London paper:
"The ladies have been compelling the Registrar-General to present the public with an enormous imputed to almost every remarka-ble man from Cicero to Sir Walter Scott. The individual in question, whoever it may be, was appealed to by some female to attest moving the fact that she was but twenty-five years Bank. of age; and, in corroboration of her statement, he observed that it must be true, since she last ten years. Now no fewer than 35,000 ment. Jack General the same assurance for ten years. The number of women between thirty and thirty-five is far too small for the number of women who reported themselves to be of the avorite age, between twenty and twenty-five, in 1841; and on the other hand, the number of girls between ten and fifteen in 1841 was not at all sufficient to account for the present number of women professedly between twenty and twenty-five. The number of ladies who obstinately keep on the safe side of forty is roughly estimated at the Registrar-General is scandalized at the foolsliness' and at the confusion, which the ladies so unscrupulously introduced into statistics: and gentlemen who regard the female sex with other than statistical feelings have through succeeding centuries been perplexed to know the practical advantage which the ladies secure to themselves by saying that they are young, when they are just as far from the cradle, and are practically as many years old, as if they confessed it. But the triumphantly sustained by the people.—Chi reason is evident; the woman who is thirtyfive, and calls herself twenty-five, does not so much intend to cheat her own sensations, her looking-glass, or even the spectator; but virtually, what she says by the statistical paradox is "Whatever my age may be, treat me not as thirty-five but as twenty-five." And why should she not be taken at her word?"

To ask a heard is from the breaking heart of the Turkish gentleman after his wife or his daughters is to give him a mortal offence. If he alludes to them, he calls them "the home" or "the house." He will tell you that the house is well. Also, when he announces to his friends the birth of a daughter, he says, "a veiled one," or "a stranger has been given to me." He is taught by the Koran to hon-or lis wife, and to believe that she will be, equally with himself, a participator in heavenly felicity. The teaching effectually dis-places the vulgar error that declares Mahomctans to believe that women have no souls. Polygamy is allowed to this day in Turkey, but it is so surrounded with social and re-ligibile difficulties that it is rarely practiced. The Koran allows a Mussulman to marry four legitimate wives, but tells him expressly that it is meritorious to marry only one .-In Constantinople, the ulemas, the great bodies of government officials, the naval gold headed staff, and whose countless rich and military officers, the tradesman and the es they say, chuckling, shall be theirs some has purchased the right to Manufacture the above Churn, and is now prepared to execute all orders for the same. Its simplicity is such as to be understood by every intelligent child, and its construction is on truly and strictly philosophical principles, and produces the desired result in an almost incredible short time.

The superior qualities of this Churn are as follows: First, the quick and easy process of making butter when sitting in a chair. Secondly, la overcoming the difficulty which produces a swelling to overflow; and, Thirdly, the gathering process, in separating the butter from the milk, and preparing for salting. Persons wishing a Churn can find them at the subscriber's work shop, near the corner of Main and Buncombe streets. Churn can find them at the superfice at recta-near the corner of Main and Buncombe atrecta. J. R. MERRILL.
