

THE HEART'S GUESTS.

When age has cast its shadows
O'er life's declining way,
When evening twilight gathers
Round our retiring day,
Then shall we sit and ponder
On the dim and shadowy past,
In the heart's silent chamber
The guests will gather fast:

Guests that in youth we cherished
Shall come to us once more,
And we shall hold communion
As in the days before.
They may be dark and sombre,
They may be bright and fair,
But the heart will have its chamber
And the guests will gather there.

How shall it be, my sisters,
Who shall be our heart's guests?
How shall it be my brothers,
When life's shadow on us rests?
Shall we not mid the silence
Hear voices sweet and low,
Speak the old familiar language,
The words of long ago?

Shall we not see dear faces
Sweet smiling as of old;
Till the mists of that lone chamber
Are sunset clouds of old?
When age has cast its shadows
O'er life's declining way,
And evening twilight gathers
Round our retiring.

From the Southern Patriot.

We do not wonder that the memorable battle of Palo Alto, and Resaca de la Palma, have excited the utmost attention, and a high degree of admiration, abroad. We anticipated most of the encomiums which have been bestowed on our troops for their daring and heroic actions on the eight and ninth of May. We felt confident that a nation like England, one of the distinguishing characteristics of whose people is bravery, would appreciate and admire the feats of prowess performed by our gallant men. We felt confident too that the despatches of Gen. Taylor, would commend themselves to the favor of all. The singularly modest tone in which they were written, this good sense and excellent judgement which characterized and distinguished them, all have received at the hands of the English, a degree of appreciation honorable to them, and flattering to us.

Some of our exchange papers have been informed by passengers who came over in the Britannia, that the details of both battles were read in England, with a degree of interest approaching to enthusiasm; and in confirmation of what we have written above we append the following article from the London Morning Chronicle.

"Nil admirari.—Such is the motto of Great Britain in respect to the great deeds of America. She views them coldly, quietly, and without either wonder or emotion. She is as little surprised at their occurrence as the mathematician is astounded at the accuracy of his own calculations. She sees her way both to them and through them, and would have been more surprised had they turned otherwise than they have done.

"The feats on the Rio Grande have been gallant and successful. No man in England doubts it. No man in England suggests even a second interpretation of them, nor cares about refining upon their natural significations. We admit, without reservation, that they exhibit some important facts, and that to some extent, viz: the transcendent merits of the American army, the strategic skill of the officers, the impetuous energy of the soldiers, the considerate forbearance of the sutlers. For any exception that we take to his conduct, General Taylor may deserve a triumph, and Captain Ringgold the honors of an ovation. They have fought well, and kept up a character which was before high enough to be independent of either bravado or exaggeration. More than that, they have just done what we expected, and what we foretold they would do. Who so dear to us as the man who fulfils our prophecies?

The Mexicans themselves are not dishonored. Let those who think lightly of American courage attribute the successes in question to the weakness of their enemy, rather than to the valor of their conquerors. We reject the alternative. America won the fight through her own inherent heroism. The cause was gained by the strength of the one rather than by the weakness of the other.

"Such is the fact—a fact probably admitted through the whole length and breadth of Great Britain; by the Gael and Welshman, as well as the consanguineous Anglo-Saxon."

St. JUAN D'ULLOA.—In reference to the statement published yesterday, the N. Y. Journal of Commerce remarks as follows:—

"In our opinion, it would be all but a miracle if the American fleet now in the Gulf, even if they were all concentrated, (which they cannot be without interrupting the blockade of the other ports,) should capture the fortress of D'Ulloa, strengthened as it now is at every point. The whole squadron does not mount as many guns as the fortress; and would have to present wooden walls against walls of stone. No; if Ulloa is to be bombarded, (and we don't see why it should be at present,) let at least three ships of the line, of the heaviest metal, join the squadron before the attempt is made. Otherwise we shall expect a failure. Our tars naturally think they can do as much as the French, with an equal number of guns: and so they can, and more besides. But four times the number of guns employed by the French in 1838, would not capture the fortress now, as easily as it was then captured, if at all.

A Washington letter in the New York Journal of Commerce, speaking of the Indians at present in Washington says:—

On Wednesday they visited for the first time, the Capitol, remained for a short time in the Galleries of the Senate and House of Representatives, beheld with wonder the paintings and statuary, and more than everything besides were delighted with the colored prints in the Library from Mr. Catlin's portraits and scenes of Indian Life. As they gazed upon the Buffalo hunts, upon the groups of wild horses and wolves, and upon the various Indian warriors in their own costumes, and aimed the scenes of their own distant homes, they could not restrain their emotions, and for the first time men, women, and even the youths present, fell into an animated conversation, (pointing out to each other what most interested them in the different groups,) and for the moment seemed restored to the wild prairies or hills of Texas. They were much pleased, not only with the large paintings in the rotunda, but also with the portraits of General Jackson, the President, and other distinguished persons by Mr. Healy. Among them is an admirable picture of General Houston himself, at which they laughed heartily.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS AT MATAMORAS.—A weekly paper has been commenced at Matamoras by H. McLeod, entitled "a Republic of the Rio Grande and Friend of the People." The leading articles are printed both in English and Spanish. The purpose is to convince the people of Tamaulipas, Coahuila, New Leon and Chihuahua, of the futility of resisting American arms and to throw upon the Administration of Paredes the responsibility of the war. A separation of the Departments named above from the Central Government of Mexico, is the distinct aim of this new paper.

