LATE NEWS.

New Orleans, April 5.—Heavy rains prevail in Louisiana. The races have been suspended until the 7th instant. Some large stables have arrived.

There is a crevasse 300 feet wide above Baton Rouge, and many others, it is feared, are below. The whole country down to Bayou Plaquemine will be submerged. It is feared that the bayou cannot carry off the water, so that it will extend to the Bayou Lafourche, the richest sugarcane lands in Louisiana. Crevasse are feared all over the State. The levee Commissioners are sitting and acting promptly. They will build machinery and a boat after Angam's patent. The contractors and laborers on the new levees have been dispersed. Wheat produces is lively and taken upon arrival. Mrs. Galt's suit is before the District Court. Prosecution and possession from twenty to thirty years is plea at the bar in defence.

In the Methodist Conference, Bishop Kavanaugh presided.

Bishop Early presides to-morrow. The business was sub-divided and Standing Committees appointed. Many new members appeared to-day. There is additional bad news from the crevasse. The heavy rains continue, and the whole country is flooded. New Orleans, April 6.—Crevasse continue to increase and flood the country. The weather is bad, and laborers are unwilling to work. In the Methodist Conference the Baltimore delegation was warmly welcomed. Speeches were made congratulating the Conference on its unity and efficiency. Dr. Deems, of the New York Watchman, said the Church was more vigorous and sound than ever before since the Baltimore Conference repudiated emphatically. The Episcopal address to the same purport was read. The Presbyterian clergy were present, and warmly welcomed.

An agricultural reporter says the people of the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi are planting all the cotton they can, but labor is scarce, and the freedmen are emigrating to the southwest. Corn and wheat are promising. The people are confident and exuberant, believing in a splendid future, and invite labor from the North and West to develop it. The cotton crop is estimated at a million and a half bales. A reporter who is making a tour through Alabama, will return via Tennessee. At Matamoras, on the 30th, the roads were closed and business dull. The Liberals are preparing for another attack.

The Run on the Rochester Banks.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 6.—The bank panic in this city continues. Knapp's private banker, who was not doing a large business in deposits, suspended to-day for want of currency. His friends are confident that he will again soon resume payment. A run has been made all day upon Powers' banking office, but has made no impression. He has plenty of money, and will keep open until 9 o'clock to-night, and again at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning, to satisfy the timid pool. Good business men are depositing freely with him to-day. The panic is regarded as a silly one by the best informed in monetary affairs. ALBANY, April 6.—A dispatch from Rochester says the American Express Company brought here this morning, which about one million was for the banking-house of D. W. Powers. The run upon Mr. Powers is subsiding, and his deposits are equal to what is drawn out. It is now thought that the bank panic is nearly over here.

Marine Disaster.

The Captain and crew were taken from the wreck on the 19th, in the trade 41, longitude 71, by the schooner Winter Bird, Hilton, master, from Boston, for Jamaica, and landed at Turk's Island on the 20th, thence by the brig Fearless, bound to Porto Rico. Mr. Lane, of Kansas, introduced a joint resolution on reconstruction, which was ordered to lie on the table and be printed. The Civil Rights bill was then taken up, and after considerable debate the question was taken: Shall the vote pass notwithstanding the President's objections? upon which the vote stood 33 to 15, and the Chair announced that the bill, having received a two-thirds vote, had passed. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

Resolutions were presented from the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce concerning a Bankrupt Law. A large number of private bills were reported and passed. The Dodge-Brooks case was then taken up; Mr. Brooks concluded his argument, and Mr. Dawes closed the debate, after which the majority report was read, and the resolution declaring the question was taken: Shall the vote pass notwithstanding the President's objections? upon which the vote stood 33 to 15, and the Chair announced that the bill, having received a two-thirds vote, had passed. Adjourned.

The President sent to the House, on the 6th, a message communicating the recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster-General in favor of a certain modification of the test oath, which will enable the Revenue and Postoffice Departments to be more efficiently administered in the Southern States, in response to a Senate resolution on this subject, passed on Tuesday last. Postmaster Denn-o replies that at no time since the report of December last, has any person been permitted to enter upon the duties of any office connected with that Department, or receive any salary or emolument of such office, who did not first take the oath prescribed by acts of Congress, without alteration or explanation.

Fire in New York.

At 4.15 Friday morning, says the Times, a fire broke out in the rear basement attached to Bangs' Dining Saloon, No. 237 Broadway, resulting in the total destruction of the building on Broadway, and the five-story building, corner of Barclay street and Broadway, formerly known as the North American Hotel. The aggregate losses occasioned by this fire are roughly estimated at about $400,000, there being nearly sixty tenements in the buildings destroyed. It is believed that one of the female servants employed in the saloon, and who slept up stairs, has been burned to death, as she has not been seen since the fire broke out. Several other persons sleeping on the premises had very narrow escapes from death by suffocation. About 5 o'clock the same morning another fire broke out in the premises No. 150 Fulton-street, occupied by George C. Richmond, dealer in boots and shoes. Owing to the inflammable nature of the contents, the flames spread with rapidity, and they eventually extended to the adjoining buildings, resulting in the total destruction of Nos. 146, 148, 149, and 150. The flames gained access to the rear of No. 202 Broadway, occupied by the first floor by Knapp & Sniffen, dealers in clothing. This entire building was also totally destroyed. The aggregate losses occasioned by this fire are estimated at $200,000. Nos. 144 and 152 Fulton-street were materially damaged by fire and water, as was No. 200 Broadway.

New York Weekly Cotton Statement.

WEKELY COTTON CIRCULAR OF SETTERS, CHAPMAN & CO. NEW YORK, April 6.

We closed our last weekly report of the cotton market under date of 30th inst. Middling Uplands were rated at 41c. to 41 1/2c.

On Saturday, 31st inst., there was a general disposition to operate, which, however, was checked by the low rate of sterling exchange, occasioned, in a great measure, by the demand for gold from our merchants to cover their short sales, together with no abatement in the excessive amount of Southern cotton bills offering. Cash gold was loaned at 3 1/2 and 1/2 per cent premium from Saturday to Monday. Bankers, consequently, preferred taking advantage of the quick returns for the time, rather than invest in sterling exchange, which was prevented by the sailing of a steamer. The sales, notwithstanding, amounted to 3000 bales at a deduction of 1/2c., say 40 1/2c. for Middling Uplands.
