

MISCELLANY

The Two Cities.
BY I. B. ALDRICH.

'Twas dusk, and from my window
Upon the street below,
I saw the people passing,
Like shadows, to and fro.

And faintly, very faintly,
I heard the evening din;
And like the dusk without me,
There was a dusk within.

And thoughts, with eager footsteps,
Dim thoughts of joy and pain,
Filled the streets and by-ways of
The City of my Brain.

A passing light and holy,
Like that which softly falls
Through open gates in cloudlets
Upon cathedral walls,

Fell down upon the towers of
The City of my Mind;
My inner sight grew clearer,
My outward vision blind.

Forgotten was the window,
There seemed no street below;
I did not see them passing,
The shadows, to and fro.

A SOUTHERN CANDIDATE'S GARD.
The following announcement of a candidate was found posted on a tree by the roadside and brought to the editor of the Jackson Mississippian, who gave it a gratuitous publication:

Attention, Sovereigns!—Allow me through this medium to introduce myself to your acquaintance as a candidate for Assessor of Taxes of Hinds County. If any one should be so inquisitive as to ask why a man of my gigantic intellect should fly so low, my answer is this: The Feds, in May, 1864, deprived me of my left wing; therefore vaulting ambition must stoop her flight to a level with my capability. Again, should any one wish to know why I do not have printed bills, I would civilly reply that my pocket-book would laugh for a week at the rustle of a greenback, and would never survive the faintest clink of metallic currency.

"I would like very much to call on the dear people, and talk to them face to face; but to effect this, my little school would have to close, and with it my bread and butter.

"Under these circumstances, I hope to be excusable.

"With high regard, I am yours to command.

"J. B. HUGHES."

AN ELOPING COUPLE PURSUED SEVEN THOUSAND MILES.—Capt. Stansbury, late of the St. Louis police force, returned Tuesday evening, having caught, in the city of Quebec, a runaway girl, who eloped with a man from her mother, in Cincinnati, some two months since. The girl was safely returned to her mother by the Captain, who was amply rewarded for his trouble. The Captain informs us that he has traveled over seven thousand miles in pursuit of the fair maid. He said it cost him at least two thousand miles of rail and water travel more than was necessary, owing to the fact that the elopement was prematurely published in the St. Louis papers. The young lady got wind that the Captain was in pursuit while she was in Buffalo, and then commenced a race unparalleled in police annals. The Captain chased her all over the New England States, when he found that the fair fugitive had taken the Canada route. She was then followed to Boonshire Falls, in Canada West; thence to Toronto, Bytown, Trois Rivières and Montreal. The Captain got off the scent of the fugitives on the Grand River, owing to the fact that they left the main lines of travel and took to a raft, descending the river two hundred and fifty miles. At Montreal, the girl's paramour getting tired out, the latter was left behind, when the girl steamed down to Quebec, where she was caught by her persevering pursuer. The girl—who, according to the Captain's statement, "is the prettiest he ever laid his eyes on"—delivered herself up gracefully, and was returned to Cincinnati, to sin no more, it is to be hoped. This was her second elopement, she having tried the experiment once before, and was captured at the Planter's House, in this city, in company with a gambler, by the same officer who re-captured her the second time.

[St. Louis Democrat, Sept. 21.]

Ernest Renan, the author of the Life of Christ, will return to Paris from the East toward the end of this month. In appearance he is of repulsive homeliness, but the extraordinary success of his work, and his great attainments, together with his high refinement and fine social tact, make him a welcome guest in the best circles of Paris. His new work on the Apostles, the result of his recent pilgrimage to Apostolic cradles in Asia Minor, will appear soon after his arrival, and will probably excite much attention. During his travels in the East, he was lionized not only by French and English officials, but also Mohammedans, who respect nobody more than scholars like Renan, who with the erudition of the theologian blend the genius of the poet. The Greek clergy stood almost alone in their opposition to Renan's cordial reception at Athens, when, upon the king and his Danish prime minister offering a most distinguished reception to the French savant, the Greek patriarch protested against it with the greatest solemnity, denouncing Renan's visit to Athens as fatal to the Greek church as the visitation of Lucifer himself.

THE HOLY LAND.—There is an interesting movement now being made in England for the more thorough survey and exploration of Palestine. Ages of civilization lie buried beneath "the holy city," which no proper effort has yet been made to excavate; and the same may be said of a large portion of the land East of the River Jordan. These most interesting regions are filled with mounds, which, when fully opened, will doubtless contribute largely to complete or illustrate the long and varied history of the Jewish people. Enough has already been brought to light to show the importance of such excavations. The expedition now on foot will be a purely scientific and archaeological one; and it is supported by the Archbishop of York, the Bishop of London, and Lords Russell and Derby, with the patronage of the Queen. It will be carried on by men whose tastes and studies have peculiarly fitted them for the work; and the result must not only be a great service to the history of civilization and art, but the reflection of much valuable light upon Holy Scriptures.

MR. RAYNER'S LETTER.—The National Republican, published at Washington city, in its issue of Monday last, says:

The National Republican, of Wednesday, will contain a remarkable letter by the Hon. Kenneth Rayner, of North Carolina, on the State of the Nation.

To the Citizens of South Carolina.
The termination of a sanguinary contest, which for the past four years has presented an impassable barrier to all social or commercial intercourse between the two great sections of our country, having at length happily cleared away all obstacles to a renewal of those relations which formerly bound us together in a fraternal union, I take the earliest opportunity afforded me by this auspicious event, to greet my Southern friends, and to solicit from them a renewal of that extensive business connection which for a quarter of a century has been uninterrupted, save by the great public calamity to which I have adverted.

It is scarcely necessary, on the threshold of a business re-union, I should repeat the warning so often given to my friends—to beware of all those spurious and deleterious compounds which, under the specious and false titles of Imported Wines, Brandies, Holland Gin, Liquors, &c., have been equally destructive to the health of our citizens as prejudicial to the interests of the legitimate importer.

Many years of my past life have been expended in an open and candid attempt to expose these wholesale frauds; no time nor expense has been spared to accomplish this salutary purpose, and to place before my friends and the public generally, at the lowest possible market price, and in such quantities as might suit their convenience, a truly genuine imported article.

Twenty-five years' business transactions with the largest and most respectable exporting houses in France and Great Britain have afforded me unsurpassed facilities for supplying our home market with Wines, Liquors and Liqueurs of the best and most approved brands in Europe, in addition to my own distillery in Holland for the manufacture of the "Schiedam Schnapps."

The latter, so long tested and approved by the medical faculties of the United States, West Indies and South America as an invaluable Therapeutic, a wholesome, pleasant and perfectly safe beverage in all climates and during all seasons, quickly excites the euphony of the home manufacturers and vendors of a spurious article under the same name:

I trust that I here, after much toil and expense, surrounded all my importations with safeguards and directions which, with ordinary circumspection, will insure their delivery, as I receive them from Europe, to all my customers.

I would, however, recommend, in all cases where it is possible, that orders be sent direct to my Depot, 22 Beaver street, New York, or that purchases be made of my accredited agents.

In addition to a large stock of Wines, Brandies, &c., in wood, I have a considerable supply of old tried foreign Wines, embracing vintages of many past years, bottled up before the commencement of the war, which I can especially recommend to all connoisseurs of these rare luxuries.

In conclusion, I would specially call the attention of my Southern customers to the advantage to be derived by transmitting their orders without loss of time, or calling personally at the Depot, in order to insure the fulfillment of their favors from the present large and well selected assortment.
