The storm that wrecks the wintry sky, No more disturbs their deep repose, Than summer evening's latest sigh That shuts the rose.

I long to lay this painful head, And aching heart, beneath the soil: To slumber in that dreamless bed From all my toil.

The grave, that never spoke before, Hath found at length a tongue to chide; O listen !- I wilt speak no more :-Be silent, pride!

Art thou a mourner? hast thou known The joy of innocent delights, Endearing days for ever flown And tranquil nights?

O live! and deeply cherish still The sweet remembrance of the past Rely on Heaven's unchanging will For peace at last.

Though long of winds and waves the sport. Condemned in wretchedness to roam; Live! thou shalt reach a sheltering port, A quiet home.

Seek the true treasure, seldom found, Of power the fiercest griefs to calm, And soothe the bosom's deepest wound With heavenly balm. Whate'er thy lot-Where'er thou be-

Confess thy folly-kiss the rod; And in thy chastening sorrows see The hand of God. A bruised reed He will not break;

Afflictions all His children feel: He wounds them for His mercy's sake; He wounds to heal! Humbled beneath His mighty hand, Prostrate, His providence adore: Tis done! arise! He bids thee stand, To fall no more.

Now, traveller in the vale of tears; v To realms of everlasting light, Through Time's dark wilderness of years Pursue thy flight.

There is a calm for those who weep, A rest for weary pilgrims found, And while the mouldering ashes sleep Low in the ground

God's glorious image freed from clay, In heaven's eternal sphere shall shine

The sun is but a spark of fire. A transient meteor in the sky; The soul, immortal as its Sire,

For the Farmers.

Farmers' Wives.

riadly give room to the following extract, a nation's wealth and prosperity, and by their serve cotton then, from this cause of deterioravote and influence can, at any moment, decide tion, would be to plant the seed as uniformly of its destiny. Farmers' wives occupy a position one kind as possible, and ar far from neighborof corresponding importance in our own country's history; they are and have been the mothers of the men whom our nation delights to honor—whose voice of wisdom and warning is heard in our nation's councils. Lebanon, shorn of its stately cedars, would be her sad emblem, were stately cedars, would be her sad emblem, were large to the search of our nation of the search of the sear stately cedars, would be her sad emblem, were haps never recover their full vigor. And should our land bereaved of our patriotic and heroic men whose early youth was associated with rural scenes, with woods and streams, and the bird voices that fill the air with melody. But the sweet voice that stilled the cry of infancy; the sweet voice that stilled the cry of infancy; the state half the later of prayer: kind hand that led them to the altar of prayer; pick fully as early as that planted a mouth earlithe counsels that conducted them in the paths er; and this advantage would also be gained, of wisdom; the influence that developed their that the ground would be broke or at least bed-moral nature—these were the pledges and pres-sage of their future greatness. The wives of our farmers, whose thrift and industry have secured for their husbands a competency, whose intelli- a very important function to the young plant, gence is the light of the social circle, and whose and should they be injured by frost or cold, the plety is the guardian of domestic peace, are emphatically "the mothers of our men." A failure live, as a child born at six, seven or eight months in the country, with all the opportunities of success, away from all the moral contaminations of a crowded city, amid the free, refreshing winds. among all that is pure and poetic in nature, amid all that is suggestive of truth and beauty, and all that is bountiful and beautiful in agricu! tural pursuits and success-rightly to train up children, should awaken the voice of instructive warning. There may have been no failure in accumulating wealth, none in making home beautiful and tasteful to the eye; but the failure has been where it is most fatal-in training the heart been where it is most fatal—in training the heart other articles, of the following: and directing the footsteps of childhood. There French China, newest shapes—Plain White, Gold Band may have been lavish expenditure to gratify fashion and perverted taste, but little care to develope the intellect and train the heart. There may have been great expense to teach children to sing, to play and dance well, but none to Cut, Moulded and Plain Glassware of every variety.

make them useful, virtuous and happy. Hence Oil, Lard, Fluid and Pine Oil Hanging, Desk, Parl the failure, and the need of warning. There is a tendency in these days of wealth and luxury among our farmers, to imitate the ostentation of fashionable city life. We wage no war against refinement. We are not averse to the elegancies of life; but to train up our daughters only to shine in the parlor, to play the guitar and speak correctly the French accent, and our sons to despise the honest toil of the husbandman, to feel that they must aspire to a profession, if they would become men; this is a sin not to pass uneebuked. Our fathers, who laid the foundation of our nation's greatness, were the humble tillers of the soil; and many who have plowed the field fairs of state, to hold converse with the muse, or to sweep with a Milton's hand the harp strings.

