FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the Caledonia. FIFTEEN DAYS LATER.

The British Parliamet was expected to adjourn on the 10th of July.

The armed intervention of the British Government in the affairs of Portugal, had excited warm debates in the British House of Commons and the French Chamber of Deputies. The Duke of Wellington and Sir Robert Peel sustaining the Russel Ministry, while M. Guizot justified the intervention.

All attempts to reconcile the differences between the Queen of Spain and her husband had failed.

The grain crops throughout every part of Europe are most encouraging.

The English ten hour factory bill has received the royal assent.

The king of Belgium is reported to be in a very precarious state of health; which with the advanced age of the King of the French, creates considerable uneasiness in European political and monetary circles. The National states that two expresses arrived in Paris on the 14th from Belgium, announcing that the life of King Leopold was despaired of. His Majesty was afficted with insanity.

There was promise of an early harvest in England.

Active preparations are making at Portsmouth, for Sir John Richardson's expedition to the Arctic regions, in search of Sir John Franklyn, and several seamen have already been engaged.
IRELAND.

In Ireland, apart from the contradictory reports respecting the potatoe crops, the anticipations of an abundant harvest are cheering. Fever is still awfully rife and malignant, but the general downward tendency of provisions and the ample stores now pouring into this country, with the prevalent fine, dry, bracing weather, will, it is hoped, prove effectual means to check the progress of this destructive epidemic. Emigration proceeds very extensively-during the last two months one hundred and twenty thousand persons left the shores of these kingdoms, chiefly Irish, and remarks the Belfast Northern Whig, "the extent of the exodus seems only to be getting away."

Murders and outrages are unhapply multiplied until they are regarded as indigenous to Irish society, and effectually to cure this plague spot is doubtless one of the great difficulties for any government.

Messrs. John and Morgan O'Connell have succeeded their late father in the leadership of the Constiliation Hall Repealers. Tom Steele has retired entirely from active service. Dr. O'Higgins, catholic bishop of Ardah, has, in a letter to the Association, developed and avowed what was well known to have previously existed, a system for converting every priest into a collector of, and the chapels or chapel-yards as receivinghouses; on the other hand, Archbishop Murray strongly denounces such a prostitution of the sacred office and of the saucthary of God.

The Irish Confederation consider themselves insulted, by a very direct exclusion of the members from the proposed public funeral of the members from the proposed public feneral of the late Mr. O'Connella small section of that body are about to form a third section of Repealers, and among these dissensions it is considered very proable that the entire agitation will spend its decaying energies. FRANCE.

Marshall Bugeaud has resigned the post of governor general of Algiers. His suc-cessor has not yet been appointed, but a report is prevalent that the Duke d'Amaule will proceed to Algiers as Viceroy.

Marshal Grouchy, who commanded the the French corps d'armee, which was destined to employ the Prussian army, while Napoleon attacked the Duke of Wellington at Waterloo, died on Saturday week at St. Etienne, on the Loire, in his 82d year.

It is stated in Paris that M. Theirs has proposed and carried in the bureaux an important modifications of the project of law of the tariff. This modification has been adopted almost unanimously in the bureaux. It includes the following heads -1. A reduction of coffee and sugars. 2 A duty to be laid on unwrought British cop per, with a view to favour the importation of copper from South America.

New Fire Arm. - We witnessed some experiments on Saturday made with a new piece of musketry-we had almost said ordnance-recently completed at the U. S. Armory, in this town, got up as an experiment by Maj. Ripley from a modle prepared by Mr. Cyrus Buckland, the skilful master machinist of the Armory. It is called a Wall Rifle, and is the first piece of the kind ever manufactured in the United States .-The length of the barrel is 36 inches, calibre 3-4 inch; diameter at the breech, 1 1-4 inches; diameter at the muzzle, 1 3-4 inches; weight of barrel 30 lbs and of the whole piece, about 35 pounds.

The charge of power was 178 grains, and the weight of the balls or slugs, 21-4 oz. A piece of canvass, 7 1-4 by 8 1-2 feet, with a painted ring at the centre, 14 inches in diameter, was pierced by the balls at a distance of half a mile, 21 times in 24three of them piercing the ring in the centre. The rifle is designed for light mounting wall or parapet, or even upon the horse or mule, whence it might do cution upon the straggling g parties of an enemy.

