Message of Governor Orr.
[SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.]
COLUMBIA, December 11.—In the Legislature, to-day, Message No. 2 of his Excellency Governor Orr was received. He communicates the Report of the Committee on the Military Academy and other documents; also the proposal of Col. Childs to purchase the canal around the falls of Broad and Congaree Rivers. He also forwards the correspondence between Governor Perry and Secretary Seward of 30th November. Mr. SEWARD acknowledges the receipt of a telegram informing him of the impossibility of repudiating the war debt, as the Convention was dissolved; and says that while the objections urged are of various kinds, the President cannot refrain from awaiting with interest an official expression of opinion on that subject from the Legislature.

The Fenians in Trouble.
New York, December 10.—The Fenians are troubled, and have deposed their President and Treasurer for malfeasance.

From Washington.
WASHINGTON, December 10.—Major-General LOGAN was a long time yesterday in consultation with the Secretary of State, on the subject of the Mexican mission.
Late information from Galveston mention the re-establishment of the office of provost marshal in that department.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]
COLUMBIA, December 10.—My letter of last night having been entirely taken up with the consideration of the Stay Law, your readers were not informed of the other proceedings of the House on yesterday; and though I am doubtful whether those proceedings will be of any special interest, still I will give them for the benefit of those who are certainly entitled to the information.

The bill to organize the Executive Department being the special order, was taken up, and was amended by inserting Treasurer wherever Comptroller General was used, and by making the salary of Governor $3500. This bill makes the present Treasurer of the Upper Division the Treasurer of the State, and by insisting on this measure the friends of Mr. Hoop have not only lost for him a year's additional tenure of the office, but they have also, when he could easily have been elected, insisted on doing an act against which, to say the least, grave constitutional doubts may be urged.

The Senate having consented, the House resolution appointing a committee to sit in Charleston with regard to the Freedmen's Bureau was resumed.
Several committees made reports. Among others the Committee on the Judiciary reported on bill to increase the pay of constables; a bill to change temporarily the place of holding Courts for Beaufort District, and also on a resolution to require payment, in advance, of fees, to officers. The Military Committee made a report on that part of the Governor's Message which referred to the Military School, which was agreed to and sent to the Senate.

The Committee on the Judiciary reported a bill to regulate the sittings of the Court of Appeals, and against the expediency of establishing a new Judicial District.
The Committee of Ways and Means reported against resolutions which were offered at the extra session by Mr. KERR, proposing to tax all moneys collected in the State. This report certainly meets with the approval of most men who have ever considered the subject in its practical or constitutional bearings.

Mr. WAGNER reported on memorial of City of Charleston to open and widen streets; also, on bill for the same purpose.
Mr. Lord, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported on resolution to inquire into the expediency of changing the law of evidence, and also a bill to enable parties, plaintiff and defendant, to testify; which bill was read for the first time, and continued over to the next session. This bill contemplates a much needed change in our law. It is the province of the jury to weigh testimony, and it has long seemed to be desirable that the whole testimony should be placed before them. This can only be done by placing both parties on the stand, and getting from them their own statements. Even in criminal cases, it would seem that the accused should be allowed to make his statement. The jury can take it for what it is worth. The bill, however, does not go so far as this, and it may be wise that this change in our law should not be made.

A bill to extend relief to the Greenville Railroad was read and referred to the Committee; so, too, were a bill to organize the militia; a bill to divide Pickens; a bill to incorporate the Agricultural and Savings Bank; and a bill to amend the law with regard to the inspection of flour.

Resolutions, offered by Mr. SKELZOW, to appoint a committee to nominate officers of the Bank of the State, were agreed to.

The House, after the consideration of the special order, took a recess, to meet again at 7 o'clock P. M., when the huge Military Bill of the Senate was read for the first time. The Reading Clerk read rapidly, and completed his task in about an hour—much to the joy of those who were obliged to listen to his uninteresting details.

