To-Day and To-Morrow.

BY GERALD MASSEY.

High hopes, that burn like stars sublime, to down the stars of freedom; And true hearts perish in the time, We bitterliest need 'em; But never sit we down and say, "There's nothing else but sorrow;" We walk the wilderness to-day—The promised land to-morrow.

Our birds of song are silent now; There are no flowers blooming;
But life burns in the frozen bough,
And freedom's spring is coming!
And freedom's tide comes up alway,
Though we may stand in sorrow,
And our good bark—aground to-day—
Shall float again to-morrow!

Through all the long, drear night of years,
The people's cry ascended,
And earth is wet with blood and tears
Ere our meek suffering's ended;
The few shall not forever sway,
The many toil in sorrow;
The bars of hell are strong to-day,
But Christ shall rise to-morrow?

Though hearts brood o'er the past, our eyes
With smiling future glisten;
Le! how the day bursts up the shies—
Lean out your souls and listen?
The world rolls freedom's radiant way,
And ripens with our sorrow;
Keep heart! who bears the cross to-day
Shall wear the crown to-morrow!

Oh! youth! flame carnest; still aspire Oh! youth! fame carnest; still aspir
With energies immortal;
To many a heaven of desire
Our yearning opes a portal;
And though age wearies by the way,
And hearts break in the furrow,
We'll sow the golden grain to-day—
The harvest comes to-morrow!

Build up heroic lives, all
Be like the sheathen sabre,
Ready to flash out at God's command—
Oh' chivalry of labor!
Triumph and toil are twined—and aye
Joy suns the clouds of sorrow,
And 'tis the martyrdom to-day
Brings victory to morrow! Brings victory to-morrow:

Jean Paul, in "Hesperus," gives this good humored sarcasm on his own countrymen. we discountrymen. We discountrym to know everything from the beginning onward, very exactly, in royal octavo, without excessive brevity, and with some citata. They furnish an epigram with a preface, and a love madrigal with a table of contents; they determine the zephyr by compass and the heart of a maiden by pass and the heart of a maiden by comic sections; they mark every-thing, like merchants, in black letter, and prove everything, like jurists; their cerebral membranes are living parchments, their legs private surveyor's poles and pedometers; they cut up the veil of the Nine Muses, and apply to the hearts of the damsels turners' compasses and insert guaging rods in their heads."

COMMISSIONER IN EQUITY.

Office in rear of the Court House.

For State Treasurer.

The new Constitution having consolidated the offices of Treasurer of the Upper and Lower Divisions into one Department, the friends of WM. J. LAVAL, Esq., respectfully present him as a Candidate for State Treasurer, being well convinced from their knowledge of his integrity, financial ability, long experience and familiarity with the fiscal affairs of the State, and the laws and regulations appertaining thereto, that he will discharge the duties of such a position to the best interests of the State, and the entire satisfaction of the people. His friends think this public announcement is proper, as the supporters of other Candidates have adopted this course. Nov 3 2

The friends of Dr. A. N. TALLEY nominate him as a candidate for Mayor at the ensuing election in April next. Nov 2 *

For Congress.

Dn. R. C. GRIFFIN, of Edgefield, is announced as a candidate for CONGRESS from the Third Congressional District, composed of the Districts of Abbeville, Edgefield, Newberry, Fairfield, Lexington, Richland and Orangeburg. Oct 28 7*

For District Judge.

The friends of W. B. JOHNSTON, Esq., who has so efficiently filled the office of Ma-gistrate for the District of Richland, respectfully recommend him to the Legislature as a suitable gentleman to fill the new office created by the State Convention. He is well known throughout the State, and for the past eight months has filled a judicial station with the utmost satisfaction to all parties. MEMBERS OF THE BAR.

Burning of the Museum.

LETTER FROM MR. BARNUM.

Messas. Herring & Co.—Gentlement.

Though the destruction of the American Museum has proved a serious loss to myself and the public. I am happy to verify the old adage, that "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and, consequently, congratulate you that your well known safes have again demonstrated their superior fire-proof qualities in an ordeal of unusual severity.

The safe you made for me some time ago was in the office of the Museum, on the second floor, back part of the building, and in the hottest of the fire.

After twenty-four hours of trial, it was found among the debris, and en opening it this day has yielded up its contents in very good order—books, papears, policies of insurance, bank bills, all in condition for immediate use, and a noble commentary on the trustworthiness of Herring's Fire-Proof Safe. Yours truly, P. T. BARNUM. LETTER FROM MR. BARNUM.
