once join in with your neighbors to try to have a word in setting prices upon your honest labor?

Do you belong to the crowd that think and act like they did not regard their individual strength as worth much, either in or out of the farmers' organization?

Do you believe that you could pull a cow out of the mire by standing off and cheering as well as you could by taking hold of the thing and saying—'all ready, now pull, all together!'

Do you belong to the crowd that think a sewing thread, or a spider's web would tie up and hold down a bear or a bull about as well as an inch rope? If you do not in these feeble things don't act like you did by staying out of the Farmers' Union.

If it takes 12 strands to make a sewing thread and 144 sewing threads to make a one-quarter-inch rope, and four small ropes to make an inch rope strong enough to hold a bear or a bull, then do tell us how, in the name of common reason, does a man expect to do anything in the way of protecting his interest by trying to hobble the wild and vicious cotton bear with his single sewing thread?

Do you belong to the crowd that is staying out of the farmers' organization for fear that if you join in that some of your neighbors will get a better position in the Union than you will? If so, let me say to you that there are men already in your neighborhood that belong to your crowd on the outside that stands one above the other in some respects, and you cannot regulate this condition in your crowd that is on the outside.

The difference is just here, in a nutshell: The crowd on the outside have for their motto and password—every fellow in the whole push for himself and let the devil take the hind-most man. While the Farmers' Union says to the whole farming world, 'Farmer, if farmers want anything done for their own protection against the organized world, farmers must come together and do the things themselves. If we expect to tame the cotton bears and bulls we must tie together our individual threads and make a cable strong enough to tie down the wild animals, or even anchor the ship of trade to the shore of equity.'

If you want to get into a business where you can have absolute control of the pricing of your products, just try the plan of raising a few pairs of extra fine carriage horses. You have noticed the attraction these fine coaches command at every place and point you may go. These fine, large, smooth, quick-stepping, high-headed coaches are the horses above all horses for the farmer to raise. A pair of fine, large carriage horses for the boys to drive to the improved farm implements, wagons and carriages will go a long way towards keeping the boys on a farm. If you raise more of them than you need you don't have to hunt for a customer, or ask the buyers what they will give you. We venture that a farmer might get twenty applications in as many weeks for a pair of home-raised coaches, and if the horses suit the applicant the owner can name his price and get it as often as he can produce the horses. These fine horses never go down in price; they are always at par, no matter what scrubs or mules go at.

A Proud Day For Togo.

Tokio, October 23.—Today was made memorable in the annals of Japan by the public entry of Admiral Togo, who came to report to the Emperor the return of his fleet from the war. He arrived at 11 o'clock from the capital, he was accompanied by 10,000 men, being met by ministers of State, generals, admirals, members of the diplomatic corps and hundreds of officials and private citizens, who extended him a warm welcome to the capital. He was accompanied by staff and Admiral Katoke, Kamimura and Dewa, together with their respective staffs.

The party entered the Imperial palace and placed at their disposal the entire of the Imperial Palace. The day was a beautiful one and all Tokio was out irrespective of age to welcome the victor of the battle of the Naval Japan.

Admiral Togo, after his audience with the Emperor, returned to his ship. Admiral Togo's report, the Emperor warmly praised the heroic conduct of his officers and men.

From the fact should be pointed out that the Emperor's present his best and most valued diamonds.

STATE NEWS.

—J. F. McAllister, a merchant of Williamston, has been bound over for trial in the United States court for sending a debtor a dun on a postal card.

—Carlos D. Girola, Minister of Agriculture of the Argentine Republic, has been spending several days in the State studying agricultural conditions.

—Earle Rochester, the white man convicted of the murder of Walter Mills, in Oconee County, has entered upon his life sentence in the State penitentiary.

—The increase in the sales from the Columbia dispensaries for the quarter just ended is $93,960.99 over the sales of the corresponding period of last year.

—The Supervisor of Fairfield County has ordered an election upon the question of the removal of the dispensary out of the county to be held on December 12th.

