

any thing, as soon as it should approach him but did not expect so much stratagem, for anticipating it His Jewish subjects in Europe may, it seems, send him any communications, which shall be for his good. Have they obtained the honor in consequence of their furnishing him with this piece of counterfeit morality, and telling him what to say, when he shall be brought before the police of Europe?

August 12.—The Duke of Wellington is expected to leave London for Paris to-morrow.

The Paris papers of August 6 arrived last night. Thirty Lt. Generals have been placed in active service, as Inspectors of arms, and 60 camp-marshals as sub-inspectors. Such news as this will probably be exhibited as a strong symptom of hostility, especially since some letters from France speak of an approaching levy of 60,000 men to incorporate with the old troops.

The Brussels papers of the 9th state, that the waters are still very high in the Netherlands.—The Scheldt had risen to the height of sixteen feet, and the rich meadows of Ondinarde were inundated. Great damage has also been occasioned by hail. In several districts, where the harvest promised to be abundant, it is stated to be totally ruined.

The Duke of Wellington's new stud-horses, lately purchased, amounting to 15 in number, left town yesterday, with the grooms &c. for embarkation for the Continent. His Grace has ordered his travelling carriages and suite to be in readiness at one o'clock to-morrow morning, at the Queen's Palace, where he will take a farewell leave of all the royal family, and his numerous friends. His Grace will be accompanied by the Marquis of Worcester and Lord Arthur Hill, as his Aid-de-Camp. They will proceed to Brussels, and from thence to Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 9.

The destination of the armament which the Porte is preparing is said to be the coast of Algiers, not for the purpose of joining the forces of the Barbary Powers, but on the contrary to act against Algiers, and oblige the Dey to acknowledge the authority of the Grand Seigneur. The policy of the Divan in this respect is, however, so very uncertain, that events alone can explain its views.

GENOA, July 20.

Capt. Paulo Piccinendi, commanding the galliot Saime Anne, coming from the coast of Africa, has given the following details of the situation of the Barbarous Powers. The Dey of Algiers has made to return to the city 6000 slaves to work at the fortifications. They have repaired all the sides that were feeble and in a bad state; they have also erected two exterior bastions, forming a kind of entrenched camp upon the two sides of the city, in case of a descent. The Dey is at the head of the workmen. A great number of vessels have been disarmed, and their cannon employed upon the ramparts. We are assured they are furnished with 500 fire balls. The activity of the Dey is incredible, and the Algerine people shew the greatest enthusiasm. It is presumed they will be assisted by the troops of the King of Morocco, who has indulged in some pleasantries upon Lord Exmouth's conduct in the last expedition.

New Articles of Importation.—

Nothing was more common, last Spring, than the arrival at the different ports in this country of whole cargoes of molasses from ports in G. Britain; which, at the time, was considered quite a novelty and a new article of import from that quarter. It will be seen in the ship news' department of this evening, that a ship has arrived at Boston from Liverpool with a cargo of pork also. —Pork and molasses from Liverpool! A good Yankee dish. No danger of a famine in New-England. N. Y. Even. Post.

Freshe'—For the last twenty years there has not been a Freshet equal to the one now in the Schaylkill.—The great quantity of rain which has fallen lately, has swollen the river to a very great degree. The water rushes down the river with amazing rapidity, sweeping every thing in its way—the water still rises. It is expected that it will be at its height by to-morrow morning. A wood shallop has been carried about one hundred yards from high water mark.

CAMDEN,

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1816.

TO SUBSCRIBERS,

We are induced to call upon you for a compliance with the terms of this Gazette, for the purpose of enabling us to meet such engagements as we have made, in bespeaking the materials for enlarging and improving our paper. Your liberality precludes the necessity of appealing to you for a generous support, and it is our intention (as soon as our subscription list is enlarged sufficiently to authorize the expenditure) to render you satisfactory compensation, by complying with our promises. The facility which the Gazette has given to the circulation of news, and information of a local character, must be highly gratifying to those who were so situated as not to be able to procure intelligence, of a political nature, in any other manner, than by verbal communication. Should the liberality of our country friends be such as we expect, a private mail will be established immediately, calculated to give a still greater facility to the circulation of news.

