MONTGOMERY Nov. 1 .-- The frost, which we had the pleasure of announcing as having occurred here on Monday night of last week seems to have gone the rounds. Our exchange papers from all sections of the South, except in some localities, where no fear of yellow fever prevailed, and the destruction of the young cot ton is deplored. We have had here every morning frosts for about a week, and a prother weather we have never seen at this season of the year .- Guzelle.

LOLA MONTEZ.-A California Correspon dent of the Na-hville Gazette gives an account of the recent doings of Mrs. Patrick P. Hall, nou Maria Heald, Countess de Lansfeldi, alias Lola Montez. She was recently arrested for assault and battery, and heavily fined. It appeared on her trial, that she, becoming enraged at her Chinese servant, siezed him by his long tail of hair, tied it to the door knob, and slapped his rice masticating jaws most unmercifully. She had the poor fellow "tight," as he could not jerk loose unless he scalped himself. Af ter the perpetration of this feat, the quondam Countess still further "attonished the natives" by mining a whole day, in a corduroy Bloomer costume. To cap the climax of her cocentri cities, Lola has saed for a separation from her husband, after but a few months, and sought the protection of a handsome caballero. Her assigned reasons for this course, the correspondent says, are not for cars polite. Lola is a "brick" no mistake.