(REPORTED FOR THE ABBEVILLE BANNER.) REPORT

OF THE COMMITTEE OF Examination of the Cokesbury Female School. The Committee respectfully offer to the public thier report of the examination which came off on Friday the 25th of June. They paid strict attention to the examination made by the Principal, they examined several of the classes, and are therefore prepared to speak correctly, and will endeavor to do it impartially and candidly. In the opening of the exercises the Principal, Mr. S. L. Heller, announced that it was a very general impression that young ladies had a lesson assigned them for the examination; but he wished to disabuse the minds of the audience of any such impression in regard to his pupils. They had reviewed a certain number of pages, and the Committee were at liberty to take them on any portion of it. They did so, and were pleased to find them prepared equally as well on one portion as another. They were likewise gratified to witness but little of that parrotising, if we may so call it, which is too cammon in female examinations, and which is the bane of all successful and useful instruction. The Committee took the liberty of asking questions in a different form from those laid down in the texts on Philosophy, Chemistry, &c., and found, from the general promptness and accuracy of the answers, that they had learned the idea as well as the words. They would notice particularly an English grammer class, with which they were much pleased. They highly approve the method of instruction, adopted by the Principal, in this very important branch of education. He required them, in parsing a word, to give reason for every answer made; and would likewise propound all other necessary question connected with that part of speech, and thus develop the whole subject of grammar. It imparts a correct and thorough knowledge of the science, and trains the mind to a habit of inquisitiveness .-There were examinations in the other branches usually taught in female schools, except one or two which were necessarily crowded out for want of time; and in every one the pupils answered with great promptness and accuracy. We must notice a class in Virgil, composed of two young ladies Miss Mary Thomas and Miss Caroline MABRY, both because it is an unusual study for females, and because they acquitted themselves so creditably. They read the beautiful poet fluently, pronounced the Latin correctly, and analyzed with considerable accuracy. Why may not more of our fair daughters emulate the worthy example of these two? We hope it will become more common for the timid but gifted female to enter the splendid temple of classic literature, and pay their homage at the altar before which the other sex delight to bow. But we forbear to dwell upon this point for fear of becoming too lengthy.

A number of excellent compositions were read by the young ladies. The performances upon the piano were tolerable, though they had been taking lessons, in this department, but a short time. Those who had been studying music longer performed very well. We confidently recommend this school to the public patronage. It is not one of those splendid humbugs where so much is professed to be taught, but really so little is taught. They professed to teach no more than what they actually teach .-Although it is not bolstered up by a long catalogue of untaught studies, distinguished Trustees, and entitled professors, yet we would feel well assured, in trusting our daughters to it, that they would be thoroughly taught in all necessary branches of edu-

A Curiosity.—Some eight months ago it was reported at New York that an enterprising Yankee had purchased a Chinese Junk at Canton, and sailed or was about sailing to this country. It appears that he has carried this design into execution, as Captain Lloyd Slemmer of the schooner Mary Augusta, which arrived at Baltimore on Saturday from the Rio Grande, reported that he spoke on the 28th of June, off Cape Henry, 200 miles distant, a Chinese Junk, with the Emperor's flag flying, three hundred days from Canton, bound to New York. The object of the voyage is to make an exhibition of the vessel, and we have no doubt that the speculation will prove profitable.

More of the Prospers of Peace.-The Philadelphia Ledger contains the following paragraph:

"We learn from a reliable source at Washington that there is a prospect of a speedy peace with Mexico. The letter communicating the information says it may be in less than twenty days. The Mexicans have had the whole text of the treaty, which Mr. Trist carried with him, communicated to them, and they are satisfied with it. The President will call an exrra session of the Senate, and this news will probably shorten his visit to the North. This is an important fact, and we have no doubt from he source whence it came that it can be re-

There probably is some foundation of truth in this statement, although we imagine that the short term of twenty days, in which to conclude a peace, is mere matter of random conjecture, especially as General Scott has not yet reached the city of Mexico, and it is generally admitted that he has to fight at least one more battle before he can place himself in a position to negociate.

A PREDICTION PARTIALLY FULFILLED. The following prediction was uttered by Don Thomas Gener, in the year 1828, when applied by Bressen, an agent of Luis XVIII, who was sent over to sound the views of the chiefs of Spanish America, in relation to the possibility of constitutional monarchies throughout this continent, and, if possble, to induce them to come into the measure.

"Let France and all monarchical Europe consider well, that if they waken Mexico, f Mexico does not regenerate herself soon, she must become a part of the United States of the North, and that before twenty years; and thenceforth Mexico will not consume the produce and manufactures of Europe, but those of the great cofederacy to which she will belong."

Sabbath in London.—At a public meeng recently held in England, it was stated hat out of a population of more than two millions, there was an attendance of only four hundred thousand persons on the services of the Sabbath, in the churches and chapels of all denominations! "If inquiry was made as to the occupation of the rest, the crowded state of steam vessels, rail-way carriages, public house, tea gardens, club and gaming houses would furnish a reply."
