

THE PROSPERITY OF ATLANTA.—The papers of this thriving city speak very encouragingly of its present prosperity and future prospects.

A walk out along the Western & Atlantic Railroad will render this apparent to the most casual observer. The busy activity to be seen in the neighborhood of the State Road Machine Shops, the new enterprise of Messrs. Shearer & Morton, the City Boundary, Gas and Machine Works, the numerous brick yards of "Dean Town," the signs of reviving enterprise at Winslip's Iron Works, the Sash and Door Factory and the City Gas Works, are gratifying evidences of an early and substantial resumption of these important interests.