A prospectus for another new paper has been issued at Matamoras by Messrs. Bangs & Lewis, called the "Rio Grande Herald."

THE BIBLE IN ITALY.—Italy is becoming more and more accessible to evangelical efforts. The Bible can now be circulated, and the Grand Duke of Tuscany has recently consented to the publication of the Scriptures in his domain.

I positively never knew a man in the country too poor to take a newspaper; yet many respectable persons read no papers but that they borrow; as I speak generally, I hope to offend no one. If I do, the greater the necessity to speak on. Every man is able conveniently to take a paper. How many who think themselves too poor to take a paper, pay as much daily for trifles.

TO CLEANSE THE TEETH AND IMPROVE THE BREATH.—To four ounces of fresh prepared water, add one drachm of Peruvian Bark, and wash the teeth with this water morning and evening, before breakfast and after supper. It will effectually destroy the tartar on the teeth and remove the offensive smell arising from those that are decayed.

VELVET CAKES.—To one quart of flour put a pint of warm milk, and a gill of yeast; stir it well; then set it in a warm place to rise for two hours; then work into it two large tablespoonfuls of melted butter, or beef dripping; flour your hands well, and make it in small cakes; rub a bit of butter over a pan, and lay them in; dip your hands in milk, and pass it over the tops of them; and bake in a quick oven.

MOLASSES POSSET.—Put in a saucepan a pint of sugar-house molasses, a teaspoonful of powdered ginger, and a quarter of a pound of fresh butter. Simmer it over hot coals for an hour, stirring it frequently. Then stir into it the juice of two lemons, two teaspoonfuls of brown sugar; boil the whole for five minutes longer. This is an excellent preparation to relieve colds, and is also particularly serviceable to persons subject to constipation.

DR. HULL'S

Vegetable Fever and Ague and Anti-Fever Pills.

Among all the advertised remedies of the day for ague and Fever, or Chill and Fever, none seem to meet with such rapidity of sale and give so much general satisfaction, as Dr. Hull's celebrated Pills. Wherever they have been introduced, all tonics in whatever shape, all mixtures and Pills and preparations of every character, designed for this disease, have been discarded, and Dr. Hull's Ague Pills have been received as the only permanent cure.

They stop the Chills and Fever the first day, and do not sicken the stomach or operate on the bowels. Young children and persons of all ages, sexes, and conditions may use these Pills, not only with safety, but with the certainty of success.

Judge Forrest of Jonesboro, Ala, was cured of a severe and obstinate case of Chills, with only half a box, after two physicians had exhausted all their skill.

Ma Lewis Covin, of Abbeville Dis. S. C., says he has sold several boxes of Hull's Pills, and never knew them to fail curing the chills and fever in a single instance.

Mr Wm S Mills, of Abbeville Dis, S. C., certifies that his wife was cured of an obstinate case of chills and fever of twelve months standing with only half a box of Hull's Pills; and also says his little daughter was cured of the chills and fever of 6 months standing with the remainder of the same box.

We might give scores of references and certificates, but we refer the reader to our agents, where they may obtain a pamphlet (gratis) giving a full description of the medicine and its manner of use. Price, $1 per box with directions.

Dr. Hull's Cough Lozenges.

Every family in the United States should keep a supply of Dr. Hull's Cough Lozenges in the house, not only as a preventive medicine against the consumptive tendencies of the climate, but as an effectual remedy in all cases of Coughs, Colds, Spitting of Blood, night Sweats, difficulty of breathing, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Emaciation and General Debility. Remember that this medicine is not a mere palliative, but is all powerful in removing all diseases of the Chest and Lungs, leading to Consumption and death. Price 25 cts per box.

Dr. Hull's Worm Lozenges

Are a preparation that never fail to remove Worms from children or adults.

Children will cry for them, and eat them as they would candy. We suggest to all parents having children whom they suspect of being troubled with worms to give these Lozenges a trial. The fact of their having cured upwards of forty thousand cases, puts their efficiency beyond doubt. Price 25 cts per box.

Please remember the name and get Dr. Hull's Lozenges, as no others before the public contain the virtues of his medicine.

The above Medicines are for sale at the Drug Store of

DRS. WARDLAW & DENDY.

And at the Post Office by
