

THE BUILDERS.

BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.

Nothing useless is, or low;
Each thing in its place is best;
And what seems but idle show,
Strengthens and supports the rest.

For the structure that we raise,
Time is with materials filled;
Our to-days and yesterdays,
Are the blocks with which we build.

Truly shape and fashion these;
Leave no yawning gaps between;
Think not, because no man sees,
Such things will remain unseen.

In the elder days of Art,
Builders wrought with greatest care
Each minute and unseen part;
For the Gods are everywhere.

Let us do our work as well,
Both the unseen and the seen;
Make the house, where gods may
Beautiful, entire and clean. [dwell

Else our lives are incomplete,
Standing in these walls of Time;
Broken stair-ways, where the feet
Stumble as they seek to climb.

Build to-day then, strong and sure,
With a firm and ample base;
And ascending and secure,
Shall to-morrow find its place.

Thus alone can we attain
To those turrets where the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain,
And one boundless reach of sky.

The following cogent exhortation, which we find in the St. Louis Reveille, will answer for any election:—

THE CRISIS HAS ARRIVED.
FELLOW CITIZENS.—The crisis is here! catch hold of it, Whig or Loco! Hunker or Barnburner!

"That is the question." Which is which and what says the people?

Shoemakers, cast your awl in the contest—let your soles swell with the importance of the occasion; let the end of this struggle be the upper most object of your ambition—now is the last chance.

Tailors, it seems you have ever clung to the skirts of Liberty—as you love cabbage, stand by it now!—Peel'd be the recreant who would not flap his coattails in despair.

Plasterers, put on the rough coat of your integrity, and the country is safe.

Bricklayers, to the poles! let your front stretchers be true men—draw a partition wall between you and corruption—at the cry mort! move upwards.

Carpenters, yours is a path, and your rule, as heretofore, should be to—chalk cut—saw—and go through it!

Typos, stick to your motto on this great occasion—remember "the proof of the pudding is in the eating"—batter the firms of the enemy, or they will squabble the Constitution.

Now, boys, are you ready? Remember you are on the threshold—one step and the fray commences. The throbbing pulse of unborn posterity will not beat until this momentous contest is decided! Upon you depends the decision—stand ready!—Go!—Now, boys, don't be afraid!

LUCIUS SEMPTONIUS SLAP.

An eastern paper says:—The greatest case of love is that of a youth in Kentucky, who got into a hollow tree, where he lived a whole week, peeping through a knot-hole at his lady-love, as she sat sewing bearskin petticoats at her window.

A gentleman who has occasion to walk with two ladies and one umbrella, should always go in the middle—that secures a dry coat to himself, and is showing no partiality to either of the ladies.

An exchange paper says it is as hard to tell where moderate drinking ends and drunkenness begins, as it is to tell when a pig ceases to be a pig and becomes a hog.

A Judge in Kentucky has decided that a dandy is a nuisance.

"There is a fable among the Hindoos that a thief, having been detected and condemned to die, thought upon an expedient by which he might be rescued from death. He sent for the jailor, and told him he had a secret to disclose to the King, and when he had done so he would be ready to die. The King sent for him to know what the secret was. He told him he knew the art of producing trees that should bear gold. The King, accompanied by his prime ministers, courtiers, and priests, came with the thief to a certain spot, where they began their incantations. The thief then produced a piece of gold, declaring that if sown it would produce a tree, every branch of which should bear gold: "But," added he, "this must be put into the ground by a person perfectly honest. I am not so, and therefore pass it to your Majesty." The King replied—"When I was a boy, I remember taking something from my father, which, although a trifle, prevents my being the proper person. I pass it, therefore, to my prime ministers." The latter said—"I receive the taxes of the people, and, as I am exposed to many temptations, how can I be perfectly honest? I therefore give it to the priests." The priest pleaded the same as to his conduct in receiving the sacrifices. At length the thief exclaimed—"I know not why we should not all four be hanged, since not one of us is honest." The King was so pleased at the ingenuity of the thief that he granted him a pardon."