Our mothers, whose names and heroic deeds are immortal, cultivated the domestic virtues, plied mer's wives, who are blessed with children, for the men of strong frames, of iron nerves and heroic hearts, to accomplish our nation's destiny.

Let them not be recreant to their high trust .-

If they fall, to whom shall we look for the men

the ark of God, and train the coming generation for usefulness in the blessedness in heaven.

> From the Recorder Supplement. Degeneration of Cotton, Anonymous.

Messrs. Editors: I sent you a boll, in 13 seed, of which two were large white Mexican, two Pe tit Gulf, and the rest to me unknown.

In 1808, (cotton was 30 a 37 cents per lb., cotton bolls were small and the seed green, and to which the lint adhered tenaciously. A hand could pick on a fair average 50 lbs. per day. A gin that could gin 600 lbs, a day was sought after at any price, and waggoned 150 or 200 miles. In those days was discussed the perpetuity of Whitney's patent.

Now (1853) cotton has grown much larger, the seed no longer the little green seed, but their name is legion. The bolls are large, 100 to the lb., and in the case of the boll I sent you 30 to the lb. The staple is superior in length, strength and fineness-a fair average, like the above 150 lbs. or three to one can be picked in a day.

Mr. William Seabrook for many years sold his best cotton for one dollar a pound, and Mr. -has sold his at $1.40 per lb. Mr. Seabrook went through his fields sampling them, and selected his seed from such stalks as bore cotten of the description that brought $1 per lb; and after the seed were picked out, they were again selectedi. e. all those seed not free from leaves, a tuft at the small or bud end, were rejected, (being hybridized.)

Sea Island, or Black Seed cotton, raised out of the immediate vicinity of the ocean, is 50 per cent advance on its own price inferior to that on the islands surrounded by salt water. Cotton grown on the islands is very different in close proximity; a road may divide two fields, the cotton from one of which may be worth 20 cts. from the other $1 per lb.

In Mississippi, $5 per boll, even $2.50 per single seed has been given for cotton seed.
In our cotton fields, from the same seed, many varieties of cotton are growing. From the above facts we conclude that cotton has improved in the last forty years, and that it is susceptible of much greater improvement.

In all plants, it is necessary to their perfect ing their seed, and consequently reproducing a healthy, flourishing offspring, that it should be cultivated in such a manner, and in such soil and climate as is most congenial to it.

Should cotton seed be brought from a distance, or that grown on the spot used, supposing it to be of the same kind of seed! If the seed be carefully guarded from hybridization, the seed raised at home would be preferable, because it is acclimated and naturalized -that is to say, if it were brought from a colder country, it would sprout too early in spring and come to maturity too early in the fall, and vice versa. Because, if the cotton raised from good seed degenerates be-low the standard of the Cotton from which it was obtained, it shows that it has degenerated from one of the causes mentioned above, and that it would not do as well as home selected seed. In connection with which I will quote from an Essay on the Soils, &c., of the State of Georgia, by J. R. Cotting, p. 110, (many copies of which valuable work can be bought in Milledgeville at the price of waste paper.)

"A very rich deposit of decomposed vegetable matter, part of which has been in cultivation many years, but almost every vegetable, particularly cotton, blaws, mildews, or rusts, that is planted on it." Then follows the cause and

PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice-the Solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox. thus forming an ARTIFICIAL DIGESTIVE FLUID, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a COM-PLETE and PERFECT SUBSTITUTE for it. By the aid of this prepriation, the pains and evils of INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA are removed, just as they would be by a healthy Stonach. It is doing wonders for Dyspeptics, turing cases of DEBILITY, EMACIATION, NERVOUS DECLINE, and DYSPEPTIC CONSUMPTION, supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree CURIOUS and REMARKA

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE: BARON LIEBIG in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says . "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastric Juice may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of