The Montgomery, Alabama, Mail, dwelling upon the fact that Southerners generally prefer their soldiers to represent them in Congress and elsewhere, says: "To vote for such men is not to hurl defiance at the conqueror, but rather to exercise the privilege of complimenting gallant men, without a thought whether it may or may not please the conqueror. The true conqueror is not only devoid of jealousy, but is willing to share his meal and couch with the vanquished. He has learned to honor his prisoner from the electric sympathy which is always generated by bullets and bayonets."
"At Rich Mountain, a gallant South Carolinian, in command of a section of artillery, had fought his guns well, until he had not men left to work them. Our lines were broken, and the enemy was dashing upon him. A shell dismounted one of his pieces, killed his horse under him, and shattered his right arm. Gaining his feet, the gallant fellow mounted his remaining gun, and standing erect as it dashed away under a shower of bullets, shook his sword at the enemy with his left hand. Just at this moment an order came sharp and clear from the Federal line, "Cease firing at that officer!" Such a spectacle of ardent valor drew a spontaneous shout of applause."

The State of Mississippi, with a white population not exceeding 350,000, had sixty-three regiments in the late war, which numbered about seventy-three thousand combatants. Of these—
Died of disease.....15,500
Killed or died of wounds.....12,000
Discharged, resigned and retired.....19,000
Deserted or dropped.....11,000
Missing.....250
Transferred to other commands.....1,500
Total loss from all causes.....69,500
Balance accounted for.....18,750
Thus it appears that more than one person in five was in service.

Friends of the Freedmen.

CHARLESTON, S. C., December 6, 1865.

MR. EDITOR: There seems to me to be a very unfair and harmful imputation; in your editorial this morning, against the friends of the freedmen, in the statement that it is uncertain that they will allow the freedmen to work, even if the latter are inclined to do so.

If the statement had been merely slanderous to the friends of the freedmen, it would not have been worth our while to notice it; but it conveys a false impression to the public, and, worse than that, announces to the freedmen as a fact that which it pretends to be injurious to them to know, and which certainly has not been taught them from any other source.

We defy any person to point to an order of the Freedmen's Bureau, or any paragraph which instructs the freedmen, that they are not expected to work. On the contrary, the whole burden of orders of late, as well as verbal instructions to agents, has been to insure an immediate renewal of contracts for another year, discharge their minds of erroneous impressions relative to lands, and prevent, beforehand, if possible, the disturbances which might naturally arise at the end of the year, when the existing contracts close.

To this end, also, has been the tendency of all public addresses to the freedmen. It was regarded the duty of both Military and Bureau authorities to see that nothing of a contrary tendency be allowed.

To substantiate what has been said in this communication, the last Circular from the Assistant Commissioner of this State is enclosed; and, as it is of public interest at this time, perhaps you will be willing to publish it.

HEADQUARTERS, ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER
BUREAU REFUGEES, FREEDMEN AND ABANDONED LANDS,
CHARLESTON, S. C., December 2, 1865.

[CIRCULAR.]
In order to avoid the evils that must necessarily follow a failure on the part of employers and freedmen to enter into contracts for the coming year, it has been determined to require that attention be immediately called to the making of contracts. The accompanying form has been adopted and will be observed.

It is hoped that the stipulation in this form, providing for the continuance of these contracts, after the restoration of civil authority, under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by the Legislature of this State, will prove satisfactory to all parties. It is recommended that, as far as practicable, in order not to break up their homes for the present, freedmen be employed by, and make contracts with, their former masters, and that care be taken to provide for the maintenance of the helpless and infirm. This end will be most easily secured by paying the freedmen for their labor, in clothing, food, shelter, and medical attendance, and such additional wages in money, or portions of the crops, as may be agreed upon.

The Sub-Assistant Commissioner will designate an officer at each Court House in the Sub-District, to act as agent for the Freedmen's Bureau, and to take charge of the making of contracts. This officer, associated with two citizens of the District (Magistrates, if they can be obtained), will constitute a Board, under the provisions of Circular No. 5, from Headquarters of the Bureau. In cases where the employer and freedmen cannot agree upon the terms of the contract, this Board, after a careful examination of all the facts, will endeavor to fix the terms to the satisfaction of both parties. The two citizens, members of the Board, shall be paid three dollars per day for the time actually engaged in the discharge of their duty—the assistant Commissioner, which will be officer associated with them, and approved by the Sub-Assistant Commissioner.