The terms which we have substituted, for those of the first six months, are such, as will be attended with much less trouble to both parties, and will, it is presumed meet with general approbation.

Terms.

THE price to Subscribers is THREE DOLLARS per annum, for fifty-two numbers, exclusive of postage; and in all cases where papers shall be delivered at the expense of the publisher, the price will be, including postage, FOUR DOLLARS a year, payable half yearly in advance.

A Juror has been received, and we decline its insertion from no other consideration, than its bearing too heavily upon the feelings of particular persons. The subject of Brevard's Digest has been so elaborately discussed, that nothing new can be said upon the subject.

Love sick Jacob abounds with so much pathos, and poetic fancy, that, upon reflection, we decline communicating it, for fear of verifying the old adage,

"Amon vincit omnia."

The Managers of Elections are requested to put up, at the respective places of election, the following gentlemen, as candidates:

For Congress.

WILLIAM MAYRANT, Esq.
STEPHEN D. MILLER, Esq.

For Senate.

Col. JAMES CHESNUT,
Capt. CHAPMAN LEVY;

For the House of Representatives.

Capt. JOHN FLETCHER,
JOSEPH PATTERSON, Esq.
GEORGE PERRY, Esq.
WYATT W. STARKE, Esq.
Mr. EVERARD CURETON,
Mr. WILIE VAUGHAN,
WILLIAM LANGLEY.

The people of America have not been without their tempters; but they have withstood the seducers and now enjoy the result of their virtue, a prosperity unrivalled by any pre-ent nation, and which no parallel in history is recorded.

The great excellence of our government is that it is eventually guided by the voice of the people. A few violent or daring men may propose schemes of ambition, of domination, of war, for their own aggrandizement: But the people coolly observe, and silently reflect, and however ignorant it may be the fashion of the minions of England to esteem them, they have proved in this country that their discernment is far beyond that of those who think themselves capable of teaching them.

Savannah paper.

A divine willing to play more with words, than to be serious in the expounding his text, spake thus in some part of his sermon: "This Dial shews we must die all; yet notwithstanding, all houses are turned into ale-houses; our cares are turned into cares; our paradise, is a pair of dice; our marriage, into a merry age; our matrimony, into a matter of money; our divines, into dry vines. It was not so in the days of Noah, Ah no!"

GENERAL JACKSON.

Hail hero! wondrous is thy fame,
A sceptre far beneath thy aim;
For sceptres heaven did ne'er declare
The glory that awaits on thee!
Such glory as the freeman knows,
Who triumphs o'er his country's foes;
Such glory as attends the brave,
Who fight, who conquer, but to save.

W. W. Mason will undertake, should application be made immediately, to teach a few of the citizens of Camden the art of STENOGRAPHY, or Short hand Writing, upon such simple and approved principles, as to enable a person of common genius to acquire such knowledge of the art by taking six lessons only, as to be able, with a little practice, to take down public speeches. He may be found at present at Mr. HAVIS' Tavern.

Robbery.

THE STORE of the Subscribers, in Camden was, on the night of the 29th September, instant, between seven and nine o'clock, broken open, and money to the amount of Two Hundred Dollars, in bills of the Banks of North-Carolina and this state, some Dry Goods, and four notes of hand—one given by Thomas Watts, payable to Joseph Mickle, for the use of the heirs of Joshua English, deceased, for the sum of $500—one given by Coleman & English, payable to Bond English, for the sum of $500—one on Reuben Horton, payable to the same, for $40—one payable by Robert Coleman to the same for $92 and upwards, were stolen from the said store, and carried away. FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD will be given to any person, who will lodge such information as will enable us to get possession of the villain or villains who perpetrated the act and prosecute him or them to conviction.

All persons are warned against receiving any of the said notes in trade, and are solicited to secure them for us should they be offered for sale by any person, and give us such timely notice as might enable us to trace them to the person who stole them. As these Robberies have lately been carried on to an alarming extent in Camden, it behoves all good citizens to be vigilant in discovering something that might lead to a discovery of the villains who thus depredate upon the industry of the honest part of the community.