THE WAY TO GET A TEN-STRIKE.—Those who are not so well versed in the mystery of Ten-Pins, or the way to get a Ten-Strike, will learn something by the following, or at least, in what light Elder Knapp, of Boston holds the practice:—

Elder Knapp, who is as great an original as he is an eloquent exhorter, on Sunday last in Boston, addressed a large congregation on the immortal tendencies of "theatres and bowling saloons." The bowling saloons received a grand share of condemnation, and were used in a figurative sense, by the Elder's saying that the devil was rolling ten-pins, and the little devils setting them up; that the devil rolled three balls, the first of which was Infidelity, the second Universalism, and the third the ball of Damnation. The first ball got generally from one to three pins, the second from five to seven, and the third (Damnation) swept the whole board, and got a ten-strike.

THE OREGON TREATY.—The Pennsylvanian says—

"James S. Wallace, Esq., one of the Editors of the North American, left this city yesterday, being summoned to Washington in relation to the publication of the Oregon Treaty. Mr. Graham having returned home discharged, because he knew "nothing about it."

In addition to the above, we find the following in an exchange paper:

"Mr. Graham, the editor of the North American, and who published the Oregon Treaty and Correspondence, has been before the committee appointed by the Senate, of which Mr. Yulee is the chairman. He testified that the document was sent to him anonymously, and that, believing it to be genuine, and Lord Palmerston having expressed himself as satisfied with the arrangement, he gave it publicity. Nothing further can be done with him, and so the matter ends."

There is a sentiment as beautiful as just, contained in the following lines.

He who forgets the fountain from which he drank and the tree under whose shade he gambled in the days of his youth, is a stranger to the sweetest impression of the human heart.

Friendship, says Byron, is a dangerous word for young ladies; it is love, full fledged, and waiting for a fine day to fly.

How to GET RICH.—Almost every body wants this information. It is comprised in this advice.

"Be economical, be industrious, attend to your own business, never take great hazards, don't be in a hurry for wealth, never do business for the sake of doing it, and do not love money extravagantly.

A SMALL PRESENT.—"I will give you my head!"—exclaimed a person to Montesquieu. "If every word of the story I have related is not true.

"I accept your offer, said the president, "presents of so small a value strengthen the bonds of friendship, and should never be refused."

DEATH OF A VOLUNTEER.—Caleb J. McNulty, a private in the Ohio Volunteers, died on Saturday, the 11th inst., near Memphis, on board the steamer Jamestown, and was entered with all military honors at Helena, Ark., on the 12th inst.

When love assumes the shape of tears, beware! Remember, it's the warmth of summer days that causes the showers.

A New Zealand chief maintained that he had a good title to his land, because he had eaten the former owner of it.

DR. HULL'S
Vegetable Fever and Ague and Anti Fever Pills.

Among all the advertised remedies of the day for ague and Fever, or Chill and Fever, none seem to meet with such rapidity of sale and give so much general satisfaction, as Dr Hull's celebrated Pills. Wherever they have been introduced, all tonics in whatever shape, all mixtures and Pills and preparations of every character, designed for this disease, have been discarded, and Dr. Hull's Ague Pills have been received as the only permanent cure.

They stop the Chills and Fever the first day, and do not sicken the stomach or operate on the bowels. Young children and persons of all ages sexes, and conditions may use these Pills, not only with safety, but with the certainty of success.

Judge Forrest of Jonesboro, Ala, was cured of a severe and obstinate case of Chills, with only half a box, after two physicians had exhausted all their skill.

Ma Lewis Covin, of Abbeville Dis. S. C., says he has sold several boxes of Hull's Pills, and never knew them to fail curing the chills and fever in a single instance.

Mr Wm S Mills, of Abbeville Dis, S. C., certifies that his wife was cured of an obstinate case of chills and fever of twelve months standing with only half a box of Hull's Pills; and also says his little daughter was cured of the chills and fever of 6 months standing with the remainder of the same box.

We might give scores of references and certificates, but we refer the reader to our agents, where they may obtain a pamphlet (gratis) giving a full description of the medicine and its manner of use. Price, $1 per box with directions.
