

even fifty Indians from various tribes, were all kept in order, and all provided for.— Forced to live upon the country, and to take beef and horses for subsistence and remounts (some hundreds of ours having perished of hunger and of the cold and heavy rains,) yet he so managed his levies of supplies as to leave no resentments behind, always giving certificates to the friendly and orderly whose property was required to be paid at the place, and only taking without certificates, supplies from those absent in arms." *N. A TROPHY—SANTA ANNA'S CORK LEG.—The brig Shamrock has brought over from Vera Cruz a trophy of the victory of Cerro Gordo more significant of the issue of the battle than any previous one we have seen. We allude to the cork leg of Gen. Santa Anna which he left behind in his carriage when he mounted one of his mules and sought safety in flight. It tells how eminent he thought the risk of capture and how nearly he was circumvented in the fight. It is described to us as a very elegant piece of work, worthy to be worn by a more valiant man than its owner. It belongs now to Company G, 4th regiment Illinois Volunteers, who took the travelling carriage of the Mexican General, and is in the especial charge of A. Walden of said company. We venture to say this piece of cork will be treated with much more respect by the Illinois boys, than was the limb it was designed to replace by the Mexican populace.

We heard a gentleman, fresh from the theatre of war, relate an anecdote of Gen. Taylor. One of the Illinois regiments was thrown into rather close proximity with a Mexican battery, and the balls were flying tolerably thick and rather close—so close at least, as to induce the boys to dodge occasionally. Old Rough was sitting astride of his old grey, and being in a position to see the dodging, cried out, "gentlemen, no dodging—it'll become a soldier to dodge." Old Rough's grey horse presented a fair mark, and as the enemy had learned his whereabouts because of his old charger, a very brisk fire was opened upon the grey horse. It is said the balls passed around old Rough promiscuously, and the thing was becoming quite too hot even for him. At last a ball passed so near the old man's cheek as to cause him to throw his head to an opposite direction with a celerity not at all characteristic of old Rough's plodding habits; it was thought the old fellow was dodging—the movement of his head was noticed by some of the Illinoisians and a hearty laugh broke out from the boys. Old Rough straightened himself up in his stirrups and said, "dodge the balls, gentlemen, but no running."—Miss. Advocate.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—At the opening of the Assembly, on the 24th ult. the Rev. Harvey F. Leavitt, from the General Convention of Vermont, made an interesting statement of the condition of the Church in the precincts of the Convention. In concluding his statement, Mr. L. briefly referred to the question of slavery, and the sentiments with regard to it of the religious community he represented. He said that as men, and as Christians, they were generally anti-slavery in their opinions—they had always been, and must continue so; because it could not be otherwise. In the very air from their mountains, they inhaled the breath of freedom.—Slavery could not live there. But, said Mr. L., we have as little sympathy as you, sir, (addressing himself to Dr. Thornwell, the moderator of the meeting,) can have with the ultra Abolitionists, who are found at the North. We repudiate the violent spirit they indulge. Nor do we claim, said Mr. L., to interfere with State institutions, or to disturb the rights of our brethren of the South in any respect. All that we claim is that we may, in an ecclesiastical and Christian sense, speak of slavery mutually among ourselves, and if we speak wrong, we ask all our brethren to remind us of it, and pledge ourselves in the spirit of brethren to correct ourselves. We are all, said he, engaged in a common cause—all travelling the same road in the same hope of eternal happiness in Heaven—and we must not fall out by the way. God forbid that we should!" Southern Chronicle.

DEATH OF MARIA LOUISA.—This Princess formerly the wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, died recently in one of the small States of Italy. She was remarkable only for the distinction, which has been well said, of being the daughter of a powerful emperor, the queen of another still more powerful, and the mother of a king.

IDLE DAUGHTERS.—It is a most painful spectacle in families where the mother is dressed, reclining at their ease, with their drawing, their music, their fancy work, and their reading, beguiling themselves of the lapse of hours, days and weeks, and never dreaming of their responsibilities; but as a necessary consequence of neglect of duty, growing weary of their useless lives, laying hold of every newly invented stimulant to arouse their drooping energies, and blaming their fate, when they dare not blame their God, for having placed them where they are.

These individuals will often tell you, with affected compassion, (for who can be so?) that poor dear mamma is quite in the way to death. Yet no one would be so foolish as to say that they should assist in her death.

her element; in short, that she would never be happy if she had only half as much to do.—Mrs. Ellis.

Good.—A son of Erin, just arrived in this land of plenty, being in want, ventured to solicit a little aid from a person whose external appearance seemed to indicate that he could easily afford it. He was, however, rudely repulsed with a "Go to hell." Pat looked at him in such a way as to fix his attention, and meekly replied, "God bless your honor for your civility, for you're the first jittleman's invited me to his father's house since I come to the land."—Albany Journal.

DISGUISE OF SEX FOR A LIFE TIME.—One of the Foreign papers relates the following singular case as a fact: "There died at Brussels, says the Home Journal, a person who had long been in the employ of the Minister of France, known by the name of Thomas de Croismare, and sixty-eight years old at the time of his decease. At the washing of the body previous to interment, it was discovered to be that of a female. Croismare was a lieutenant at the battle of Moskowa, and was wounded at the battle of Waterloo in the shoulder and mouth. After giving up her commission, she entered into civil life, held an office in the custom-house, and was book keeper to two different merchants. In the service of the Minister of France, subsequently, she had risen to a post of considerable trust.

In social life she was esteemed for her talents in poetry and music, playing admirably on the violincello, and giving lessons gratuitously to several friends. It was thought to be a nervous peculiarity that she was uneasy and annoyed if any one fixed his eyes on her very attentively, and her walk was thought to be rather cavalier.—Thomas de Croismare was particularly gallant in attention to women, and at one time made propositions of marriage to a young lady of Brussels, who fortunately declined the proffered hand.

States.

Cotton Press. We offer to the citizens of Abbeville and the adjoining Districts, our improved SWINGING FULCRE PRESS. The invention was not the result of mere chance, but of long experience and mathematical calculation. As to power, it is equal, if not superior, to anything now in use. It requires less timber, easier framed, and put up in less time, and with less danger than a screw; and the Press will last as long as any timber protected from the weather or above ground. From the number of these Presses which are now in use from North Carolina to Mexico, we feel no hesitancy in saying that they will supercede the Screw; and there are ten of our Presses up to one of any other, and we feel justified in saying fifty to one. The average duration of Screws in this District is not more than four and a half or five years, and as there is not less than five hundred Screws, see what is paid out in one year. For single or individual rights, $15.00. We offer the District rights for sale on very low terms, which we consider a greater speculation than there is in the country. Persons wishing information respecting the Press, will find me for two weeks to come at the residence of Mr. James Cobb. I will build one more Press in this District for $50, every thing found to hand. Invented in Barnwell District, S. C. PROVOST, Patentee. June 9 15 1f

The best medical attendance is always provided for the sick soldier; and no deduction of pay is made during the period he is unable to perform his duty. Should the soldier be disabled in the line of his duty, the laws provide a pension for him.

The sum of Two Dollars will be paid to any CITIZEN, non-commissioned officer or soldier, who shall bring to the rendezvous an able bodied recruit, who shall be regularly enlisted. The citizen should present his recruit to the Lieutenant or Captain, and not to the Recruiting Sergeants.
