TEXAS SUGAR.—The Houston Telegraph of the 1st ult., says:

A sample of new sugar, from the plantation of Col. James Campbell, near Columbia, has been handed us by Mr. Sessums. It is considerably above the ordinary grade of Texas sugars, and in fact, a fine article. We regret to learn that Col. Campbell's crop is a light one this year.

Texas flour is now selling for six dollars in specie in this city. The cause of the rise in the prices is the limited amount of Northern flour imported from New Orleans. Those merchants who shipped St. Louis flour here a few months ago, lost money in the speculation, and we are glad of it, for Northern Texas can supply the whole State with as good an article as any manufacturer in St. Louis—besides, the money paid home producers benefits the whole State, while that paid to New Orleans merchants never comes back here, and goes to enrich St. Louis millers. We are in favor of the encouragement of home industry.

GOVERNMENT JAIL DELIVERY.—It is said that the President has ordered the discharge of such prisoners at the Old Capital as were arrested by the detective Baker, and who have been confined there a length of time, without any charges being made against them. We are glad to record this action, and trust the Executive will take similar action upon all the places where such prisoners are held. It is not gratifying to the American people to know that any detective has the power to arrest people and confine them at his mere will, for even a short time, much less for a length of time, without making any charges against them. Nor is it consistent with our American ideas of justice that a man should be allowed to act in that way without being held to accountability.—Philadelphia Ledger.