—A second colony of Bohemians has arrived in Charleston to work in the canning factory. They will supplant the negro labor which has become so unsatisfactory.

—Mr. Daniel Zimmerman, formerly bond clerk in the office of the State Treasurer, and who is accused of making away with about $16,000, has been placed under a $17,000 bond.

—G. Raymond Berry, the defaulting Superintendent of Education of Marion County, has been brought back to Marion from Florida to stand trial for his crime in the courts.

—J. E. Spogle, the defaulting supervisor of Greenville County, died last week after a long illness. He was under indictment at the time of his misappropriation of public funds.

—A Law and Order League has been formed in Newberry County. Its purpose is to see that all laws are enforced, but its work principally will be to enforce the prohibition law in that county.

—The North and South Carolina Pine Associations will hold a joint meeting in Columbia on the 15th of November. They represent controlling interests in all the big lumber mills of this section.

—Secretary of War Bonaparte has promised to visit Charleston sometime in November or December, on the occasion of the presentation of a silver service to the cruiser "Charleston" by the city of Charleston.

—Samuel P. Harvey, a young cashier formerly in the employment of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, was acquitted in the Charleston court last week of the charge of embezzlement. His shortage was something like $35,000.

—J. W. Sholor, a well known attorney of Walhalla, is promoting a trolley line to be built from Walhalla to Townville. It is understood that he wants to form a company with a capital of $175,000 and that $60,000 has already been subscribed. The distance from Walhalla to Townville is 23 miles.

—George W. Murray, the Sumter colored ex-congressman who was recently sentenced to a term in the penitentiary for forgery, is still fighting for his liberty in the face of an adverse decision of the Supreme Court. He has made an appeal to the court for a stay of execution so that he may file an appeal for a rehearing.

—Governor Haywood, upon hearing the report of the chief State constable who investigated conditions in Pickens County, ordered that officer to place constables in that county. They will be paid out of the half mill tax as provided by the Brice law. The chief constable also recommended that constables be placed in Newberry as the dispensary law is being violated there.

—Sportsmen about Charleston are concerned over the number of dead deer found in the woods, five being discovered in the past week lying dead apparently without any reason for their deaths. Some of the hunters say that Paris green used on cotton plants to kill the caterpillars is responsible for the killing of the deer which have eaten the poison. None of the deer had "black tongue."

—Wade Plumer, of Lamar, Darlington County, and Miss Anne Cunningham, of Savannah, Ga., were presented with medals, gifts of Andrew Carnegie, a few days ago. Plumer rescued a companion from drowning in Lynch's River over a year ago. Miss Cunningham was awarded her medal for an attempt to save a young man from drowning in May of this year. In addition to the medal, Plumer was given $500, to aid in his education.

—Ben Bennett, a noted convict who escaped while serving a sentence in the penitentiary has been captured in Georgia and brought back to this State to serve out his sentence. He killed a man in Simpson County and was pardoned by the governor on condition that he leave the State and never return. He broke his parole, came back and while at home killed his own wife. He was serving a five years' sentence for this when he escaped.

—The memory of a Spartan soldier, Col. John Thomas, who fought for the independence of the colony against the British Grows, will be honored Tuesday at his grave, near White Stone Springs, says the Spartanburg Herald. Captains and Kate Barry Chapman, D. A. H., originated and carried out the idea of having a suitable work placed over Col. Thomas' grave. The tablet has been arranged and the D. A. H. accompanied by a band will go to White Stone to dedicate it.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Mayor Sweet, of Grand Rapids, Mich., indignantly refuses an increase in salary.

—A Georgia farmer has succeeded in raising fourteen bales of cotton on four acres of land.

—An Oklahoma girl who advertised for a husband got one after an expenditure of $11. He died within a year, leaving her $10,000.

—A government employee at Fort De Soto, Tampa, Fla., lost his life a few days since by diving from the top of a pile driver nearly one hundred feet into Tampa Bay.

