

CAMDEN,

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1816.

The present session of the Legislature will close on this day. Much business will remain unfinished. Many bills will consequently be laid aside, the consideration of which will probably be resumed the next meeting.

The bill providing for the payment of Petit Jurors and Constables, passed the Senate by a large majority, and has been sent to the lower house.

The bill providing for the suppression of Negro trade, so far as it respects their introduction into this state from another, has not yet passed, but is undergoing another discussion.

Saving Banks.—A saving fund Society, after the plan of those established in Great Britain, has been instituted in Philadelphia. This is the first establishment of the kind which has yet been set in operation in the United States.

The Legislature of INDIANA, now in session, are actively engaged in the organization of the details of the state government. A resolution has been passed by them "instructing their Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their influence to have the late compensation law of Congress repealed."

Anecdote.—In Paris the gallery of the Theatre is called Paradise. The Duchess of Orleans, took a fancy to go to the play one night, with only a fille de chambre and to sit there. A young officer sat next her, who was very free in his addresses, and when the play was over, concluded by offering her a supper which she seemed to accept. He accompanied her down stairs, but was confounded when he saw her attendants and equipage and heard her name. Recovering, however, his presence of mind, he handed her into her carriage, bowed in silence, and was retiring when she called out, where is the supper you promised? He bowed and replied, "In Paradise madam, we are all equals: but I am not insensible of the respect I owe you on earth." The prompt and proper reply obtained for him a place in the Duchess's carriage, and at her table.
