From the Buffalo Com. Advertiser, July 12. OUTRAGE AT NIAGARA FALLS.—A most disgraceful scene was enacted at Niagara Falls on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by violence and bloodshed. A Mr. Stephens, of Alabama, had been stopping at the Eagle Hotel, accompanied by his wife and a female slave. After he had got seated lowed by time will never be forgotten in in the cars about leaving for Lockport, between twenty and thirty colored persons, as had been previously arranged among themselves, rushed to the cars and attempted to while others mounted the cars. They were resisted by the conductor, engineer and

A general melee ensued-stones and number were severely injured, when the train finally got under way. There was a good deal of excitement during the afternoon but no open outbreak. In the evening a demonstration was made by some of the baser sort upon a building occupied by a number of blacks who discharged two pistols at the assailant without material injuwith redoubled fury and it was immediately razed to the ground. The affair was to undergo a legal investigation to-day.

ANECDOTE OF GEN. TAYLOR .- The following is communicated by a correspondent of the Montgomery (Ala.) Journal, and is one of the most touching incidents we have ever met:

" The General had occassion to visit accommodation. There were several sick and wounded volunteers on the boat, en route for New Orleans, who had to take the ticuliarly so on this occassion. Gen. Tayboat did not know Gen. Taylor. The wind blew high, and the firemen had raised a, sail in front of the boilers to protect themsleep of such a man, who has the heart to change places with the poor sick soldier, as | in obedience to her laws!" Taylor did on this occasion; -such humanity stands out in bold relief and greatly mitigates the evils incident to war."

Annexation in Africa.-A number of the kings and head men of the country surrounding the Maryland African colony at Cape Palmas, have voluntarily placed themselves and their people under the jurisdiction of the colony. The event affords a gratifying proof of the wholesome influence which the colonists have acquired over the native tribes in their neighborhood.

Mr. Webster, it was reported in Boston, had been severely gored by one of his imported buils, at Marshfield, last Saturday. One account had it he was killed. The report was not credited, though Mr. Flecher Webster lest Boston Sunday afternoon for Marshfield, to be assured of the truth of the nomination of Governor in this State. case. Such was the interest felt in the subject matter of the report, that more than one hundred persons made inquiries, on Sunday, at the residence of Mr. Fletcher Webster, in Boston, as to the correctness of REMARKABLE FACT.—The Hon. Edward Bates, of Missouri, the President of the Chicago Convention, said he had never seen a rail road! When he emigrated, in 1812, to the French village of huts called St. Louis, which has now fifty thousand inhaacross the unbroken wilderness which is now the State of Illinois, with a civilized population of six hundred thousand freemen!

DIPLOMATIC RELATION WITH THE POPE. It is now a matter of certainty, says the correspondent of the N. Y. Herald that the Pope has intimated his desire, though not formally, to open diplomatic relations with this country. The channel through which the overture has been made, is such that it cannot be disregarded. The cabinet is fully alive to the mutual advantages that would result to both countries, from the establishment of diplomatic interconrse between them, and the President, in his next in the slightest degree .- N. Y. Express. annual message to Congress, will recommend the appointment of a Charge d'Affairs, alterntely near the courts of Rome and Tussany .- Balt. Sun.

The crops all over the country are coming in more than average. The surplus wheat in Michigan of last year is 7,500,000 wheat in Michigan of last year is 7,500,000 bushels almost enough in one State to make up for a complete failure this year; and we presume what is true of Michigan is true of the whole West.

PROSPERITY OF ST. LOUIS.—There were erected in the city of St. Louis, during the year ending on the 1st ult., nine hundred and thirty-two houses.

ETERNIZED SAYINGS.

We have no doubt (says the Bostonian) of the immortality of the reply of Old Rough and Ready, as delivered by Crittenden to Santa Anna-

"General Taylor never surrenders!" There are periods in the world's history when a few words falling from the lips of a great states man or general, will become as

imperishable as Mind itself. What is haleternity. Without refering to the books for the sayings of illustrious commanders, we will note down a few that have occurred to us. Cæsar made use of the following retake by force the object of their sympathies | markable words in a despatch, which are -some throwing obstruction on the track characteristic of his operations as a great captain: -- "Veni, Vidi, Vici!'-(I came, I saw, I conquered." Oliver H. Perry, after his glorious victory at Lake Erie, wrote to the government—" We have met the enemy brickhats were freely used, by which a and they are ours!" Our country will never forget the last words of the lamented Lawrence-" Don't give up the ship !"-We believe it was before the battle of Trafalgar that Nelson telegraphed to his fleet--" England expects every man to do his duty!" When the news of Nelson's victory reached England, the whole nation was in transports, and the motto of Nelson was paraded ry, and then made their escape. After this on every thing, even on the ladies' garters. the attack upon the building was renewed A friend of ours in possession of a Roman coin or medal, which is of silver, commemorative of the intrepidity of Casar. He is represented as embarking in a small vessel in the midst of a terrific storm. Casar was in great perplexity-the sea being covered with Pompey's ships, and anxious of obtaining a sufficient force from another point to make head against the enemy, ne ventured to do what the bravest had shrunk from. Cutting loose from the moorings, without regard to tempest, he discoved him-Point Isabel, after the battle of Buena Vista; self to the pilot and mariners, and allayed and the Captain of the steamboat had resert their fears by exclaiming-" Quid times, ved a suite of state rooms for the Ceneral's | Casarem portas et fortunam ejus!" Generous Act.-The Jonesboro' Tenn. Whig states that when Gen. Worth left for the seat of war, he mortgaged his farm and residence for the payment of a debt of $5,-000, which he owed one of his neighbor.s The property was about to be sold under the mortgage, when a few whig friends opened a subscription and paid off the debt without his knowledge.

MRS. FREMONT .- This lady, it appears, who left Washington with the famous Kit Carson, designs travelling, under his probitants, he was obliged to hire a guard | tection, for eighteen hundred miles, to a point against hostile savages to accompany him where she has agreed to meet her husband. Here is a wife worthy of the young heroexplorer of the Rocky Mountains.

> MARRIAGES AT LOWELL.—During the year ending in April last, there were 590 marriages at Lowell, Mass A greater portion of the females were factory girls.

EXTRAORDINARY ESCAPE-LIGHTNING. -During the thunder-storm a few days since a servant of Mr. Samuel Cochen, at Clifton, Staten Island, was wringing out a towel, when a flash of lightning passed under her face and struck the towel in her hand, which was burnt in many places, without affecting her hands or her person

LONGEVITY IN IRELAND.—The Erne Packet states that there is now at Baronscout, within seven miles of Ormah, a man named James Taggart, who has arrived at the patriarchal age of 121 years. His son, who is 99, has not a gray hair on his

ASTHMA.—There is no complaint more harrassing than Asthma. The Newark Daily Advertiser, a reliable paper, pledges itself to cure this distressing disease with the following remedy. Take 1 1-2 oz. sulphur, 1 oz. cream-tartar, 1 oz. senna, 1-2 oz. annisseed, pulverize, and thoroughly mix the same, and take one teaspoonful in about two table spoonfuls of molasses on going to bed, or at such time through the day as may best suit the patient: the dose once a day may be increased or diminished a little as may best suit the bowels of the indi-