—Four finger rings and seventeen brooches were used in the construction of a marten's nest which has been disclosed from beneath the eaves of a house in Frogmore, England.

—A brown African goose in North Attleboro, Mass., lately amazed its owner by producing an egg of extraordinary size. Around its longest circumference it measured 11½ inches, and 10 inches around its shortest. The goose weighs 19 pounds.

—A machine has been invented for manufacturing cotton automobile tires. The tires are woven something like lamp wicks, only they are heavier and of coarser texture. They are said to resist a pressure of 6,000 pounds to the square inch.

—The United States Supreme Court has decided that it is not a violation of the constitution for the recorders' courts to sentence victims to the chain gang. This means that we must go right on as heretofore, fighting shy of the recorder. —Wilmington Star.

—Curtis Guild, Jr., the Republican nominee for Governor of Massachusetts is a brilliant public speaker, and it is said of him that when he was ten years of age he had repeat page after page of the speeches of the old-time Republican campaigners.

—James P. Strong, who held a position of importance in the cotton mills at Moultrie, Ga., died Monday morning. He was a bridegroom of about fifteen hours, having been married the evening before. At the time of the marriage he was not considered seriously ill.

—Frank Rockefeller, the youngest and least known of the oil king's brothers, is reserved and unpretentious, his hobby being the taming of wild animals at his home near Cleveland, Wickliffe-on-the-Lake. On his Kansas ranch he has raised 3,000 horses and 30,000 cattle.

—It costs money to be the president's daughter. When Miss Alice Roosevelt reaches the port of San Francisco she will have to pay duty to the amount of about $25,000 on the gifts she received while on her Eastern trip. A pretty good sum to pay for seeing the wonders of the East, isn't it?

—In Northern China, where a drought has long prevailed, officials have visited all the temples and thrashed all idols for negligence. Others have been put into the sun, that they may feel how hot and dry it is. It is not uncommon in San Francisco to see a Chinese joss dragged out into the street and punished for neglect of duty.

—President Roosevelt says positively that he is not to be considered for the third term. Very troublesome people are now suggesting plans for him when his term is out. John Temple Graves says the Senate is the place for him. These men who are always looking out for ex-presidents should be sent to an asylum for weak minded people. —Carolina Spartan.

—The United States leads all other nations in the total consumption of tobacco, while Belgium stands at the head of the tobacco consuming countries so far as the per capita consumption of the "fragrant weed" is concerned. Germany and Russia are the only other two countries besides the United States which show a total consumption of over 100,000,000 pounds.

—Miss Bertha T. E. Berbert, of White Plains, New York, who was recently defeated for renomination for school commissioner by the Republicans, has determined to run anyway, and has announced herself a candidate on an independent ticket. Miss Berbert is young and attractive, and has held the office of school commissioner for six years at an annual salary of $2,000.

—Prof. Helm, the geologist and Alpine climber, at the Swiss Alpine Club meeting at Geneva, a few days ago described his sensations when he fell from a precipice in the Alps. He said he felt no terror while in the air, could breathe freely and experienced unusual mental activity, a thousand long forgotten incidents flashing pleasantly across his memory. Then came the sound of soft and soothing music, and at that instant he knew he had struck ground. He lost consciousness without pain or the slightest sensation of shock, he said.

—In the desert of Southern Arizona, with an Indian, two centipedes and a gila monster as his companions, Prof. W. J. McGee, of Farley, Iowa, suffering from lost health, slops for four months without bed or cover, upon the hot sands of the desert and regained all his former vigor. McGee has just returned home, a veritable athlete, in place of the weakened and exhausted man who struggled out of a severe attack of typhoid fever with only enough strength to drag himself west. While on the desert he amused and edified himself by studying the habits of the insects, reptiles and plants which exist there. He believes that his experiment has disclosed a cure for men suffering from mental and physical collapse.
