Emigration to Brazil.

We have urged upon Georgians, who, gloomy and despondent, entertain thoughts of seeking an asylum in foreign lands, to stay at home and aid us in making the best of "the situation." And yet we will not withhold from such as are seriously meditating expatriation, the following interesting information, which we find in a New York journal:

OFFICIAL INFORMATION.
The Imperial Government looks with sympathy and interest on American emigration to Brazil, and is resolved to give the most favorable welcome. Emigrants will find an abundance of fertile land, sugar cane, coffee, tobacco, rice, etc. These lands are situated in the Provinces of Pedro, Santa Catharina, Parana San Paulo, Espirito Santo, Rio de Janeiro, etc., and each emigrant may select his own lands. As soon as the emigrant has chosen his land it will be measured by the Government, and possession given on payment of the price stipulated.

Unoccupied lands will be sold at the rate of 23, 45, 70 or 90 cents per acre (dollar equal to 1,800 reis.) to be paid before taking possession, or sold for terms of five years, the emigrants paying six per cent. interest yearly, and receiving the title of property only after having paid for the land sold.

The laws in force grant in favor of emigrants, such as exemption from import duties on all objects of personal use, implements of trade, and machinery and agricultural implements.

Emigrants will enjoy under the Constitution of the Empire all civil rights and liberties which belong to native born Brazilians.

They will enjoy liberty of conscience in religious matters, will not be persecuted for motives of religion, but they must respect the religion of the State, which is the Catholic.

Emigrants may become naturalized citizens after two years' residence in the Empire, and will be exempt from all military duties except the National Guard (militia) in the municipality.

No slaves can be imported into Brazil from any country whatever.

Emigration of agriculturists and mechanics is the most desired in the Empire.

Good engineers are in demand in the Empire. Some railroads are in construction and others in project, besides many roads to build and rivers to navigate.

Government pays no expense of transportation, settlement, &c.

The Government is in no need of persons for the army and navy.

On sale, at the disposal of emigrants, lands of the best qualities, belonging to private persons.

These lands are suitable for the growth of coffee, sugar cane, cotton, tobacco, rice, Indian corn, &c., and may be obtained in every condition, from virgin forest to that in a complete state of cultivation.

These lands are situated along the rivers of Parahyba, Muriahi and Pomba, the Pedro II. Railroad, and the Union Carriage Road, in the Provinces of Rio de Janeiro and Minas Geraes; along the River Doce, in the Province of Espirito Santo, and on the sea-coast of the Provinces of San Paulo, besides other lands of whose localities I have not received exact information, the price varying from $1.40 to $7 per acre.

The Hartford Times, of Thursday evening, says:

A number of gentlemen interested in the Ketchum failure went to New York on Tuesday evening. They have learned all the facts that could be obtained, and their friends here, to-day, are not hopeful that the house will pay a very large per centage of its indebtedness. One gentleman interested says he would be glad to get fifty cents on the dollar for his claim. Mr. Morris Ketchum (the senior partner) stated to a gentleman, on Wednesday, that he considered himself worth $2,000,000 before the late troubles; and that his splendid farm at Westport, Conn., where he resides, belongs to his wife. He does not own it.

A despatch from Matamoros, by way of New Orleans, says that the Monitor contains the news of several defeats of the Liberals near San Louis and Reblo. Small forces only on both sides were engaged, and the results were unimportant. Many exiled Confederates were in Mexico, and becoming naturalized citizens of the empire.

EXAGGERATED ESTIMATES OF THE WAR CLAIMS OF THE STATES AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.—We have given within the last few days figures which must have greatly soothed the nerves of those who have been looking forward with horror to an immense augmentation of the national debt, when the war claims of various States against the General Government should be sent in and squared up. We are sure some people would not have been astonished had they learned that these claims had added a thousand millions of dollars to the public burdens. But what if it should be found that they have added less than a hundred millions, and much less than a third even of that sum? The semi-official statement, as just published in Washington, sets forth that by the Acts of July 17 and 27, 1861, the Treasury was directed to pay State the "expenses properly incurred by such State for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, supplying, arming, equipping, paying and transporting its troops employed in suppressing rebellion," and that under this Act claims have been filed by the several States in the office of the Third Auditor, as follows:

Pennsylvania	$2,118,412
Michigan	62,992
Connecticut	1,906,331
Kentucky	2,418,408
West Virginia	6,918
New Hampshire	1,319,712
New Jersey	545,225
Kansas	12,851
Maine	1,144,319
Rhode Island	559,190
Minnesota	25,133
Delaware	3,019
Indiana	1,927,867
Ohio	2,089,154
Massachusetts	2,571,760
Iowa	617,572
Wisconsin	1,191,413
Illinois	3,890,632
New York	2,918,933
Vermont	718,996

Of course, it is not to be understood that these figures from twenty of the States are anything but approximately correct, regarding what will be finally audited and allowed. In the cases of some of the States portions of the debt have already been paid, other portions are in dispute, and some accounts are inaccurate or incomplete. But the table, nevertheless, has a public value, in furnishing a very sure indication that the war claims of all the States against the Government are going to form no very formidable addition to the national debt.

[New York Times.]
A well-informed correspondent at Washington writes us that Jefferson Davis will be tried before a civil court, and probably at Richmond, before the United States Circuit Court there.

We have reason to believe, further, that the trial of Davis will not be begun until that of Wirtz is concluded. The friends and counsel of Wirtz hope, it is said, to clear him, by proving that he was acting under the authority and order of Davis and the rebel Secretary of War. If they can produce satisfactory proofs of this, of course that would furnish important testimony for use upon the trial of Davis.

This and other circumstances are likely to postpone the trial of Davis for some months. It is probable that the rebel archives, captured after the surrender of Johnson, and now under Dr. Lieber's charge at Washington, will be thoroughly examined for documentary evidence before the trial is begun. Of course, if Davis is tried in Richmond, a new indictment will have to be drawn and found by the Grand Jury of that district. At present, he has been indicted only in the District of Columbia. The new indictment will probably arraign him on other counts than levying war; it will perhaps contain a count charging him with the slow and deliberate murder of prisoners of war.

An inventory taken by direction of the Chief of Ordnance, of rebel stores captured at Macon, Georgia, by Gen. Wilson, shows 87 pieces of artillery, 10 steam engines, 150 pieces of various kinds of new machinery, a great many nava' stores brought up from Pensacola, together with the books of the Pensacola navy-yard, 60,000 pounds cordage, lighthouse furniture of every kind, 100,000 pounds copper in sheets, bolts and rods, 400 tons bar iron, fresh from John Bull's dominions; immense quantities of chemicals, 10,000 rounds shot and shell, freshly cast; 1,000 tons cast iron, 30,000 stand captured arms, together with a large lot of pistols in process of completion. The estimated value of these stores is $2,000,000.