To defray the necessary expenses of these proceedings, a fee of fifty cents shall be charged and collected for each freedman so employed, in cases where ten or a less number are employed; if more than ten, twenty-five cents will be collected for each additional freedman so employed—the entire fee to be paid by the employer. These fees will be collected by the officer in charge, and accounted for to the Sub-Assistant Commissioner.

No disbursements by him will be allowed, except the per diem of the associate members of the Board, upon approved accounts. A weekly report will be made by him to the Sub-Assistant Commissioner, which will be accompanied by a correct copy of all contracts entered into. The Sub-Assistant Commissioner will report weekly to these headquarters the number of contracts made, the number of freedmen contracted with, and any other matter of importance or interest connected with this business.

They will also, to the full extent of their power, enforce the faithful performance of the conditions of these contracts.

The interests of freedmen will be carefully guarded, and their rights in every respect protected; but, at the same time, they must be compelled to fulfill their agreements, and, if idle or vicious, must suffer the penalties for such conduct.

No effort should be spared to correct the erroneous impressions that prevail among the freedmen in regard to a division of lands, that it is not necessary for them to make contracts, or that they will be permitted to leave their present homes, and go in great numbers to any other part of the country.

Brevet Major-General H. SEXTON,
Assistant Commissioner.

H. W. SMITH,
Asst. Adjutant-General.

[FOR THE DAILY NEWS.]

Edisto Island—The Regions Cultivated, &c.

Messrs. Editors: Under the authority of the Freedmen's Bureau, several owners of land on this island made a visit there on Tuesday, the 5th instant. The object of the visit was to ascertain whether the freedmen on the plantations would contract for their cultivation. Under the order of Gen. SHERMAN of 16th January, 1865, which, in this respect, seems to be still in force, no white person can visit this island without leave from the military authorities. Upon the arrival of the Government steamboat at the landing, the officer commanding the island allowed the owners to land, and, after escorting them to the headquarters, he furnished three of them with facilities for going to their plantations, and gave them a guard. Interviews were then had with the freedmen on their plantations, and propositions were made to them for the cultivation of the lands. In each case they refused to enter into contract, or to make any terms with the owners for the cultivation of the land. The population consists mostly of colored persons who have migrated to the seacoast since the war began. The impression seems still to be that the Government has promised them lands, or will give them lands, in Florida or elsewhere. It is but just to say, that the officers of the company of colored troops gave such assistance as was at their disposal to the visitors, and sought to dissipate the minds of the freedmen of the impression of these lands being given to them by the Government. There are those who have discouraged the freedmen from entering into these contracts, or their absolute and general refusal so to do could not exist. It is the conviction of those who made this visit that, as soon as it is generally understood that the lands will be restored, the freedmen will consent to acknowledge the title of the land-owners, and will contract with them. As onerous as this condition is upon the freedmen, they are still willing to accept it, and in good faith to carry it out. The Freedmen's Bureau have thus given an opportunity, for the first time, to the owner of the land to visit his property, and to confer with those in possession. The notice was given on Monday afternoon to leave the next morning at six o'clock. The owners of the land are dispersed through this State and many of them in Georgia, and in case notice of ten days or a fortnight be given, all who can spare the expense of coming to the city will doubtless do so, and cheerfully avail themselves of the privilege of visiting their ancient homes.

Very little of the island has been cultivated during the past year, and if provisions enough have been thereon produced for the support of the population, it is indeed difficult to perceive it. From the appearance of the neglected surface of the island, one would conclude that the population thereon must be supplied with food for the coming year from abroad. For this they must look to the Government, or to those other than themselves who shall have charge of the lands. The same condition of things presents itself in reference to all the lands in sight of which the traveler passes, in going from Charleston to Edisto Island, to wit: John's Island, James' Island, Wadmalaw Island, and the adjacent main land.
